Nixon Meets Kennedy For Florida Talks

Leaders May Air Appointments For New Administration

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — John F. Kennedy arrived today for conference with Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the man he vanquished in the presidential election.

The meeting, arranged by the president-elect, was a Kennedy effort to bind up the wounds of the campaign in a national unity move. The session reportedly may deal with possible appointment by Kennedy of some Republicans to key positions in his administration.

An enthusiastic crowd of Kennedy supporters swarmed past rope barriers at the airport and surged toward Kennedy. A squad of Secret Service men and Dade County deputies formed a flying wedge to get Kennedy to a convertible for his trip to Key Biscayne.

Kennedy, holding only a tiny popular vote margin over his Republican opponent, was accompanied by an old prep school chum, New York advertising man K. L. Billings. Kennedy and Billings attended Choate Preparatory School in Connecticut.

Kennedy got in some tennis Sunday afternoon before watching a movie on the lawn at night.

Kennedy took the initiative in arranging the meeting with Nixon at Key Biscayne in the Miami outskirts where the vice president is vacationing. Nixon promptly agreed.

Plans for the session were disclosed Sunday as Kennedy lined up a busy week of conferences with possible appointees to his Cabinet—and amid reports that he already has decided at least tentatively to pick up Democratic Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina as secretary of commerce.

Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, would neither confirm nor deny selection of Hodges. He told a news conference Kennedy had informed him he will make no final decisions or announcements regarding any Cabinet posts until after Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 24.

During the campaign, Kennedy contended the vice president had helped preside over deterioration of national prestige and security and the communization of Cuba, while Nixon pictured his Democratic opponent as inexperienced, rash and irresponsible.

But Salinger said one of the purposes of today's late morning meeting was to provide Kennedy with an opportunity "to congratulate the vice president on the campaign he conducted."

The president-elect also wants "to resume the cordial relations with the vice president which existed between them during their 14 years together in Congress," Salinger added.

Kennedy has left open the possibility of his asking Nixon to take a position in the new administration. But aides said in advance of the meeting they felt sure there would be no such offer. They expressed doubt that Nixon would accept anyway.

But the primary purpose of the meeting was viewed by those close to Kennedy as an effort to heal the wounds of the campaign.

Kennedy will return to Palm Beach to have lunch with Gov. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, a principal adviser during the campaign. Ribicoff is vacationing at Hollywood, Fla.

Fair Recalled To Probe In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — The State Crime Commission opened two days of hearings today and had summoned State Police Supt. Hazen Fair and 14 other persons to appear.

F. Dean Nichols, commission Counsel, said most of the witnesses would give their ideas on proposed legislation to provide State Police officers with more job security.

Besides Fair, the commission had summoned Col. Raymond W. Boyle, Fair's predecessor as superintendent, Capt. Charles W. Ray, a teacher of State Police officers and first sergeants and sergeants in all four State Police companies.

Nichols did not say who the other witnesses would be.

The State Police officers were summoned, Nichols said, so the commission could learn the attitudes of persons who would be affected by the proposed changes.

Nichols said he also had drawn up for commission study suggested revisions of the state's gambling laws.

Created by the legislature last February, the commission was instructed to study laws and recommend changes. The commission will make its recommendations to the legislature convening in January.

Ohio Couple Faces Charge

Cleveland Pair Held For Taking Child, 5

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland couple was turned over to the sheriff's office today for return to Georgia to face charges that they kidnaped their 5-year - old daughter from the child's foster home.

The Cuyahoga County sheriff took Mr. and Mrs. James Broyles into custody after a hearing at which Municipal Judge James Cassity approved a prosecution motion that local authorities take no action on a Georgia fugitive warrant. Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle already has ordered Mr. and Mrs. Broyles extradited to Georgia.

However, Harry J. Elconin, attorney for the couple, said he will seek a personal audience with the governor to ask DiSalle's intervention.

There are a "great many inequities in the case," Elconin asserted.

A hearing was held last week before DiSalle's legal aid, Rankin Gibson. Afterwards the governor said he could see no valid reason for withdrawing an extradition warrant issued Sept. 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Broyles were impassive at today's hearing, which took less than a minute.

Delivery Guaranteed And Firm Proves It

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Merritt Supply Co., a building materials firm, was embarrassed to find itself completely out of a brand of paint to meet an urgent order of two gallons. Delivery had been promised within 24 hours.

The manufacturer was called in St. Louis. Ten hours later an employe of the manufacturer stepped off a plane at Pensacola with the two gallons of paint. Retail price of the paint, $6.

Break In Main Hits Wellsville Water Supply

Large Area Affected After 12-Inch Line Snaps At 20th, Main

The entire section of Wellsville from 15th St. south was without water for 7 hours while repairs were being made to a broken 12-inch main late Sunday night and early this morning.

Service was restored to the homes and industries in the area at 4 a. m. today. The leak at 20th and Main Sts. was discovered about 7 a. m. Sunday and excavation started at 9, according to Safety-Service Director William S. Robinson, who said the work was completed at 5 a. m. today.

The break was discovered when a hole appeared in the street. The leak developed when the plug in a blind end of a four-way cross vibrated loose.

The connection was in a former excavation made for a sewer line. The soft backfill settled when it became wet, allowing the hole to appear in the street.

Robinson said it was virtually impossible to dig by hand and a backhoe had to be used. He said the sides of the excavation kept caving in, slowing the operations.

City hall virtually was "flooded" with calls when the water was turned off. Robinson said he had no way of notifying the residents but the water had to be shut off before repairs could be made.

It was an emergency and could not wait until today, he said. The leaking water was endangering the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, Wesco Manufacturing Co. office and the street.

Firemen were called last night to set up light plants so the men could continue working.

Four men worked 10 hours and three others worked 6 hours, Robinson said.

Even after new the plug was installed and the water was turned back on, it took some time for pressure to build up enough to reach all the homes in the area. It is the first major water break the city has had in over a year.

Pro-U.S. Faction Wins Majority In Okinawa

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — The pro-American Liberal Democratic party won a solid majority Sunday in the legislature of the U.S.-administered Ryukyu Islands, which include Okinawa.

The Liberal Democrats increased their membership in the unicameral legislature from 18 to 22. Total membership is 29.

2 Pennsylvania Men Hurt When Train Strikes Auto

Freight Hits 1950 Sedan At Walnut St.

One Victim Injured Critically; Driver Has Cuts On Head

Two Pennsylvanians were injured, one critically, early this morning while en route to work when their car was struck by an eastbound train at the unguarded Walnut St. crossing.

Gerald W. Murray, 37, of Rockwood, Pa., is in "critical" condition while Paul Clevenger, 23, of Markleton, Pa., driver of the 1950 auto, is reported in "fair" condition at City Hospital.

Hospital attendants said Murray, suffering from head injuries, was placed in an oxygen tent immediately. Because of the seriousness of his injuries, no attempt was made to remove his clothing, they said.

Clevenger suffered several cuts on the back of his head and abrasions of the right arm and left foot.

Police said there was a delay in getting the men to the hospital because the halted train blocked the downtown crossings and the two ambulances, escorted by a police cruiser, raced over the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." to State St. and then back down the River Rd. to the accident scene.

Officers said they were told the engineer, Andrew Svartak of Cleveland, refused to "break the train" to allow the ambulances to reach the men.

The officers said Clevenger was too shaken up to make a statement about the accident. Murray was reported in a coma, they said.

Police said they understood the two men, employed by a firm hired by the government to clear brush along the Ohio River bank, were en route to work shortly after 6:30 a. m.

Heading south on Walnut St., they had crossed the westbound tracks when their car was hit by the eastbound diesel and shoved onto a railroad spur, a few feet east of the crossing.

The report was received at 6:38 a. m., 22 minutes before a crossing watchman was scheduled to go on duty, police said. There are no flasher lights at the crossing, they added.

Clevenger was driving the two-door sedan owned by Richard Enos of Confluence, Pa. It was demolished in the crash.

CAR DEMOLISHED BY TRAIN. Spectators are shown picking up the personal effects of two Pennsylvania men injured early this morning when their car was struck by an eastbound freight train at the Walnut St. crossing. The train, en route to Conway, struck the car on the right side, critically injuring Gerald Murray of Rockwood, Pa., the passenger, and also injuring the driver, Paul Clevenger of Markelton, Pa.

Mobutu Gets New Support

Kamitatu Will Aid In Keeping Order

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — President Cleophas Kamitatu of Leopoldville Province today announced a "complete agreement" with his political enemy, Col. Joseph Mobutu, for maintaining order in the capital.

It was a major political setback for ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba, entrenched in his villa in powerless seclusion behind a United Nations guard.

Kamitatu has hitherto been bitterly opposed to Mobutu's pro-Western military regime and has persistently maneuvered his 2,000-strong provincial police force in Lumumba's favor.

Kamitatu said he agreed to suspend publication of his semiweekly newspaper "Solidarite Africaine," which launched violent attacks in recent issues against Mobutu and Congo President Joseph Kasavubu.

Mobutu was not immediately reachable for comment on the agreement. But Kamitatu's announcement marked an important victory for the army leader in the bitter struggle for political power in the capital.

Rebels Halted In Guatemala, Leader Says

President Blames Cuba For Attempted Revolt By Officers

GUATEMALA (AP) — Paratroops and rocket planes struck at rebel strongholds in northeast Guatemala today as President Miguel Ydigorsa, 62, claimed the revolt against his conservative government has been crushed.

A state of siege—modified martial law—was proclaimed in the mountainous Central American republic. Press censorship was imposed.

Ydigoras blamed the attempted coup on low-ranking army officers. He linked the uprising with unrest in Nicaragua and Costa Rica within the last 24 hours and indicated he felt Cuba was behind the plot.

In Havana Fidel Castro's government denied it had meddled in the affairs of the Central American countries.

Ydigoras predicted the last of the rebels would be wiped out today. He flew to the scene of the fighting to take personal command.

At Puerto Barrios the commander, Col. Rodolfo Gonzales Centeno, and two other officers were killed. The commander of the Zacapa garrison, Col. Ramon Gonzalez, escaped and fled to the capital to spread the alarm.

In neighboring Nicaragua, President Luis Somoza blamed the revolt in his country that started on Friday on the Cuban government. It apparently failed, but a handful of rebels were holed up in a teachers' school not far from Managua, the capital, and holding the students and local military commanders as hostages.

The Nicaraguan revolt spilled over into adjoining Costa Rica.

Ike Sets Conference For Foreign Aid Plan

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower will meet with Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson Tuesday for what the White House described as an important conference on foreign aid to underdeveloped countries.

Eisenhower will issue a statement afterward from his vacation headquarters about the pressing need for wealthy Western nations to step up such assistance to impoverished lands.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty in announcing the meeting said Anderson would fly from Washington for what he called a review of foreign aid.

Legislature May Give In

Louisiana Begins Integration Move

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — U.S. marshals accompanied four Negro girls into two white schools today, the first Negroes to attend white schools here in amost a century.

White spectators booed as three Negro girls walked into McDonogh No. 19. The few Negroes in the crowd applauded. Another girl entered William Frantz School.

Police stood cautious vigil in front of the schools and ordered people to stay on the neutral ground facing the McDonogh school.

At McDonogh, the only disturbance caused by the entry of the three Negro first graders was vocal. There was no other demonstration.

One white woman yelled out as the Negro girls drove in three automobiles with the federal marshals.

"I'm going in there and get my children out. I'm no nigger lover," she said.

Some white parents entered the building reportedly to take their children out of classes.

As one white man brought three children out of the school a few minutes later, a roar of approval came from the white spectators huddled in front of the building at McDonogh.

At Baton Rouge, there was some indication the legislature — battling to keep the schools segregated despite the federal court order — was ready to give in.

House Speaker Tom Jewell, served with a restraining order to prevent his interference with the integration move, said the legislature would quit work today after a brief session.

State troopers reportedly contacted each school principal telling each one to close the school in line with the legislature's directive. But they reportedly were told that the principals were following the orders of the school board and remaining open.

A caravan of state police officers massed on the fringes of the city, under orders from the Louisiana Legislature to enforce the closure of the city's public schools. At least 75 officers were reported in the group.

At Baton Rouge, Lt. Col. Thomas D. Burbank, assistant director of public safety, said there were 40 officers en route to New Orleans.

Burbank said they were under

Nationwide Ring Cracked

Agents Snare Smugglers Of Red Chinese Art Items

NEW YORK (AP) — Treasury agents have smashed a nationwide art smuggling ring and seized more than $400,000 worth of Chinese art objects brought illegally into this country from Communist China.

The investigation took agents half way around the world and to at least six cities in this country.

The most valuable item recovered was an 800-year-old scroll painting of magpies and butterflies attributed to the artist, Emperor Hui Tsung of the Sung dynasty. It was valued at $65,000.

Agents said other smuggled objects were found in the Cleveland Museum and the Freer Gallery, Washington, D. C.

Dealings with Red China are forbidden under the Trading with the Enemy Act.

The biggest haul was at the C.T. Loo Galleries, in midtown Manhattan, where paintings, screens and other objects, including the $65,000 Hui Tsung scroll, were recovered. The objects were valued at $282,000. The gallery is owned by Frank Caro, 56, a native of France but now a naturalized American.

He was described as one of two major dealers who had cooperated in the investigation.

Agents said the government got onto the smuggling operation some time ago when a Treasury

Satellite Gets Extra Day In Sky Spy Test

Air Force Planning To Return Capsule About 5 P.M. Today

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The gold-plated capsule of Discoverer XVII—given an extra day in space for good behavior—should come flying home today when a scientist presses a button.

The satellite, forerunner of a legion of military sky spies, is the first of the Discoverer series to eject its capsule at a ground signal.

All the others have ejected when a timing device within the space package clicked shut on the satellite's 17th pass around the earth.

When Discoverer XVII neared its 14th trip, the Air Force decided Sunday that it was behaving so well it could stay up a little longer.

Scheduled ejection time was delayed to the 31st pass, about 5 p.m. EST today.

Plans called for the capsule to pop from the 25-foot-long Agena B second-stage rocket as it streaked over the North Pole, headed South. Forward-firing rockets were to slow it enough to permit a parachute to lower it over Hawaiian waters.

Trapeze-trailing Flying Boxcars hoped to snag it before it hit the water—a feat accomplished once in the long Discoverer series. One other capsule was fished from the sea by a skindiver.

The latest Discoverer was launched at this big seaside missile facility at 12:42 p.m. Saturday. The Air Force said the decision to leave it in orbit 18 extra trips was made because "communications with the satellite have been good" and "the vehicle is performing satisfactorily."

Beaver Countian Dies After Fall Down Steps

BEAVER FALLS — A Center Township man, who was discharged earlier after treatment for minor head lacerations, died Sunday shortly after he was admitted to Aliquippa Hospital.

William H. Lynch, 37, of Monaca Rd. died about noon Sunday. He fell down steps at the Center Township VFW Hall early Sunday morning. Taken to Aliquippa Hospital at 2 a. m., he was treated and discharged.

S. A. Dawson, with whose family Mr. Lynch lived, found him in a coma around 9 a. m. Dr. John W. Colavincenzo, Beaver County coroner, ruled the death "accidental" and said an autopsy showed he died of a cerebral hemmorhage as a result of a skull fracture.

"I'm going in there and get my children out. I'm no nigger lover," she said.

Some white parents entered the building reportedly to take their children out of classes.

As one white man brought three children out of the school a few minutes later, a roar of approval came from the white spectators huddled in front of the building at McDonogh.

At Baton Rouge, there was some indication the legislature — battling to keep the schools segregated despite the federal court order — was ready to give in.

House Speaker Tom Jewell, served with a restraining order to prevent his interference with the integration move, said the legislature would quit work today after a brief session.

State troopers reportedly contacted each school principal telling each one to close the school in line with the legislature's directive. But they reportedly were told that the principals were following the orders of the school board and remaining open.

A caravan of state police officers massed on the fringes of the city, under orders from the Louisiana Legislature to enforce the closure of the city's public schools. At least 75 officers were reported in the group.

At Baton Rouge, Lt. Col. Thomas D. Burbank, assistant director of public safety, said there were 40 officers en route to New Orleans.

Burbank said they were under

Satellite Gets Extra Day In Sky Spy Test

Air Force Planning To Return Capsule About 5 P.M. Today

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The gold-plated capsule of Discoverer XVII—given an extra day in space for good behavior—should come flying home today when a scientist presses a button.

The satellite, forerunner of a legion of military sky spies, is the first of the Discoverer series to eject its capsule at a ground signal.

All the others have ejected when a timing device within the space package clicked shut on the satellite's 17th pass around the earth.

When Discoverer XVII neared its 14th trip, the Air Force decided Sunday that it was behaving so well it could stay up a little longer.

Scheduled ejection time was delayed to the 31st pass, about 5 p.m. EST today.

Plans called for the capsule to pop from the 25-foot-long Agena B second-stage rocket as it streaked over the North Pole, headed South. Forward-firing rockets were to slow it enough to permit a parachute to lower it over Hawaiian waters.

Trapeze-trailing Flying Boxcars hoped to snag it before it hit the water—a feat accomplished once in the long Discoverer series. One other capsule was fished from the sea by a skindiver.

The latest Discoverer was launched at this big seaside missile facility at 12:42 p.m. Saturday. The Air Force said the decision to leave it in orbit 18 extra trips was made because "communications with the satellite have been good" and "the vehicle is performing satisfactorily."

Beaver Countian Dies After Fall Down Steps

BEAVER FALLS — A Center Township man, who was discharged earlier after treatment for minor head lacerations, died Sunday shortly after he was admitted to Aliquippa Hospital.

William H. Lynch, 37, of Monaca Rd. died about noon Sunday. He fell down steps at the Center Township VFW Hall early Sunday morning. Taken to Aliquippa Hospital at 2 a. m., he was treated and discharged.

S. A. Dawson, with whose family Mr. Lynch lived, found him in a coma around 9 a. m. Dr. John W. Colavincenzo, Beaver County coroner, ruled the death "accidental" and said an autopsy showed he died of a cerebral hemmorhage as a result of a skull fracture.

Nationwide Ring Cracked

Agents Snare Smugglers Of Red Chinese Art Items

NEW YORK (AP) — Treasury agents have smashed a nationwide art smuggling ring and seized more than $400,000 worth of Chinese art objects brought illegally into this country from Communist China.

The investigation took agents half way around the world and to at least six cities in this country.

The most valuable item recovered was an 800-year-old scroll painting of magpies and butterflies attributed to the artist, Emperor Hui Tsung of the Sung dynasty. It was valued at $65,000.

Agents said other smuggled objects were found in the Cleveland Museum and the Freer Gallery, Washington, D. C.

Dealings with Red China are forbidden under the Trading with the Enemy Act.

The biggest haul was at the C.T. Loo Galleries, in midtown Manhattan, where paintings, screens and other objects, including the $65,000 Hui Tsung scroll, were recovered. The objects were valued at $282,000. The gallery is owned by Frank Caro, 56, a native of France but now a naturalized American.

He was described as one of two major dealers who had cooperated in the investigation.

Agents said the government got onto the smuggling operation some time ago when a Treasury

Drivers Cited On 3 Mishaps

Three motorists were cited as an aftermath of weekend traffic mishaps in East Liverpool.

Mrs. Gladys Fitch, 64, of Youngstown was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way after a collision at 4th and Market Sts. Sunday at 4:23 p. m. which involved her 1953 coach and another 1953 model car driven by Ellsworth Householder, 517 15th St., Wellsville.

Householder told police he was driving east on W. 4th when Mrs. Fitch pulled from a parking space at the curb, striking his auto. There was damage to the right rear of Householder's car and the left front of the Fitch auto, police said.

Mrs. Fitch was fined $10 and costs when she pleaded guilty before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff this morning.

Carroll Summers, 19, of Grafton, W. Va., was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance after a collision that involved his 1952 sedan and a 1955 two-door driven by Carol Oliver, 20, of Chester at 7:40 p. m. Saturday on the Chester Bridge.

The Chester driver stopped suddenly and her car was hit from the rear by the Summers' vehicle, police said.

Summers also was fined $10 and costs.

Harold Lee (Jack) Johnston, 21, of 1836 Lisbon St. was fined $25 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident Saturday night in Summit Ln.

Police cited Johnston after he backed from a parking lot and struck a parked car owned by Alberta G. Williams, 317 Summit Ln., damaging the left rear fender, taillight and bumper.

Officers said Johnston drove away without stopping, hid the 1960 convertible owned by M. & A. Motors, 1273 Pennsylvania Ave., at his girl friend's home on Pleasant Heights and explained to her what happened. She then contacted the owner, police added.

Johnston told Judge Chertoff he thought the only damage was to the car he was driving. He was warned by the judge his license could be revoked under state law.

Meanwhile, Harry L. Simpson, 830 Chester Ave., told police his parked 1959 station wagon was damaged by a hit-skip vehicle on W. 4th St. near Peach Alley Sunday at 11 a. m.

'Sleeper' Leaves Jail, But Returns As Burglar

A West Virginia man who spent a few hours sleeping at Chester City Hall was arrested on a charge of attempted breaking and entering a few minutes after he left the jail early Sunday morning.

Patrolman Clarence Lennens said George Heston, 47, of Fairmont stopped at City Hall Saturday night at 8 and registered as a sleeper. About 1:30 a. m. Sunday, he requested that Lennens release him. Ten minutes after Heston had left, Mrs. Sylvia Bishop, City Hall caretaker, received a telephone call from Mrs. Barbara Thompson of Church Alley that a man was attempting to enter a window at her home.

Mrs. Bishop notified Lennens, who picked up Heston at 1:43 a. m. on 1st St. The man was taken to Hancock County Jail at New Cumberland. He was being held there today awaiting a report from FBI officials at Washington on his fingerprints and photograph.

Drivers Face Drunk Charge

Men from East End and Midland were charged with driving while drunk by Hancock County sheriff's deputies following separate traffic mishaps over the weekend.

Hearings are scheduled this afternoon at 4 before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland for Alex Delacruz, 25, of 460 Ohio Ave., Midland, and Carl Edwin Beagle, 38, of 436 Maryland Ave.

Deputies charged Delacruz with drunk driving and crossing over the double white line after his auto struck an east-bound car driven by Maldwyn Evans, 48, of 452 Beaver Ave., Midland, Sunday afternoon at 5 on Route 30, about 150 yards from Newell's Bend on the Chester hill.

Evans was traveling east, deputies said. Neither driver was injured. Delacruz was lodged in County Jail in New Cumberland after being unable to post bond before Squire Herron.

Beagle was charged with drunk driving after his auto struck two parked cars in Newell Saturday night at 10:10, deputies said. Parked on Washington St., the owners were listed as Luther Lance of Erwin, Tenn., and Stanley Green, 425 Washington St., Newell.

Beagle posted a $108 bond before the squire for today's hearing. He suffered a cut on his head, deputies reported.

Takes Pride In Fine

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Sherman R. Patton of Cheyenne was fined $20 and court costs for speeding 65 miles an hour in a 45-mile-an-hour zone. But Patton expressed a little pride in the fine—just to think his 1925 model T could go that fast.

Heavy Turkey Seen Best Buy

District food markets are stocking turkeys for Thanksgiving, with indications that the larger birds—which are in heavier supply—will offer the best buy, according to Richard Skinner, market information agent with the Agricultural Extension Service.

Cranberry quality and size is very good this year, he said, and the crop is the largest ever. When buying fresh cranberries, look for berries that are clean, firm and free from blemishes, Skinner suggested.

Citrus fruits now are in plentiful supply and quality has improved over that at the beginning of the season. Prices will not be as low as they were last year because of Hurricane Donna. California oranges are increasing in supply. Prices are not yet at the season low.

The root crops are among the leading vegetable choices this week. Turnips and rutabagas are both low-cost-per-serving vegetables. Onions are still at low prices.

Sweet potatoes are low in cost for the food value they contain. Now is the season for winter squash, cauliflower, broccoli, brussel sprouts and cabbage.

Remember that vegetables are an important part of our diet, Skinner said. We consume 200 pounds per person per year, according to the Department of Agriculture.

$1,000 Loss Estimated After Wellsville Blaze

Fire Chief Robert Lewis of Wellsville today set damage at $1,000 in a fire in a new section of building under construction at the Buckeye Works of the McLain Fire Brick Co., Refractories Division of the H. K. Porter Co., on Clark Ave. Friday morning at 4:20.

This raised the total to $5,700 in three separate fires in Wellsville Friday. Lewis also said the fires were the first which caused any loss in the city since July 7.

The blaze at the Buckeye Works was started when a light bulb ignited a tarpaulin draped over the open end of the structure as a wind breaker.

The loss in the three fires amounted to more than had been listed for the entire year. A garage and auto burned in one of the other fires and the other was in the clothes press of a home.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — You aren't crowded on the elevators of the Navy's new atomic - powered carrier Enterprise. Each of the four elevators has a surface more than 4,000 square feet in area—large enough for two average city lots.

Built of aluminum to save weigh each weighs 105 tons and contains one and a quarter miles of aluminum beams one to ten feet deep.

TV Workers Set Tuesday Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Representatives of a performers union and the four major television and radio networks resume negotiations today seeking to reach agreement on a new contract before Tuesday midnight's deadline.

Performers in New York and Chicago authorized their national board to call a strike at any time after midnight if no agreement is reached by then. Television and radio artists in Los Angeles voted Sunday night to authorize a strike.

The networks involved are the American Broadcasting Co., National Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System and Mutual (radio) Broadcasting System.

Contracts between the networks and the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists expire at midnight Tuesday. About 16,000 union members are involved.

A major demand of the union is for a new formula under which fees are paid to performers who work in commercials known as "wild spots." These are taped for use on individual stations. A network source and a union spokesman said the fee increase sought would be 300 per cent in some cases.

The union is seeking a 10 per cent increase in performer fees, higher payments to performers or reruns of commercials and other benefits.

Palestine Yule Clubs Distribute $105,351

EAST PALESTINE — Checks totaling $105,351 in Christmas Club savings were being received in the mails today by customers of three area financial institutions.

Mailing was begun Saturday to the club members of the Union Commercial and Savings Bank and the Savings and Loan Co. of East Palestine and the New Waterford Bank of New Waterford.

This year's distribution will be about $2,000 less than last year.

Dinner Attracts 250

SALINEVILLE — More than 250 attended a Veterans Day dinner held Saturday night by American Legion Post 442. A dance followed. Dean Wright, commander, presided.

Drivers Fined In City's Court

Three motorists cited for traffic violations today in Municipal Court were fined and hearings were continued until Thursday morning for two others.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff handed fines of $5 and costs to Thurman Dennis Garland of Leetonia, Otto Thomas Jenkins III of LaCroft and James E. Lowe of Shadyside Ave.

Garland was cited Saturday night for crashing the traffic signal at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. and Lowe was cited last Monday night for ignoring a stop sign at the same intersection.

Jenkins was cited Monday night for crashing the traffic light at W. 8th and Jefferson Sts.

A hearing for Victor S. Dunn, 48, of 746 St. Clair Ave., accused of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor following an accident Nov. 4, was continued until Thursday at 10:30 a. m.

Thomas J. Connor, 1107 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, cited early Saturday for speeding on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd.", also is due to appear Thursday morning. He posted a $31 bond following his arrest.

Franklyn C. White, cited by the State Highway Patrol Nov. 8 on Route 30 for driving left of center and driving without an operator's permit, failed to appear this morning.

'Eye-Opening' Pledges Received By Sight Inc.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP) — The North Carolina Eye Bank for Restoring Sight Inc., has received more than 2,000 pledges of eyes to be used in corneal transplants.

More than 7,500 wills are on file with the eye bank. Seventy - one eyes passed through the bank in 1959-60. Forty-two of these were used in transplants and 29 in research.

Takes Pride In Fine

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Sherman R. Patton of Cheyenne was fined $20 and court costs for speeding 65 miles an hour in a 45-mile-an-hour zone. But Patton expressed a little pride in the fine—just to think his 1925 model T could go that fast.

Heavy Turkey Seen Best Buy

District food markets are stocking turkeys for Thanksgiving, with indications that the larger birds—which are in heavier supply—will offer the best buy, according to Richard Skinner, market information agent with the Agricultural Extension Service.

Cranberry quality and size is very good this year, he said, and the crop is the largest ever. When buying fresh cranberries, look for berries that are clean, firm and free from blemishes, Skinner suggested.

Citrus fruits now are in plentiful supply and quality has improved over that at the beginning of the season. Prices will not be as low as they were last year because of Hurricane Donna. California oranges are increasing in supply. Prices are not yet at the season low.

The root crops are among the leading vegetable choices this week. Turnips and rutabagas are both low-cost-per-serving vegetables. Onions are still at low prices.

Sweet potatoes are low in cost for the food value they contain. Now is the season for winter squash, cauliflower, broccoli, brussel sprouts and cabbage.

Remember that vegetables are an important part of our diet, Skinner said. We consume 200 pounds per person per year, according to the Department of Agriculture.

$1,000 Loss Estimated After Wellsville Blaze

Fire Chief Robert Lewis of Wellsville today set damage at $1,000 in a fire in a new section of building under construction at the Buckeye Works of the McLain Fire Brick Co., Refractories Division of the H. K. Porter Co., on Clark Ave. Friday morning at 4:20.

This raised the total to $5,700 in three separate fires in Wellsville Friday. Lewis also said the fires were the first which caused any loss in the city since July 7.

The blaze at the Buckeye Works was started when a light bulb ignited a tarpaulin draped over the open end of the structure as a wind breaker.

The loss in the three fires amounted to more than had been listed for the entire year. A garage and auto burned in one of the other fires and the other was in the clothes press of a home.

You Aren't Crowded On Carrier's Elevators

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — You aren't crowded on the elevators of the Navy's new atomic - powered carrier Enterprise. Each of the four elevators has a surface more than 4,000 square feet in area—large enough for two average city lots.

Built of aluminum to save weigh each weighs 105 tons and contains one and a quarter miles of aluminum beams one to ten feet deep.

TV Workers Set Tuesday Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Representatives of a performers union and the four major television and radio networks resume negotiations today seeking to reach agreement on a new contract before Tuesday midnight's deadline.

Performers in New York and Chicago authorized their national board to call a strike at any time after midnight if no agreement is reached by then. Television and radio artists in Los Angeles voted Sunday night to authorize a strike.

The networks involved are the American Broadcasting Co., National Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System and Mutual (radio) Broadcasting System.

Contracts between the networks and the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists expire at midnight Tuesday. About 16,000 union members are involved.

A major demand of the union is for a new formula under which fees are paid to performers who work in commercials known as "wild spots." These are taped for use on individual stations. A network source and a union spokesman said the fee increase sought would be 300 per cent in some cases.

The union is seeking a 10 per cent increase in performer fees, higher payments to performers or reruns of commercials and other benefits.

Palestine Yule Clubs Distribute $105,351

EAST PALESTINE — Checks totaling $105,351 in Christmas Club savings were being received in the mails today by customers of three area financial institutions.

Mailing was begun Saturday to the club members of the Union Commercial and Savings Bank and the Savings and Loan Co. of East Palestine and the New Waterford Bank of New Waterford.

This year's distribution will be about $2,000 less than last year.

Dinner Attracts 250

SALINEVILLE — More than 250 attended a Veterans Day dinner held Saturday night by American Legion Post 442. A dance followed. Dean Wright, commander, presided.

Drivers Fined In City's Court

Three motorists cited for traffic violations today in Municipal Court were fined and hearings were continued until Thursday morning for two others.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff handed fines of $5 and costs to Thurman Dennis Garland of Leetonia, Otto Thomas Jenkins III of LaCroft and James E. Lowe of Shadyside Ave.

Garland was cited Saturday night for crashing the traffic signal at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. and Lowe was cited last Monday night for ignoring a stop sign at the same intersection.

Jenkins was cited Monday night for crashing the traffic light at W. 8th and Jefferson Sts.

A hearing for Victor S. Dunn, 48, of 746 St. Clair Ave., accused of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor following an accident Nov. 4, was continued until Thursday at 10:30 a. m.

Thomas J. Connor, 1107 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, cited early Saturday for speeding on the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd.", also is due to appear Thursday morning. He posted a $31 bond following his arrest.

Franklyn C. White, cited by the State Highway Patrol Nov. 8 on Route 30 for driving left of center and driving without an operator's permit, failed to appear this morning.

'Eye-Opening' Pledges Received By Sight Inc.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP) — The North Carolina Eye Bank for Restoring Sight Inc., has received more than 2,000 pledges of eyes to be used in corneal transplants.

Washington Changes The Guard

There will be, now, the usual recommendations for doing something to improve the way we elect presidents.

It's always plain when an election's over that we depend on an incredibly hit-and-miss process for filling what we Americans like to call the "world's most important job."

It's as though we stage a contest for President among people who wanted to put their names in a hat, until the field was narrowed down to two, then made them fight for the hat.

This year, on top of everything else, they split the hat, with neither one in clear possession. The winner has the electoral vote edge, thanks to topheavy support from big-city voters. But no one is going to know better than Sen. Kennedy when he takes office that congressmen who don't kotow to big-city voters are going to be acutely aware of the popular vote split in the 1960 election. They will be responsive to voters, not to him. He will have to sell his program as he goes.

That will be part of the "world's most important job"—to win confidence.

THE ELECTION is over. The hoopla and the hoorah are behind us. The catch-as-catch-can tactics of electioneering are now like memories of pranks played when young. We must grow up again.

Sen. Kennedy and the campaign were one thing; Sen. Kennedy and the administration of the United Statss are another thing.

He must do what incoming Presidents have been doing from the beginning. He must rise to the occasion.

Americans vote for politicians in presidential contests, but they hope to elect statesman. More often than not, it has worked that way. There is a metamorphosis that makes the campaigning that went before responsibility seem frivolous and irresponsible.

Men rise to the occasion in a spirit of humility and reverence, as Harry Truman did when Franklin D. Roosevelt's death thrust him into the presidency; as Calvin Coolidge did when Warren G. Harding's death transferred the burden of state to his shoulders.

ALL OF US who did everything we could do for Richard Nixon's campaign now will do everything we can for John Kennedy's administration.

We will do this in the spirit now being manifested by the Eisenhower administration, which is doing everything in its power to help the Kennedy administration get started with a minimum of friction and dislocation.

In 1960, the metamorphosis from campaigning to administering will be made easier by the most significant aspect of the election.

There was no repudiation of the Eisenhower administration. The popular vote cannot be interpreted that way. It is not being interpreted that way. The immoderates who were itching to shoot America to the moon have been significantly silent since Election day. They were repudiated—hard.

There was no repudiation, either, of the candidacy of Vice President Nixon to take over when President Eisenhower retired. There was a change of the guard in Washington, not an overturn of policy.

Then There's Ezra Taft Benson

While the politicians are picking up the pieces of their recently disordered lives and making reservations for subtropical vacations, one recently disordered life holds special interest.

Ezra Taft Benson, secretary of agriculture in the Eisenhower cabinet, is not a politician, strictly speaking. But he is in politics. During the 1960 presidential campaign, he was in politics up to his well-polished eyeglasses.

He was such a hot potato that Richard Nixon, his fellow cabinet member, figuratively turned Benson's picture to the wall and pretended he did not exist.

John Kennedy, on the other hand, made a talking point of what he charged was Benson's terrible farm policy that had driven U.S. agriculture to the wall and was a stench among the farmers of America.

Both candidates made it clear that if elected they would purge Benson's ideas from the farm policy of their administrations. It even was arranged for Secretary Benson to go kiting off to South America at the height of the campaign, to get him out of sight and out of mind.

If there was one thing that every politician knew as well as the first name of his party's state chairman, it was the utter failure of Ezra Taft Benson's farm program, as butchered and distorted by a hostile Congress. It was a deadweight for Nixon and a talking point for Kennedy.

But when the votes were counted there was no sign of revolt in the farm states. Indiana was for Nixon. So were Kansas, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Ohio, North Dakota, Idaho and Illinois, except for Chicago. Kentucky didn't hold anything against Benson, nor Tennessee, Washington, Wisconsin, Florida Iowa, and Nebraska. Even in states carried by Kennedy, there was no evidence in the voting totals that Ezra Taft Benson had been a political liability.

All he ever did was propose that farmers should be helped back on their own two feet and encouraged to keep political meddlers at arm's length. Granted that this was a frightening prospect for politicians who make a living telling farmers how bad off they are, it didn't seem to scare the farmers. Ezra Taft Benson will be one of the strong men of government it will be tough to wave out of Washington.

Chinese Red Nationalists

There is one matter about the Chinese Communists and their habit of moving in wherever there's trouble these days that has not been settled.

It is believed to have been the readiness of Chinese Reds to pile into the Congo that caused the Russian Reds to fold up their tents and move out. They hoped the United Nations would see to it that their fellow Communists from China didn't move in.

Then there's the odd presence of Chinese Communists in Cuba, whose dictator presumably had fallen under the spell of Russian Communists. No one is aware in Cuba of French Communists, Italian Communists, Polish Communists and, least of all, American Communists. But Chinese Communists, yes.

Chinese Communists are busy as ants in springtime throughout Latin America. It goes without saying they have been twice that busy in Asia, which had been marked out as the special dominion of the Russian Communists.

It will not be surprising if one day soon there is awareness of Chinese Communists in the United States and Canada, which so far have been conscious only of Caucasian Communists and especially of Caucasian Communists originating in the Soviet Union.

The matter that must be settled about the Chinese Communists is this: Are they more interested in Chinese nationalism than communism?

Are they like the Russians who professed at one time to be devoted only to communism but proved to be on closer inspection devoted to Russian nationalism?

Do these people use the cloak of international communism to conceal the whip of colonialism they are carrying in their clenched fist?

Is the issue that created the schism between Tito in Yugoslavia and Stalin in Russia destined to explode in every country whose politicians and people became aware of the interference of foreigners in their national affairs—not international advocates of communism but meddling foreigners carrying cards of membership in the Communist party of Russia.

Judge Douglas Showed The Way

One incident of history, belatedly recalled, sheds light on the one incident of the 1960 campaign that marked it as different from its predecessors.

The famous Lincoln-Douglas debates of 1859 catapulted Abraham Lincoln into more prominence than he ever had enjoyed before by putting him opposite one of the most famous men of his era—Judge Stephen. A. Douglas.

The Dictionary of American Biography says of Douglas at this period in his brilliant career: "He was known everywhere; he was always sure of an audience; he enjoyed the favor of the Illinois Central Railroad which put special trains at his service; he drew liberally upon his own pecuniary resources; he was aided by a gerrymander which gave the Democrats an advantage in electing members of the legislature. He forefeited some of these advantages, however, when he accepted Lincoln's proposal of a series of joint debates, for Lincoln had no such following and could command no such public importance. The picturesque features of these joint debates, in which Lincoln appears for the first time as a national figure, have given them perhaps an undue importance."

It is of further historic interest that another son of Illinois, Adlai E. Stevenson, is credited with the idea for the television debates in 1960; he presumably knew what debates had done for the little known Lincoln, who, though defeated by Douglas in their contest for the U.S. Senate, was nominated for the presidency because of his new-won fame as the man who had debated the redoubtable Judge Douglas.

What's Wrong With This Picture?

Mr. K Has Been Ike's Big Thorn

By Marvin Arrowsmith

Dwight D. Eisenhower's eight years as president, now coming to a close, are likely to be marked most vividly in history by a great and overriding frustration — Nikita Khrushchev.

More than any other man, more than any other incident or combination of events, the Soviet premier has managed to thwart the President, who above all else wanted to go out of office as chief architect of a peace that would end the cold war.

That high hope now is dashed against a monumental Eisenhower-Khrushchev stalemate actually heightening East-West tensions as the President prepares to leave office Jan. 20.

Some contemporary observers outside the Communist orbit have summed it all up as a bitter defeat for Eisenhower and a blow to American prestige.

SPECIFICALLY they have in mind how Khrushchev smashed the May Summit conference in Paris blaming Eisenhower for not apologizing over the U2 spy plane episode; how he insulted the President by withdrawing an invitation to visit Russia; how he delighted in Communist - inspired rioting which kept Eisenhower out of Japan, and how he recently has used the United Nations General Assembly as a forum for bitter new attacks on this country and its President.

Also, there has been hot criticism of Eisenhower in some quarters for publicly assuming full responsibility for the U2 plane's espionage mission.

Close associates of the President report he is sorely disappointed that the turn of events since last May has blocked achievement of his No. 1 objective — to bring about a thaw in the Cold War ice.

But these associates also report that the President by no means regards it all as a defeat for the United States and the free world cause. They say that on the contrary he feels that on balance the free world has gained some ground.

EISENHOWER believes, it is known, that Khrushchev has overplayed his hand and so actually strengthened the Western alliance and the likelihood of support from neutral countries in the United Nations.

But — notwithstanding tremendous acclaim Eisenhower has received in worldwide travel as a messenger of peace — Khrushchev remains as a roadblock in the way of the greatest goal the President set out to achieve when he took office in 1953, a durable world peace safeguarded from the threat of nuclear catastrophe.

That struggle always was the President's first interest. And, since the passing of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, it has taken most of his time.

At 62, Eisenhower came to the presidency the great popular hero of the mightly military coalition which crushed Hitler's fortress Europe. Now at 70—the oldest man ever to serve as president — he still is tremendously popular despite increased criticism of his policies over the years.

For that, it is something of a political phenomenon how criticism of the Eisenhower administration translates to such a small extent to criticism of the man.

One of the great paradoxes is that Eisenhower doesn't like politics in the sense of the spoils system and log-rolling for votes, and yet he rates perhaps as a master politician on the basis of his hold on the people.

IN SAYING publicly once that he dislikes politics in what he called "the derogatory sense," the President went on to explain what he does like about politics.

"Any man who finds himself in a position of authority where he has a very great influence in the efforts of people to work for a peaceful world, toward international relationships that will eliminate or minimize the chances of war, all that sort of thing, it is a fascinating thing. It is the kind of thing that would engage the. . .intense interest of any man alive."

Eisenhower's disdain of politics in the "the derogatory sense" never has extended to campaigning around the country.

In 1956, Eisenhower told a news conference that during his first two years in office — when some members of his own party in Congress were making life difficult for him — he toyed with the idea of trying for realignment of the two major parties, apparently with a view to greater harmony within the ranks on political philosophy.

On election night in 1956 the President called his second victory over Adlai Stevenson a triumph for modern Republicanism.

He defined it later as Republicanism which looks to the future—"a type of political philosophy that recognizes clearly the responsibility of the federal government," but also relies to the maximum extent without harm to the people on local and state governments and on the free enterprise system.

One day during the 1952 campaign someone asked Eisenhower at a private lunch how he expected to get along as President with a couple of strong personalities in Congress who weren't at all likely to see eye to eye with him.

"I've been able to get along pretty well with people all my life, and (as an Army officer) I've been getting along all right with Congress for a long time," he said.

The Electoral College

By John Beckler

WASHINGTON

It seemed like a good idea back in 1788 to have the president of the United States chosen by an electoral college.

The idea was to have the best people in each state get together and pick the best man in the country to run things. It worked fine as long as George Washington was around.

Washington won the unanimous vote of the electors in 1789 and 1792, but never again did the system work the way it was supposed to. The grit of politics got in the gearbox.

Once the people began to have a say as to who were the best men in each state and rival parties started pushing rival candidates, the whole idea of a genteel aristocracy tapping one of its members as president collapsed.

But despite its failure and the repeated attacks on it, the system is still with us and the antiquated machinery will have to be cranked up on Dec. 19 to make the election of John F. Kennedy official.

On that day the electors will meet in their respective states and confirm what the voters did last Tuesday. Each state gets as many votes as it has members in Congress.

Originally the electors in most states were chosen by their state legislatures but now they are picked by party leaders in each state (although Alabama picked them in a primary). This slate of electors is what the voters choose, not a presidential candidate. The vote is recorded in the candidate's name, however, and as the system has evolved, the electors' votes in almost all cases belong to him.

Fourteen unpledged electors in Alabama and Mississippi will be free to vote for anybody they want on Dec. 19, but their votes can't change the result as it now stands.

Considering the potential for trouble inadhering to such a system it is remarkable that only four elections in the nation's history have been snagged in it.

The worst mess was in 1876 when Democrat Samuel B. Tilden won the popular vote but fell one vote short of an electoral majority due to conflicting electoral counts in three Southern states. The House was Democratic that year and the Senate Republican. Neither would let the other act.

Finally a commission of five senators, five representatives and five Supreme Court justices voted on the rival claims and by a 8-7 vote awarded all the disputed votes to the Republican candidate, Rutherford B. Hayes. He was named president just two days before Inauguration Day.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — In an effort to combat a period of industrial depression and restore business confidence, retail merchants, manufacturers, banks and public utilities in the East Liverpool district joined in a nation-wide "Buy Now" movement.

A 20-inch water line from the municipal filtration plant near the state line to the Thompson Hill low service reservoir, broke on private property near the Smith Phillips China Co., on Michigan Ave.

A clearing house, to which all organizations engaged in relief work were asked to report names of persons seeking aid, was opened in the mayor's office in the Central fire station.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Pupils and teachers in the Wellsville Garfield School contributed 100 per cent in the Junior Red Cross campaign.

In expense statements filed with the election board, Columbiana County candidates reported more than $7,000 spent in their campaigns.

East Liverpool American Legion Post 4 voted to reaffiliate with the Columbiana County American Legion Council after a separation of more than two years.

TEN YEARS AGO — Receipts of about $1,000 in the Boy Scout fund campaign were reported at a meeting of the McKinley Reservation near Lisbon.

The Newell Home and School Association outlined plans to renovate the basement at the school.

Mrs. William J. Horger was elected president of the Genevieve Martindale Missionary Society of the Second Presbyterian Church.

The play presented at Ford's Theater on the night of April 14, 1865, was Tom Taylor's celebrated comedy, "Our American Cousin," with Laura Keene in the leading role. President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated during the third act.

The account of a student at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., showed that her expenses for the year 1843-4, including tuition, transportation to Weymouth, Mass., and a trip to Boston, amounted to $97.96.

Puzzled Ivan

By William L. Ryan

Soviet Man-In-The-Street Ponders U.S. Election

If the Soviet man-in-the-street tries, on the basis of what he has been told officially, to figure out what happened in the U. S. election, he is going to be a mighty bewildered citizen.

Throughout the campaign Ivan's newspapers told him Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon were Tweedledee and Tweedledum. The American voter, he read, had no choice at all. Both candidates, said the Communist press, served exactly the same interests and had the same predatory imperialist aims.

Even when it was over, a typical official press comment was that "it is impossible to see without a magnifying glass any marked difference between the Republican leader, Nixon and the Democrat leader, Kennedy."

But then Ivan also was told that the election was a repudiation of the Republican party. For Ivan, there was no explanation of how the American voters could repudiate a policy if there was no difference in policies.

Nor did his press attempt to explain to him why an American electorate could repudiate a political party while a Soviet electorate could never hope to do so.

"Millions of Americans," Moscow radio told its home audiences, "have given their reply to the arms race, to military provocation and to the aggravation of the cold war which was the foundation of the Eisenhower administration policy."

The election, continued the broadcaster, expressed the people's "profound disapproval of the political course of the U. S. government."

Puzzled Ivan may have wondered:

How come Americans get to express profound disapproval of their government? Could Ivan do likewise? And if both Democrats and Republicans represent "big monopoly capital," how can the American people repudiate an arms race by electing one or the other?

If both parties are, as the press has told Ivan, incurably imperialist, how can Comrade Khrushchev expect President Kennedy will represent "the people" any more than President Eisenhover did?

Wasn't President Eisenhower once described by Comrade Khruschev as a man of peace? And when President Eisenhower succeeded President Truman, who until then had been the main devil in the Soviet press, didn't Ivan read that the Americans elected a Republican as a repudiation of the Democrats and of warmongering and arms-racing?

If an imperialist president is such a menacing dictator, oppressing the American people, how come they can remove him?

Ivan tends to shrug his shoulders, defeated by his puzzlement. Those Russians who do otherwise just get more bewildered, like a fellow I met in a Moscow department store seven years ago.

Sizing me up as an American, he sidled up and demanded: "Is it true all Americans have automobiles?"

I nodded and he squinted suspiciously. "Then tell me this," he pursued. "Why does Truman have aggressive designs on the Soviet Union?"

"Just a minute, I said. "Truman's not president now. Eisenhower is."

He gave me a grin and a knowing wink and said: "Yes but you know, and I know—Truman's still the boss."

Nehru Pushes Plan

By Watson Sims

NEW DELHI

For the 420 million people of India economic progress is not a great leap forward but a hop, step and an occasional slip.

Now nearing the end of a decade of planning, India does not, like China, boast of goals overfulfilled. Most of her leaps have been medium sized, and many have fallen short of their goals.

In rallying his country for a far bigger effort beginning next year, Prime Minister Nehru claims only that the effort has been great and progress in the right direction.

"The picture one sees as a whole is of a nation throbbing with activity, making mistakes, stumbling, falling and getting up, but always moving forward," Nehru says.

Many experts believe the rate at which India is moving forward will eventually determine whether the world's second most populous nation will remain a democracy or follow China into Communism.

NEXT YEAR India will have had 10 years of the struggling, stumbling and forward motion of an economy in which the state economic planning of the Communist world is mixed with the parliamentary freedoms of the West.

Already approved by parliament is a third five-year plan which calls for $24.4 billion to be spent on building up the economy — more than the outlay for the first and second plans combined.

Upon all who supported the first two plans, the third will make heavier demands than ever. Foreign countries which provided $3.5 billion in loans and grants during the past decade will be asked for $4.6 billion in the next five years.

The Indians themselves must dig up $3.3 billion in additional taxes—a fearsome sum in a country where present income taxes begin when salaries reach $210 per year and climb to 25 per cent when incomes reach $3,675. The vast majority of Indians make far less than $210 annually.

The Indians must expect more and perhaps greater shortages of consumer goods. And above all, this freedom-loving but not always energetic people must expect hard work.

"We have not yet learned to work," says Nehru. "We can do it, but we are not mentally prepared, not thinking that it is only through hard work that a country progresses, whether it is America or China; capitalist, Communist or socialist."

For their hard work, higher taxes and austerity, Nehru promises the Indians significant economic advances by 1966.

FIRST, HE expects the nation to become able to feed itself. Considering an exploding population which will reach 480 million by 1966, the third plan assigns highest priority to food production. By 1966 every Indian should have 15 ounces of food grains daily.

Second priority goes to a series of industrial objectives including the doubling of steel and electric power production. Nehru hopes they will bring a long step toward industrial self-sufficiency, which India may reach by 1971.

But there was also a dark side of the first two plans. Critics pointed out that few projects achieved more than 75 per cent of their goals. There was endless argument as to whether the average Indian was better off than before.

"I visit the villages and I can see that our people are better fed, better clothed and living in better houses," said Nehru.

But not everybody thought so. The Hindu of Madras, one of the nation's oldest and most respected newspapers, detected what it felt was a "general mood of frustration in the country" which it said was because the purchasing power of the rupee had fallen so badly as to neutralize the rise in money incomes.

According to an index computed by the government, consumer prices rose from 100 in 1949 to 126 in 1960. Many observers believed the cost of living rose by one-third over the decade.

THERE WERE 5.3 million workers on the unemployed rolls when the second plan went into effect in 1956 with an announced goal of creating eight million new jobs. It actually created 6.5 million jobs. Meanwhile, population gains added 10 million workers to the labor force. Nearly nine million still are without jobs and this counts only those on the rolls. The actual total may be much higher.

Perhaps the most important issue, however, was whether the people were satisfied with a system in which they retained their freedoms at some cost in the rate of economic growth.

In China, for example, the state controls all salaries and annually flows about 20 per cent of the national income back into the economy. India presently struggles to re-invest 8 to 10 per cent but hopes to reach 14 per cent in the third plan.

On the extreme right wing, the Swatantra party argued that freedom is already lost — that a "confused mixture of Communism and socialism" is leading India into totalitarianism. It wants all state planning scrapped.

Washington Changes The Guard

There will be, now, the usual recommendations for doing something to improve the way we elect presidents.

It's always plain when an election's over that we depend on an incredibly hit-and-miss process for filling what we Americans like to call the "world's most important job."

It's as though we stage a contest for President among people who wanted to put their names in a hat, until the field was narrowed down to two, then made them fight for the hat.

This year, on top of everything else, they split the hat, with neither one in clear possession. The winner has the electoral vote edge, thanks to topheavy support from big-city voters. But no one is going to know better than Sen. Kennedy when he takes office that congressmen who don't kotow to big-city voters are going to be acutely aware of the popular vote split in the 1960 election. They will be responsive to voters, not to him. He will have to sell his program as he goes.

That will be part of the "world's most important job"—to win confidence.

THE ELECTION is over. The hoopla and the hoorah are behind us. The catch-as-catch-can tactics of electioneering are now like memories of pranks played when young. We must grow up again.

Sen. Kennedy and the campaign were one thing; Sen. Kennedy and the administration of the United Statss are another thing.

He must do what incoming Presidents have been doing from the beginning. He must rise to the occasion.

Americans vote for politicians in presidential contests, but they hope to elect statesman. More often than not, it has worked that way. There is a metamorphosis that makes the campaigning that went before responsibility seem frivolous and irresponsible.

Men rise to the occasion in a spirit of humility and reverence, as Harry Truman did when Franklin D. Roosevelt's death thrust him into the presidency; as Calvin Coolidge did when Warren G. Harding's death transferred the burden of state to his shoulders.

ALL OF US who did everything we could do for Richard Nixon's campaign now will do everything we can for John Kennedy's administration.

We will do this in the spirit now being manifested by the Eisenhower administration, which is doing everything in its power to help the Kennedy administration get started with a minimum of friction and dislocation.

In 1960, the metamorphosis from campaigning to administering will be made easier by the most significant aspect of the election.

There was no repudiation of the Eisenhower administration. The popular vote cannot be interpreted that way. It is not being interpreted that way. The immoderates who were itching to shoot America to the moon have been significantly silent since Election day. They were repudiated—hard.

There was no repudiation, either, of the candidacy of Vice President Nixon to take over when President Eisenhower retired. There was a change of the guard in Washington, not an overturn of policy.

Then There's Ezra Taft Benson

While the politicians are picking up the pieces of their recently disordered lives and making reservations for subtropical vacations, one recently disordered life holds special interest.

Ezra Taft Benson, secretary of agriculture in the Eisenhower cabinet, is not a politician, strictly speaking. But he is in politics. During the 1960 presidential campaign, he was in politics up to his well-polished eyeglasses.

He was such a hot potato that Richard Nixon, his fellow cabinet member, figuratively turned Benson's picture to the wall and pretended he did not exist.

John Kennedy, on the other hand, made a talking point of what he charged was Benson's terrible farm policy that had driven U.S. agriculture to the wall and was a stench among the farmers of America.

Both candidates made it clear that if elected they would purge Benson's ideas from the farm policy of their administrations. It even was arranged for Secretary Benson to go kiting off to South America at the height of the campaign, to get him out of sight and out of mind.

If there was one thing that every politician knew as well as the first name of his party's state chairman, it was the utter failure of Ezra Taft Benson's farm program, as butchered and distorted by a hostile Congress. It was a deadweight for Nixon and a talking point for Kennedy.

But when the votes were counted there was no sign of revolt in the farm states. Indiana was for Nixon. So were Kansas, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Ohio, North Dakota, Idaho and Illinois, except for Chicago. Kentucky didn't hold anything against Benson, nor Tennessee, Washington, Wisconsin, Florida Iowa, and Nebraska. Even in states carried by Kennedy, there was no evidence in the voting totals that Ezra Taft Benson had been a political liability.

All he ever did was propose that farmers should be helped back on their own two feet and encouraged to keep political meddlers at arm's length. Granted that this was a frightening prospect for politicians who make a living telling farmers how bad off they are, it didn't seem to scare the farmers. Ezra Taft Benson will be one of the strong men of government it will be tough to wave out of Washington.

Chinese Red Nationalists

There is one matter about the Chinese Communists and their habit of moving in wherever there's trouble these days that has not been settled.

It is believed to have been the readiness of Chinese Reds to pile into the Congo that caused the Russian Reds to fold up their tents and move out. They hoped the United Nations would see to it that their fellow Communists from China didn't move in.

Then there's the odd presence of Chinese Communists in Cuba, whose dictator presumably had fallen under the spell of Russian Communists. No one is aware in Cuba of French Communists, Italian Communists, Polish Communists and, least of all, American Communists. But Chinese Communists, yes.

Chinese Communists are busy as ants in springtime throughout Latin America. It goes without saying they have been twice that busy in Asia, which had been marked out as the special dominion of the Russian Communists.

It will not be surprising if one day soon there is awareness of Chinese Communists in the United States and Canada, which so far have been conscious only of Caucasian Communists and especially of Caucasian Communists originating in the Soviet Union.

The matter that must be settled about the Chinese Communists is this: Are they more interested in Chinese nationalism than communism?

Are they like the Russians who professed at one time to be devoted only to communism but proved to be on closer inspection devoted to Russian nationalism?

Do these people use the cloak of international communism to conceal the whip of colonialism they are carrying in their clenched fist?

Is the issue that created the schism between Tito in Yugoslavia and Stalin in Russia destined to explode in every country whose politicians and people became aware of the interference of foreigners in their national affairs—not international advocates of communism but meddling foreigners carrying cards of membership in the Communist party of Russia.

Judge Douglas Showed The Way

One incident of history, belatedly recalled, sheds light on the one incident of the 1960 campaign that marked it as different from its predecessors.

The famous Lincoln-Douglas debates of 1859 catapulted Abraham Lincoln into more prominence than he ever had enjoyed before by putting him opposite one of the most famous men of his era—Judge Stephen. A. Douglas.

The Dictionary of American Biography says of Douglas at this period in his brilliant career: "He was known everywhere; he was always sure of an audience; he enjoyed the favor of the Illinois Central Railroad which put special trains at his service; he drew liberally upon his own pecuniary resources; he was aided by a gerrymander which gave the Democrats an advantage in electing members of the legislature. He forefeited some of these advantages, however, when he accepted Lincoln's proposal of a series of joint debates, for Lincoln had no such following and could command no such public importance. The picturesque features of these joint debates, in which Lincoln appears for the first time as a national figure, have given them perhaps an undue importance."

It is of further historic interest that another son of Illinois, Adlai E. Stevenson, is credited with the idea for the television debates in 1960; he presumably knew what debates had done for the little known Lincoln, who, though defeated by Douglas in their contest for the U.S. Senate, was nominated for the presidency because of his new-won fame as the man who had debated the redoubtable Judge Douglas.

What's Wrong With This Picture?

Mr. K Has Been Ike's Big Thorn

By Marvin Arrowsmith

Dwight D. Eisenhower's eight years as president, now coming to a close, are likely to be marked most vividly in history by a great and overriding frustration — Nikita Khrushchev.

More than any other man, more than any other incident or combination of events, the Soviet premier has managed to thwart the President, who above all else wanted to go out of office as chief architect of a peace that would end the cold war.

That high hope now is dashed against a monumental Eisenhower-Khrushchev stalemate actually heightening East-West tensions as the President prepares to leave office Jan. 20.

Some contemporary observers outside the Communist orbit have summed it all up as a bitter defeat for Eisenhower and a blow to American prestige.

SPECIFICALLY they have in mind how Khrushchev smashed the May Summit conference in Paris blaming Eisenhower for not apologizing over the U2 spy plane episode; how he insulted the President by withdrawing an invitation to visit Russia; how he delighted in Communist - inspired rioting which kept Eisenhower out of Japan, and how he recently has used the United Nations General Assembly as a forum for bitter new attacks on this country and its President.

Also, there has been hot criticism of Eisenhower in some quarters for publicly assuming full responsibility for the U2 plane's espionage mission.

Close associates of the President report he is sorely disappointed that the turn of events since last May has blocked achievement of his No. 1 objective — to bring about a thaw in the Cold War ice.

But these associates also report that the President by no means regards it all as a defeat for the United States and the free world cause. They say that on the contrary he feels that on balance the free world has gained some ground.

EISENHOWER believes, it is known, that Khrushchev has overplayed his hand and so actually strengthened the Western alliance and the likelihood of support from neutral countries in the United Nations.

But — notwithstanding tremendous acclaim Eisenhower has received in worldwide travel as a messenger of peace — Khrushchev remains as a roadblock in the way of the greatest goal the President set out to achieve when he took office in 1953, a durable world peace safeguarded from the threat of nuclear catastrophe.

That struggle always was the President's first interest. And, since the passing of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, it has taken most of his time.

At 62, Eisenhower came to the presidency the great popular hero of the mightly military coalition which crushed Hitler's fortress Europe. Now at 70—the oldest man ever to serve as president — he still is tremendously popular despite increased criticism of his policies over the years.

For that, it is something of a political phenomenon how criticism of the Eisenhower administration translates to such a small extent to criticism of the man.

One of the great paradoxes is that Eisenhower doesn't like politics in the sense of the spoils system and log-rolling for votes, and yet he rates perhaps as a master politician on the basis of his hold on the people.

IN SAYING publicly once that he dislikes politics in what he called "the derogatory sense," the President went on to explain what he does like about politics.

"Any man who finds himself in a position of authority where he has a very great influence in the efforts of people to work for a peaceful world, toward international relationships that will eliminate or minimize the chances of war, all that sort of thing, it is a fascinating thing. It is the kind of thing that would engage the. . .intense interest of any man alive."

Eisenhower's disdain of politics in the "the derogatory sense" never has extended to campaigning around the country.

In 1956, Eisenhower told a news conference that during his first two years in office — when some members of his own party in Congress were making life difficult for him — he toyed with the idea of trying for realignment of the two major parties, apparently with a view to greater harmony within the ranks on political philosophy.

On election night in 1956 the President called his second victory over Adlai Stevenson a triumph for modern Republicanism.

He defined it later as Republicanism which looks to the future—"a type of political philosophy that recognizes clearly the responsibility of the federal government," but also relies to the maximum extent without harm to the people on local and state governments and on the free enterprise system.

One day during the 1952 campaign someone asked Eisenhower at a private lunch how he expected to get along as President with a couple of strong personalities in Congress who weren't at all likely to see eye to eye with him.

"I've been able to get along pretty well with people all my life, and (as an Army officer) I've been getting along all right with Congress for a long time," he said.

The Electoral College

By John Beckler

WASHINGTON

It seemed like a good idea back in 1788 to have the president of the United States chosen by an electoral college.

The idea was to have the best people in each state get together and pick the best man in the country to run things. It worked fine as long as George Washington was around.

Washington won the unanimous vote of the electors in 1789 and 1792, but never again did the system work the way it was supposed to. The grit of politics got in the gearbox.

Once the people began to have a say as to who were the best men in each state and rival parties started pushing rival candidates, the whole idea of a genteel aristocracy tapping one of its members as president collapsed.

But despite its failure and the repeated attacks on it, the system is still with us and the antiquated machinery will have to be cranked up on Dec. 19 to make the election of John F. Kennedy official.

On that day the electors will meet in their respective states and confirm what the voters did last Tuesday. Each state gets as many votes as it has members in Congress.

Originally the electors in most states were chosen by their state legislatures but now they are picked by party leaders in each state (although Alabama picked them in a primary). This slate of electors is what the voters choose, not a presidential candidate. The vote is recorded in the candidate's name, however, and as the system has evolved, the electors' votes in almost all cases belong to him.

Fourteen unpledged electors in Alabama and Mississippi will be free to vote for anybody they want on Dec. 19, but their votes can't change the result as it now stands.

Considering the potential for trouble inadhering to such a system it is remarkable that only four elections in the nation's history have been snagged in it.

The worst mess was in 1876 when Democrat Samuel B. Tilden won the popular vote but fell one vote short of an electoral majority due to conflicting electoral counts in three Southern states. The House was Democratic that year and the Senate Republican. Neither would let the other act.

Finally a commission of five senators, five representatives and five Supreme Court justices voted on the rival claims and by a 8-7 vote awarded all the disputed votes to the Republican candidate, Rutherford B. Hayes. He was named president just two days before Inauguration Day.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — In an effort to combat a period of industrial depression and restore business confidence, retail merchants, manufacturers, banks and public utilities in the East Liverpool district joined in a nationwide "Buy Now" movement.

A 20-inch water line from the municipal filtration plant near the state line to the Thompson Hill low service reservoir, broke on private property near the Smith Phillips China Co., on Michigan Ave.

A clearing house, to which all organizations engaged in relief work were asked to report names of persons seeking aid, was opened in the mayor's office in the Central fire station.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Pupils and teachers in the Wellsville Garfield School contributed 100 per cent in the Junior Red Cross campaign.

In expense statements filed with the election board, Columbiana County candidates reported more than $7,000 spent in their campaigns.

East Liverpool American Legion Post 4 voted to reaffiliate with the Columbiana County American Legion Council after a separation of more than two years.

TEN YEARS AGO — Receipts of about $1,000 in the Boy Scout fund campaign were reported at a meeting of the McKinley Reservation near Lisbon.

The Newell Home and School Association outlined plans to renovate the basement at the school.

Mrs. William J. Horger was elected president of the Genevieve Martindale Missionary Society of the Second Presbyterian Church.

The play presented at Ford's Theater on the night of April 14, 1865, was Tom Taylor's celebrated comedy, "Our American Cousin," with Laura Keene in the leading role. President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated during the third act.

The account of a student at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., showed that her expenses for the year 1843-4, including tuition, transportation to Weymouth, Mass., and a trip to Boston, amounted to $97.96.

Puzzled Ivan

Soviet Man-In-The-Street Ponders U.S. Election

If the Soviet man-in-the-street tries, on the basis of what he has been told officially, to figure out what happened in the U. S. election, he is going to be a mighty bewildered citizen.

Throughout the campaign Ivan's newspapers told him Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon were Tweedledee and Tweedledum. The American voter, he read, had no choice at all. Both candidates, said the Communist press, served exactly the same interests and had the same predatory imperialist aims.

Even when it was over, a typical official press comment was that "it is impossible to see without a magnifying glass any marked difference between the Republican leader, Nixon and the Democrat leader, Kennedy."

But then Ivan also was told that the election was a repudiation of the Republican party. For Ivan, there was no explanation of how the American voters could repudiate a policy if there was no difference in policies.

Nor did his press attempt to explain to him why an American electorate could repudiate a political party while a Soviet electorate could never hope to do so.

"Millions of Americans," Moscow radio told its home audiences, "have given their reply to the arms race, to military provocation and to the aggravation of the cold war which was the foundation of the Eisenhower administration policy."

The election, continued the broadcaster, expressed the people's "profound disapproval of the political course of the U. S. government."

Puzzled Ivan may have wondered:

How come Americans get to express profound disapproval of their government? Could Ivan do likewise? And if both Democrats and Republicans represent "big monopoly capital," how can the American people repudiate an arms race by electing one or the other?

If both parties are, as the press has told Ivan, incurably imperialist, how can Comrade Khrushchev expect President Kennedy will represent "the people" any more than President Eisenhower did?

Wasn't President Eisenhower once described by Comrade Khruschev as a man of peace? And when President Eisenhower succeeded President Truman, who until then had been the main devil in the Soviet press, didn't Ivan read that the Americans elected a Republican as a repudiation of the Democrats and of warmongering and arms-racing?

If an imperialist president is such a menacing dictator, oppressing the American people, how come they can remove him?

Ivan tends to shrug his shoulders, defeated by his puzzlement. Those Russians who do otherwise just get more bewildered, like a fellow I met in a Moscow department store seven years ago.

Sizing me up as an American, he sidled up and demanded: "Is it true all Americans have automobiles?"

I nodded and he squinted suspiciously. "Then tell me this," he pursued. "Why does Truman have aggressive designs on the Soviet Union?"

"Just a minute, I said. "Truman's not president now. Eisenhower is."

He gave me a grin and a knowing wink and said: "Yes but you know, and I know—Truman's still the boss."

Nehru Pushes Plan

By Watson Sims

NEW DELHI

For the 420 million people of India economic progress is not a great leap forward but a hop, step and an occasional slip.

Now nearing the end of a decade of planning, India does not, like China, boast of goals overfulfilled. Most of her leaps have been medium sized, and many have fallen short of their goals.

In rallying his country for a far bigger effort beginning next year, Prime Minister Nehru claims only that the effort has been great and progress in the right direction.

"The picture one sees as a whole is of a nation throbbing with activity, making mistakes, stumbling, falling and getting up, but always moving forward," Nehru says.

Many experts believe the rate at which India is moving forward will eventually determine whether the world's second most populous nation will remain a democracy or follow China into Communism.

NEXT YEAR India will have had 10 years of the struggling, stumbling and forward motion of an economy in which the state economic planning of the Communist world is mixed with the parliamentary freedoms of the West.

Already approved by parliament is a third five-year plan which calls for $24.4 billion to be spent on building up the economy — more than the outlay for the first and second plans combined.

Upon all who supported the first two plans, the third will make heavier demands than ever. Foreign countries which provided $3.5 billion in loans and grants during the past decade will be asked for $4.6 billion in the next five years.

The Indians themselves must dig up $3.3 billion in additional taxes—a fearsome sum in a country where present income taxes begin when salaries reach $210 per year and climb to 25 per cent when incomes reach $3,675. The vast majority of Indians make far less than $210 annually.

The Indians must expect more and perhaps greater shortages of consumer goods. And above all, this freedom-loving but not always energetic people must expect hard work.

"We have not yet learned to work," says Nehru. "We can do it, but we are not mentally prepared, not thinking that it is only through hard work that a country progresses, whether it is America or China; capitalist, Communist or socialist."

For their hard work, higher taxes and austerity, Nehru promises the Indians significant economic advances by 1966.

FIRST, HE expects the nation to become able to feed itself. Considering an exploding population which will reach 480 million by 1966, the third plan assigns highest priority to food production. By 1966 every Indian should have 15 ounces of food grains daily.

Second priority goes to a series of industrial objectives including the doubling of steel and electric power production. Nehru hopes they will bring a long step toward industrial self-sufficiency, which India may reach by 1971.

But there was also a dark side of the first two plans. Critics pointed out that few projects achieved more than 75 per cent of their goals. There was endless argument as to whether the average Indian was better off than before.

"I visit the villages and I can see that our people are better fed, better clothed and living in better houses," said Nehru.

But not everybody thought so. The Hindu of Madras, one of the nation's oldest and most respected newspapers, detected what it felt was a "general mood of frustration in the country" which it said was because the purchasing power of the rupee had fallen so badly as to neutralize the rise in money incomes.

According to an index computed by the government, consumer prices rose from 100 in 1949 to 126 in 1960. Many observers believed the cost of living rose by one-third over the decade.

THERE WERE 5.3 million workers on the unemployed rolls when the second plan went into effect in 1956 with an announced goal of creating eight million new jobs. It actually created 6.5 million jobs. Meanwhile, population gains added 10 million workers to the labor force. Nearly nine million still are without jobs and this counts only those on the rolls. The actual total may be much higher.

Perhaps the most important issue, however, was whether the people were satisfied with a system in which they retained their freedoms at some cost in the rate of economic growth.

In China, for example, the state controls all salaries and annually flows about 20 per cent of the national income back into the economy. India presently struggles to re-invest 8 to 10 per cent but hopes to reach 14 per cent in the third plan.

On the extreme right wing, the Swatantra party argued that freedom is already lost — that a "confused mixture of Communism and socialism" is leading India into totalitarianism. It wants all state planning scrapped.

GOP Checked By Democrat Vote In South

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The 1960 election brought a Democratic resurgence in the south and little Republican success in extending recent gains, an Associated Press survey showed today.

President-Elect John F. Kennedy polled more votes in the 11 Southern states than any previous candidate.

Vice President Richard Nixon out-did all previous Republican efforts, but his percentage of the two-party vote dropped about three per cent from President Eisenhower's 1956 total. This compared with an eight per cent drop nationally.

A sampling of returns in several metropolitan areas showed that votes against the Democrats were often conservative rather than Republican. The implication is that a conservative third party might seriously erode the Republican's new strength.

Unofficial, nearly complete returns compiled by the Associated Press in the 11 states gave Kennedy 5,041,905 votes, or 52.3 per cent of the two-party vote, to Nixon's 4,602,166, or 47.7 per cent. Independent Democratic electors polled 109,404 votes in Mississippi, and Louisiana's States Rights Party had 169,962.

In 1956 Eisenhower led with 4,214,155, or 50.5 per cent; in 1952 Adlai Stevenson polled 4,428,163, or 52.5 per cent.

Kennedy's percentage would probably have been higher than Stevenson's had it not been for the senator's Roman Catholic religion which hurt him in rural, Protestant areas.

Kennedy's total becomes more impressive when compared with Al Smith's showing in 1928. Smith, the only other Roman Catholic major party presidential candidate, had only 52.4 per cent of the Southern vote at a time when there was virtually no Republican party organization in several states of the old Confederacy.

The Democrats clearly will not approach majorities such as the late Franklin D. Roosevelt achieved. In 1944, Roosevelt received 73.5 per cent of the Southern vote.

The Republicans held their five house seats in Florida, North Carolina, Texas and Virginia (2). But they ran far behind in every other contested congressional election and in every gubernatorial race, except North Carolina where the Democrats were handicapped by a party split.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

GOP Checked By Democrat Vote In South

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The 1960 election brought a Democratic resurgence in the south and little Republican success in extending recent gains, an Associated Press survey showed today.

President-Elect John F. Kennedy polled more votes in the 11 Southern states than any previous candidate.

Vice President Richard Nixon out-did all previous Republican efforts, but his percentage of the two-party vote dropped about three per cent from President Eisenhower's 1956 total. This compared with an eight per cent drop nationally.

A sampling of returns in several metropolitan areas showed that votes against the Democrats were often conservative rather than Republican. The implication is that a conservative third party might seriously erode the Republican's new strength.

Unofficial, nearly complete returns compiled by the Associated Press in the 11 states gave Kennedy 5,041,905 votes, or 52.3 per cent of the two-party vote, to Nixon's 4,602,166, or 47.7 per cent. Independent Democratic electors polled 109,404 votes in Mississippi, and Louisiana's States Rights Party had 169,962.

In 1956 Eisenhower led with 4,214,155, or 50.5 per cent; in 1952 Adlai Stevenson polled 4,428,163, or 52.5 per cent.

Kennedy's percentage would probably have been higher than Stevenson's had it not been for the senator's Roman Catholic religion which hurt him in rural, Protestant areas.

Kennedy's total becomes more impressive when compared with Al Smith's showing in 1928. Smith, the only other Roman Catholic major party presidential candidate, had only 52.4 per cent of the Southern vote at a time when there was virtually no Republican party organization in several states of the old Confederacy.

The Democrats clearly will not approach majorities such as the late Franklin D. Roosevelt achieved. In 1944, Roosevelt received 73.5 per cent of the Southern vote.

The Republicans held their five house seats in Florida, North Carolina, Texas and Virginia (2). But they ran far behind in every other contested congressional election and in every gubernatorial race, except North Carolina where the Democrats were handicapped by a party split.

Yule Seal Sale Drive Started

LISBON—The Columbiana County Public Health League today launched its annual Christmas Seal sale with a goal of $33,000.

Thousands of sheets of Christmas seals were mailed to individuals, business places and industries from league headquarters at Lisbon. The 1959 sale totaled $31,826.

Chairman Richard T. Speidel of Hanoverton, Health League president, said: "Christmas Seals finance the league's all-out effort to tuberculin test as many of the people in the county as possible as soon as possible." "Find the infected, that's the way to stop TB," Speidel said.

Township chairmen follow, along with the 1960 goal and 1959 donations in parenthesis:

Butler and Knox, Mrs. Ray Thornton, $1,000 ($1,094); Center, C. R. McKenzie, $2,400 ($2,274); Elkrun, Mrs. Frank DeSellem, $200 ($204); Fairfield, Mark Klingensmith, $3,300 ($3,218).

Franklin and Wayne, Mrs. Bert Davis, $200 ($187); Hanover, Mrs. John Lindesmith, $650 ($648); Liverpool and St. Clair, J. A. Reaney, $9,225 ($8,759); Madison, H. W. Applegate, $200 ($189).

Middleton, Mrs. Helen McCall, $475 ($400); Perry, D. L. Vincent, $7,400 ($7,054); Salem, Lester Fisher, $1,500 ($1,440); Unity, Paul E. Lange, $3,000 ($3,086); Washington, Mrs. Hazel Baker, $650 ($576); West, Mrs. Donald Stafford, $400 ($358); Yellow Creek, Fred A. Huston, $2,400 ($2,316).

agent learned that a millionaire Hong Kong dealer and collector, J. D. Chen, was involved in transactions that brought ancient art objects from Red China to this country.

Chen began selling the objects to American dealers, particularly the Loo galleries and Charles L. Doue, a Berkeley, Calif., dealer.

The search led agents to the Boston Museum, where an examination of records indicated the "Birds and Flowers" painting came from a Los Angeles dealer named Yang.

In Los Angeles, it was learned that Paul C. Yang, 26, has been in jail since Nov. 5, charged with smuggling and violating the 1950 trading law.

Customs agents said one of their undercover men, posing as a representative of an art dealer, contacted Yang to discuss purchase of several objects. They included two silk screens about 1,500 years old and a bronze tortoise dating from 200 B. C. Agents said Yang asked $15,000 for the screens, $50,000 for the tortoise.

Agents said part of the collection was brought in to Seattle, Wash., by plane, part to San Francisco by ship.

Yang, a mechanical engineer, came to the United States in May from Hong Kong.

After his arrest, agents were led to Doue, who allegedly had $70,000 worth of smuggled goods, and to the Loo galleries in New York.

No charges have been filed against Caro or Doue.

Police Break Up Man's 2-Way Business Deal

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A Tucson man had a two-way business deal going until police stepped in.

Ceciro Rakestraw, 62, was contracted to haul farm workers to and from their jobs. On the way home each night, officers said, Rakestraw would sell his passengers wine for one dollar a pint. He had purchased the liquor for half that price.

Rakestraw was charged with selling liquor without a permit.

orders from the Louisiana Legislature to enforce closing the city's public schools.

The names of the girls—the first Negroes accepted for white schools here since the Reconstruction—and the schools were closely guarded secrets.

The legislature in Baton Rouge Sunday night completed action on three sweeping concurrent resolutions designed to block the integration but U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright quickly enjoined the entire legislature from interfering with the eight-year-old battle.

The legislature, with leaders of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis in complete control, had rammed through resolutions which seized the new Orleans school system, authorized sergeants-at-arms at schools to prevent integration, dismissed the New Orleans school superintendent and school board attorney, and declared today a school holiday.

Both houses of the legislature were to reconvene this morning to await developments or recess until noon Tuesday when the current special session ends.

Davis has called another special session to convene Tuesday.

Demonstrators packed the legislature Sunday. The segregationists waved Confederate flags and waved signs: "Nix on mixing." "Don't call time out for education" and "Please — keep our schools open."

Administration and segregation leaders said an interposition suit would be filed in New Orleans, placing the sovereignty of Louisiana between the federal courts and the New Orleans school system.

This was described as the long-awaited states rights challenge to federal authority, based on the Tenth Amendment which reserves powers to the state not given to the federal government. It is the heart of the Davis-segregationist showdown over school integration.

The restraining order signed by Judge Wright, author of the school desegregation plan, was requested by the Orleans Parish School Board.

2 Men With Mutual Problem Finally Meet

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP) — Two men with a mutual problem have finally met at this Army post.

They are Lt. Col. Alfred J. Roth and 1st Sgt. Alferd J. Roth. Their problem, naturally, has been mixed-up mail.

The confusion began last August when Col. Roth arrrived at Ft. Sill from an assignment in Europe and the two began receiving each other's mail. But they didn't meet until recently.

The officer is from Philadelphia and the sergeant from Jerseyville, Ill.

Yule Seal Sale Drive Started

LISBON—The Columbiana County Public Health League today launched its annual Christmas Seal sale with a goal of $33,000.

Thousands of sheets of Christmas seals were mailed to individuals, business places and industries from league headquarters at Lisbon. The 1959 sale totaled $31,826.

Chairman Richard T. Speidel of Hanoverton, Health League president, said: "Christmas Seals finance the league's all-out effort to tuberculin test as many of the people in the county as possible as soon as possible." "Find the infected, that's the way to stop TB," Speidel said.

Township chairmen follow, along with the 1960 goal and 1959 donations in parenthesis:

Butler and Knox, Mrs. Ray Thornton, $1,000 ($1,094); Center, C. R. McKenzie, $2,400 ($2,274); Elkrun, Mrs. Frank DeSellem, $200 ($204); Fairfield, Mark Klingensmith, $3,300 ($3,218).

Franklin and Wayne, Mrs. Bert Davis, $200 ($187); Hanover, Mrs. John Lindesmith, $650 ($648); Liverpool and St. Clair, J. A. Reaney, $9,225 ($8,759); Madison, H. W. Applegate, $200 ($189).

Middleton, Mrs. Helen McCall, $475 ($400); Perry, D. L. Vincent, $7,400 ($7,054); Salem, Lester Fisher, $1,500 ($1,440); Unity, Paul E. Lange, $3,000 ($3,086); Washington, Mrs. Hazel Baker, $650 ($576); West, Mrs. Donald Stafford, $400 ($358); Yellow Creek, Fred A. Huston, $2,400 ($2,316).

Smugglers

agent learned that a millionaire Hong Kong dealer and collector, J. D. Chen, was involved in transactions that brought ancient art objects from Red China to this country.

Chen began selling the objects to American dealers, particularly the Loo galleries and Charles L. Doue, a Berkeley, Calif., dealer.

The search led agents to the Boston Museum, where an examination of records indicated the "Birds and Flowers" painting came from a Los Angeles dealer named Yang.

In Los Angeles, it was learned that Paul C. Yang, 26, has been in jail since Nov. 5, charged with smuggling and violating the 1950 trading law.

Customs agents said one of their undercover men, posing as a representative of an art dealer, contacted Yang to discuss purchase of several objects. They included two silk screens about 1,500 years old and a bronze tortoise dating from 200 B. C. Agents said Yang asked $15,000 for the screens, $50,000 for the tortoise.

Agents said part of the collection was brought in to Seattle, Wash., by plane, part to San Francisco by ship.

Yang, a mechanical engineer, came to the United States in May from Hong Kong.

After his arrest, agents were led to Doue, who allegedly had $70,000 worth of smuggled goods, and to the Loo galleries in New York.

No charges have been filed against Caro or Doue.

Police Break Up Man's 2-Way Business Deal

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A Tucson man had a two-way business deal going until police stepped in.

Ceciro Rakestraw, 62, was contracted to haul farm workers to and from their jobs. On the way home each night, officers said, Rakestraw would sell his passengers wine for one dollar a pint. He had purchased the liquor for half that price.

Rakestraw was charged with selling liquor without a permit.

orders from the Louisiana Legislature to enforce closing the city's public schools.

The names of the girls—the first Negroes accepted for white schools here since the Reconstruction—and the schools were closely guarded secrets.

The legislature in Baton Rouge Sunday night completed action on three sweeping concurrent resolutions designed to block the integration but U. S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright quickly enjoined the entire legislature from interfering with the eight-year-old battle.

The legislature, with leaders of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis in complete control, had rammed through resolutions which seized the new Orleans school system, authorized sergeants-at-arms at schools to prevent integration, dismissed the New Orleans school superintendent and school board attorney, and declared today a school holiday.

Both houses of the legislature were to reconvene this morning to await developments or recess until noon Tuesday when the current special session ends.

Davis has called another special session to convene Tuesday.

Demonstrators packed the legislature Sunday. The segregationists waved Confederate flags and waved signs: "Nix on mixing." "Don't call time out for education" and "Please — keep our schools open."

Administration and segregation leaders said an interposition suit would be filed in New Orleans, placing the sovereignty of Louisiana between the federal courts and the New Orleans school system.

This was described as the long-awaited states rights challenge to federal authority, based on the Tenth Amendment which reserves powers to the state not given to the federal government. It is the heart of the Davis-segregationist showdown over school integration.

The restraining order signed by Judge Wright, author of the school desegregation plan, was requested by the Orleans Parish School Board.

2 Men With Mutual Problem Finally Meet

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP) — Two men with a mutual problem have finally met at this Army post.

They are Lt. Col. Alfred J. Roth and 1st Sgt. Alferd J. Roth. Their problem, naturally, has been mixed-up mail.

The confusion began last August when Col. Roth arrrived at Ft. Sill from an assignment in Europe and the two began receiving each other's mail. But they didn't meet until recently.

The officer is from Philadelphia and the sergeant from Jerseyville, Ill.

Husband Shot At Farm Home

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Donald Lee Butzer, 31, of Barberton, was shot to death early today at the farm home of his father-in-law, Joseph Henry Moine, sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said Moine, 63, told them he fired a 16 gauge shotgun at his son-in-law after Butzer broke in the front door.

Butzer's wife, Irene, 25, had filed for divorce, and there had been a court order barring Butzer from trying to see his wife at her father's home south of Doyles - town. With Mrs. Butzer in the home were the couple's two children, Donald Lee Jr., 6, and Mickey, 3.

Deputies said Moine gave this account:

Butzer had been at the home about midnight, making threats and trying to get in. He left, finally, saying he would be back to "put an end to things one way or another."

He returned about 2:30 a. m. and began shouting and pounding and kicking the door. Moine said he thought Butzer had a gun, and when Butzer broke the door open Moine fired one blast at him.

Deputies said Butzer died almost immediately.

Wayne County Prosecutor James K. Leedy said no charges are being filed immediately, but that the case is under investigation. Moine was not held.

Businesswoman Dies

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ethel Chase Davis, 75, whose cake-baking and interest in business helped her husband found the 11-state Winn-Dixie grocery chain, died Sunday after a six-month illness. She and her husband, W. M. Davis, who died in 1934, started their first table supply store in Miami in 1925 and it grew into 519 grocery outlets. She was born in Marietta, Ga.

Flu And Fever Fail To Halt Davis-Britt Wedding Rites

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Negro performer Sammy Davis Jr. wed blonde Swedish actress May Britt Sunday—with the help of friends and celebrities ranging from the sister of President-elect Kennedy to the Duke of Bedford.

Miss Britt, a statuesque blonde from Stockholm, almost missed her wedding when a severe attack of intestinal flu with a 103-degree fever, bedded her hours before the ceremony.

But she made it to the Jewish rites held under a bower of white chrysanthemums in the living room of Davis' home high above Hollywood's Sunset Strip.

Later Davis said it was his 26-year-old bride who first mentioned marriage.

"She was the one who popped the question," he said.

Miss Britt, wearing a sheath champagne dress with short veil, was given away by her father, Hugo Wilkens of Stockholm. He and the bride's mother flew in specially for the ceremony.

The Jewish rites—both bride and groom are converts to Judaism—were performed by Rabbi William M. Kramer of Hollywood's Temple Israel.

Frank Sinatra was best man and Mrs. George Rhodes, wife of Davis' musical arranger, was matron of honor.

After the rites, the bride went to bed. Davis went solo to a reception at the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

There he greeted such famous guests as Janet Leigh, Barbara Rush, Milton Berle, Mrs. Dean Martin, Diana Dors, Jack (Maverick) Kelly, Peter (Lawman) Brown and Louis (77 Sunset Strip) Quinn.

Then he was spotted by Pat Kennedy Lawford, sister of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

"How do you feel, chicky baby?" asked Mrs. Lawford as Davis bussed her on the cheek.

Said Davis: "Man, I feel electric."

The marriage was the second for each. Davis was married to Loray White, Negro singer, in 1958. They were divorced after two and a half months of marriage.

Miss Britt, once touted as a successor to Marlene Dietrich, was married to Edward Gregson, a Stanford law student three years her junior. They separated Sept. 8, 1959.

27 Injured When Bus Crashes In Virginia

SMITHFIELD, VA. (AP) — A Trailways bus carrying 40 servicemen plunged off a fog-shrouded curve into an eastern Virginia creek early today, critically injuring three passengers.

Twenty-seven were taken to a hospital in nearby Suffolk. Thirteen others were examined by a doctor in this community.

There were no fatalities.

The bus was southbound from Washington, D.C., to Norfolk, Va., about 50 miles away. Thirty-nine sailors and one soldier were aboard.

In 1950 only 30 per cent of all homes that were built had three or more bedrooms. Today the figure is 80.

Motorist Charged In County Mishap

A Hanoverton area driver was cited by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol following a two-car traffic mishap Sunday afternoon.

The patrol reported a quiet weekend, marred only by one other minor mishap near Alliance.

Harold J. Thompson, 34, of Hanoverton R. D. 1 was cited on a charge of failing to stop in the assured clear distance after his auto struck the rear of a car driven by Clarence F. May Jr., 23, of Box 88, Kensington.

The patrol said both vehicles were traveling west on Route 518 near West Point when the mishap occurred at 1:05 p. m. Sunday. Neither driver was injured.

Drivers from Sebring and Youngstown were involved in a minor mishap on Route 62 Saturday at 4:15 p. m. about 4 miles east of Alliance, the patrol said.

U.N. Leader Reiterates Korean Weapon Policy

PANMUNJOM, South Korea (AP) — A senior delegate of the United Nations Command said today the UNC "will continue to defend South Korea, using any weapons it considers necessary for that defense."

Maj. Gen. Richard Collins newly appointes senior member of the United Nations component, made the statement at a meeting called by the North Korean side to complain about the introduction of modern weapons into South Korea.

Pope Outlines Council's Aim

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII said today the forthcoming ecumenical council of the Roman Catholic Church will aim at "re-establishing, in value and splendor, the substance of human and Christian thought and life."

The pontiff spoke to more than 500 members of special commissions gathered here from all parts of the world to prepare for the council.

At least a year's work must be completed before the council — named Second Vatican Council, or Vatican II—officially opens. Vatican I was the council of 1869-70.

The Pope said that preparatory work — or suggestions to be pursued by the council — already fill five volumes. These, now being printed, will be turned over to 10 commissions that will prepare the agenda.

He referred to the attention being given to the forthcoming council by "the separated brethren," meaning Christians of other faiths. This "particularly consoles us and brings to our heart a foretaste of the joy of unity of all believers in Christ," he said.

The Pope said, however, that the council will primarily concern itself with matters of the Roman Catholic Church.

Planning Group Slates 3 Hearings At Midland

The Midland Planning Commission will conduct three public hearings Wednesday and Thursday on a zoning ordinance and a land sub-division ordinance.

The public is invited to sessions both Wednesday and Thursday at 7:30 p. m. and Thursday at 9 p. m. with Borough Council present. Hearings will be held in Council Chambers in the Borough Building.

James R. Woglom, a representative of Morris Knowles planning engineers of Pittsburgh which is in charge of Midland's comprehensive plan, will attend to answer questions.

Dr. Zanvel Sigal is chairman of the commission and Anthony Martell's secretary.

U.S. Firm Set To Film Israeli Trial For Nazi

NEW YORK (AP) — An agreement has been reached between the Israeli government and an American firm for exclusive television and film coverage of the trial of Adolf Eichmann in Jerusalem for the murder of six million Jews.

Frank M. Smith, president of Capital Cities Broadcasting Corp., said Sunday his company will make all recordings and films taken during the trial available to any broadcaster or film company throughout the world.

Proceeds — after expenses — will go to a charity organization designated by the Israeli government.

Kennedy Holding Lead Of 271,817 In Popular Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy held a 271,817 vote lead over Richard M. Nixon today as results continued to trickle in from Tuesday's presidential election.

With 1,653 voting units still out, counting of absentee ballots under way in several states, and re - counts contemplated in some areas, Kennedy had 33,698,794 votes and Nixon had 33,426,977 votes.

This gave Kennedy 50.2 per cent of the popular vote and Nixon 49.8 per cent.

In the electoral vote count, Kennedy was assured of 300 votes and Nixon 185. Kennedy still led in the race for California's 32 electoral votes. With absentee ballots being counted, he had a margin of 37,140 votes.

Nixon led in Alaska by 514 votes with 50 precincts still out and in Hawaii by 91 votes with another recount likely. Each state has three electoral votes.

Blacksnake Knocks Out Power To 2,200 Homes

KENANSVILLE, N. C. (AP) — An electric power company reported a 5-foot short circuit knocked out electric service to 2,200 homes.

The 5-footer was a black snake that crawled into a power company substation and disrupted service. The snake was electrocuted.

Husband Shot At Farm Home

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Donald Lee Butzer, 31, of Barberton, was shot to death early today at the farm home of his father-in-law, Joseph Henry Moine, sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said Moine, 63, told them he fired a 16 gauge shotgun at his son-in-law after Butzer broke in the front door.

Butzer's wife, Irene, 25, had filed for divorce, and there had been a court order barring Butzer from trying to see his wife at her father's home south of Doylestown. With Mrs. Butzer in the home were the couple's two children, Donald Lee Jr., 6, and Mickey, 3.

Deputies said Moine gave this account:

Butzer had been at the home about midnight, making threats and trying to get in. He left, finally, saying he would be back to "put an end to things one way or another."

He returned about 2:30 a. m. and began shouting and pounding and kicking the door. Moine said he thought Butzer had a gun, and when Butzer broke the door open Moine fired one blast at him.

Deputies said Butzer died almost immediately.

Wayne County Prosecutor James K. Leedy said no charges are being filed immediately, but that the case is under investigation. Moine was not held.

Businesswoman Dies

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ethel Chase Davis, 75, whose cake-baking and interest in business helped her husband found the 11-state Winn-Dixie grocery chain, died Sunday after a six-month illness. She and her husband, W. M. Davis, who died in 1934, started their first table supply store in Miami in 1925 and it grew into 519 grocery outlets. She was born in Marietta, Ga.

Flu And Fever Fail To Halt Davis-Britt Wedding Rites

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Negro performer Sammy Davis Jr. wed blonde Swedish actress May Britt Sunday—with the help of friends and celebrities ranging from the sister of President-elect Kennedy to the Duke of Bedford.

Miss Britt, a statuesque blonde from Stockholm, almost missed her wedding when a severe attack of intestinal flu with a 103-degree fever, bedded her hours before the ceremony.

But she made it to the Jewish rites held under a bower of white chrysanthemums in the living room of Davis' home high above Hollywood's Sunset Strip.

Later Davis said it was his 26-year-old bride who first mentioned marriage.

"She was the one who popped the question," he said.

Miss Britt, wearing a sheath champagne dress with short veil, was given away by her father, Hugo Wilkens of Stockholm. He and the bride's mother flew in specially for the ceremony.

The Jewish rites—both bride and groom are converts to Judaism—were performed by Rabbi William M. Kramer of Hollywood's Temple Israel.

Frank Sinatra was best man and Mrs. George Rhodes, wife of Davis' musical arranger, was matron of honor.

After the rites, the bride went to bed. Davis went solo to a reception at the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

There he greeted such famous guests as Janet Leigh, Barbara Rush, Milton Berle, Mrs. Dean Martin, Diana Dors, Jack (Maverick) Kelly, Peter (Lawman) Brown and Louis (77 Sunset Strip) Quinn.

Then he was spotted by Pat Kennedy Lawford, sister of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

"How do you feel, chicky baby?" asked Mrs. Lawford as Davis bussed her on the cheek.

Said Davis: "Man, I feel electric."

The marriage was the second for each. Davis was married to Loray White, Negro singer, in 1958. They were divorced after two and a half months of marriage.

Miss Britt, once touted as a successor to Marlene Dietrich, was married to Edward Gregson, a Stanford law student three years her junior. They separated Sept. 8, 1959.

27 Injured When Bus Crashes In Virginia

SMITHFIELD, VA. (AP) — A Trailways bus carrying 40 servicemen plunged off a fog-shrouded curve into an eastern Virginia creek early today, critically injuring three passengers.

Twenty-seven were taken to a hospital in nearby Suffolk. Thirteen others were examined by a doctor in this community.

There were no fatalities.

The bus was southbound from Washington, D.C., to Norfolk, Va., about 50 miles away. Thirty-nine sailors and one soldier were aboard.

In 1950 only 30 per cent of all homes that were built had three or more bedrooms. Today the figure is 80.

Motorist Charged In County Mishap

A Hanoverton area driver was cited by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol following a two-car traffic mishap Sunday afternoon.

The patrol reported a quiet weekend, marred only by one other minor mishap near Alliance.

Harold J. Thompson, 34, of Hanoverton R. D. 1 was cited on a charge of failing to stop in the assured clear distance after his auto struck the rear of a car driven by Clarence F. May Jr., 23, of Box 88, Kensington.

The patrol said both vehicles were traveling west on Route 518 near West Point when the mishap occurred at 1:05 p. m. Sunday. Neither driver was injured.

Drivers from Sebring and Youngstown were involved in a minor mishap on Route 62 Saturday at 4:15 p. m. about 4 miles east of Alliance, the patrol said.

U.N. Leader Reiterates Korean Weapon Policy

PANMUNJOM, South Korea (AP) — A senior delegate of the United Nations Command said today the UNC "will continue to defend South Korea, using any weapons it considers necessary for that defense."

Maj. Gen. Richard Collins newly appointes senior member of the United Nations component, made the statement at a meeting called by the North Korean side to complain about the introduction of modern weapons into South Korea.

Pope Outlines Council's Aim

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII said today the forthcoming ecumenical council of the Roman Catholic Church will aim at "re-establishing, in value and splendor, the substance of human and Christian thought and life."

The pontiff spoke to more than 500 members of special commissions gathered here from all parts of the world to prepare for the council.

At least a year's work must be completed before the council — named Second Vatican Council, or Vatican II—officially opens. Vatican I was the council of 1869-70.

The Pope said that preparatory work — or suggestions to be pursued by the council — already fill five volumes. These, now being printed, will be turned over to 10 commissions that will prepare the agenda.

He referred to the attention being given to the forthcoming council by "the separated brethren," meaning Christians of other faiths. This "particularly consoles us and brings to our heart a foretaste of the joy of unity of all believers in Christ," he said.

The Pope said, however, that the council will primarily concern itself with matters of the Roman Catholic Church.

Planning Group Slates 3 Hearings At Midland

The Midland Planning Commission will conduct three public hearings Wednesday and Thursday on a zoning ordinance and a land sub-division ordinance.

The public is invited to sessions both Wednesday and Thursday at 7:30 p. m. and Thursday at 9 p. m. with Borough Council present. Hearings will be held in Council Chambers in the Borough Building.

James R. Woglom, a representative of Morris Knowles planning engineers of Pittsburgh which is in charge of Midland's comprehensive plan, will attend to answer questions.

Dr. Zanvel Sigal is chairman of the commission and Anthony Martell's secretary.

U.S. Firm Set To Film Israeli Trial For Nazi

NEW YORK (AP) — An agreement has been reached between the Israeli government and an American firm for exclusive television and film coverage of the trial of Adolf Eichmann in Jerusalem for the murder of six million Jews.

Frank M. Smith, president of Capital Cities Broadcasting Corp., said Sunday his company will make all recordings and films taken during the trial available to any broadcaster or film company throughout the world.

Proceeds — after expenses — will go to a charity organization designated by the Israeli government.

Kennedy Holding Lead Of 271,817 In Popular Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy held a 271,817 vote lead over Richard M. Nixon today as results continued to trickle in from Tuesday's presidential election.

With 1,653 voting units still out, counting of absentee ballots under way in several states, and recounts contemplated in some areas, Kennedy had 33,698,794 votes and Nixon had 33,426,977 votes.

This gave Kennedy 50.2 per cent of the popular vote and Nixon 49.8 per cent.

In the electoral vote count, Kennedy was assured of 300 votes and Nixon 185. Kennedy still led in the race for California's 32 electoral votes. With absentee ballots being counted, he had a margin of 37,140 votes.

Nixon led in Alaska by 514 votes with 50 precincts still out and in Hawaii by 91 votes with another recount likely. Each state has three electoral votes.

Blacksnake Knocks Out Power To 2,200 Homes

KENANSVILLE, N. C. (AP) — An electric power company reported a 5-foot short circuit knocked out electric service to 2,200 homes.

The 5-footer was a black snake that crawled into a power company substation and disrupted service. The snake was electrocuted.

Couple Married On Oct. 22 Residing In Raleigh, N.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hines Bynum Jr. are residing in Raleigh, N. C., after a honeymoon in New York City following their marriage Oct. 22 at 4:30 o'clock in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church of Pittsburgh.

The bride was Miss Coline Ann Bromby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Donald Bromby, 929 Montgomery Ave., and her husband's parents are Mr, and Mrs. Frank H. Bynum of Raleigh.

The Rev. Ward Smith, rector, officiated for the single-ring rites in the presence of the immediate families and friends. Vases of white gladiolus, chrysanthemums and carnations formed altar decorations. Miss Catherine Wick presented traditional organ music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of Alencon lace and satin. The fitted lace bodice featured bracelet-length sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. The bouffant skirt of satin was highlighted with a bow at the center of the hemline.

Her fingertip veil of imported, silk illusion was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of cybidium orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Maurice E. Carlisle Jr. of Pittsburgh was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a ballerina-length sheath gown of French satin in champagne color. The fitted bodice was designed with a scoop neckline, cap sleeves and a wide cummerbund. A flowing, chiffon panel offered back accent.

Mrs. William A. Gierl of Pittsburgh, another sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a dress of French lime satin styled identically to that of the matron of honor.

They wore matching Dior bows with short veils and carried cascade bouquets of bronze-tipped yellow roses.

The father of the bridegroom was best man and James Woolery of Raleigh was usher.

A street-length sheath of candlelight brocade, fashioned with a scoop neckline and short sleeves, was worn by the bride's mother. She used champagne color accessories and a sequined hat.

MRS. F. H. BYNUM JR.
She Was Coline Ann Bromby.

The bridegroom's mother chose a sheath of crushed white chiffon and black velvet with a matching short-sleeved jacket. She wore a white feather hat. White orchid corsages complemented both costumes.

A reception was held at the Pittsburgh Playhouse. A two-tier cake topped with wedding bells centered the buffet table, which was highlighted with vases of mixed white flowers.

The bride wore an olive green suit with brown accessories and her bridal orchids for her going-away costume.

The bride is a 1957 graduate of East Liverpool High School. She attended Carnegie Institute of Technology for two years and was graduated in June from the Robert Morris Secretarial School of Pittsburgh.

Her husband was graduated from the Virginia Theological School and Seminary of Lynchburg. He attended the University of North Carolina for three years and was graduated in June from Carnegie Tech, where he was affiliated with Kappa Sigma Fraternity. He is associated with his father in the Bynum Printing Co. of Raleigh.

The meeting will be preceded by the rolling of bandages at 7:30 o'clock for use by Dr. Daniel F. Reynolds in Ethiopia. Needed are worn sheets, white shirts, used receiving blankets and small children's books. Articles may be brought to the church or Mrs. William Shoub may be contacted.

Couple Married On Oct. 22 Residing In Raleigh, N.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hines Bynum Jr. are residing in Raleigh, N. C., after a honeymoon in New York City following their marriage Oct. 22 at 4:30 o'clock in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church of Pittsburgh.

The bride was Miss Coline Ann Bromby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Donald Bromby, 929 Montgomery Ave., and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Bynum of Raleigh.

The Rev. Ward Smith, rector, officiated for the single-ring rites in the presence of the immediate families and friends. Vases of white gladiolus, chrysanthemums and carnations formed altar decorations. Miss Catherine Wick presented traditional organ music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of Alencon lace and satin. The fitted lace bodice featured bracelet-length sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. The bouffant skirt of satin was highlighted with a bow at the center of the hemline.

Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of cybidium orchids and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Maurice E. Carlisle Jr. of Pittsburgh was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a ballerina-length sheath gown of French satin in champagne color. The fitted bodice was designed with a scoop neckline, cap sleeves and a wide cummerbund. A flowing, chiffon panel offered back accent.

Mrs. William A. Gierl of Pittsburgh, another sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a dress of French lime satin styled identically to that of the matron of honor.

They wore matching Dior bows with short veils and carried cascade bouquets of bronze-tipped yellow roses.

The father of the bridegroom was best man and James Woolery of Raleigh was usher.

A street-length sheath of candlelight brocade, fashioned with a scoop neckline and short sleeves, was worn by the bride's mother. She used champagne color accessories and a sequined hat.

MRS. F. H. BYNUM JR.
She Was Coline Ann Bromby.

The bridegroom's mother chose a sheath of crushed white chiffon and black velvet with a matching short-sleeved jacket. She wore a white feather hat. White orchid corsages complemented both costumes.

A reception was held at the Pittsburgh Playhouse. A two-tier cake topped with wedding bells centered the buffet table, which was highlighted with vases of mixed white flowers.

The bride wore an olive green suit with brown accessories and her bridal orchids for her going-away costume.

The bride is a 1957 graduate of East Liverpool High School. She attended Carnegie Institute of Technology for two years and was graduated in June from the Robert Morris Secretarial School of Pittsburgh.

Her husband was graduated from the Virginia Theological School and Seminary of Lynchburg. He attended the University of North Carolina for three years and was graduated in June from Carnegie Tech, where he was affiliated with Kappa Sigma Fraternity. He is associated with his father in the Bynum Printing Co. of Raleigh.

The meeting will be preceded by the rolling of bandages at 7:30 o'clock for use by Dr. Daniel F. Reynolds in Ethiopia. Needed are worn sheets, white shirts, used receiving blankets and small children's books. Articles may be brought to the church or Mrs. William Shoub may be contacted.

Mrs. Frances Figley entertained members of the Hillcrest Sewing Club Friday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joann Crow of Florence St., East Liverpool.

Sewing was the pastime and lunch was served 8 by the hostess at a table laid in the Thanksgiving theme. A gift exchange will be held at the Christmas meeting Dec. 9, to which Mrs. Paul Geisse of Main St. will be hostess.

⋇ ⋇ ⋇

The diversion was 500 when members of the Friday Niters Club were entertained by Mrs. Elsie Deidrick at McGeehen's Restaurant Friday night.

Prize-winners were Mrs. Jean Steffen, a guest, Mrs. Myrtle Cannon, Mrs. Nora O'Neill and Mrs. Tressa Lucas. The club will meet Nov. 25 with Mrs. Lucas of 11th St.

Mexico celebrates three independence days each year — Sept. 15 and 16 and Nov. 20.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I just put down another magazine article on "How To Hold Your Husband." I wish someone would write an article on "How To Lose Him."

My little boy in long pants is egocentric and constantly threatens to leave me. Unfortunately, he never does. I've even offered to pack for him.

All the magazine articles say a wife should soothe her husband's shattered nerves and bolster his sagging ego by telling him how wonderful he is. How can you tell a man he's wonderful when he comes home stoned; screams, swears, and passes out before he gets his shoes off?

The next morning he can't remember what he did with the car. This is wonderful?

I've heard it said that trouble builds character. Well, I've had so much trouble in my life that character is sticking out all over. What I need is a vacation from him. What do you suggest, Ann Landers?—MARYANNA.

Dear Maryanna: A vacation from him.

Painfully Plain

Dear Ann: I hope you remember me. I signed my letter "One Of Nine Children."

I wanted you to tell us what to do about an 80-year-old father who has a pension check. Your answer was a lot of high-sounding philosophy but no advice. Remember, I told you my five sisters married pretty well and could afford to take the old man in, but they don't want to be bothered.

The rest of us have a hard time paying our bills. P's pension is only $68 a month but it would help some. Don't you think the one who takes him in should get his pension check, too?

Please don't talk so fancy. Let's have some plain language.—ONE OF NINE.

Dear One: If it's plain language you're looking for you came to the right place. You nine kids are a disgrace to the human race. It's strange how one father can take care of nine kids when they're young—but nine kids can't take care of one father when he's old.

If none of you is willing to take your dad in, then put him in a nursing home. He'd probably be happier there than with children who don't want him.

You sound like such dolls you'll probably need the poor guy's pension check to cover the cost of his care in a home—in which case go ahead and use it.

If this isn't plain enough, please send me your name and address. I'll use my own stamp.

Deliberately Dumb

Dear Ann: Our son is brilliant but he deliberately did poorly on a scholarship examination because he did not wish to go to a certain college. His Dad wanted him to go for sentimental reasons.

Our son did well on the college boards and now my husband is forcing the boy to attend the school of his choice even though the boy made it clear that he hates it.

Frankly I don't know who's right. My husband says it's time the boy was forced to do something constructive as a matter of discipline. What do you say? —MRS. M. D.

Dear Mrs. M.D.: Insisting that your son attend a school he "hates" is a mistake. You can force him to drag his body there but his mind will be closed. Before you throw out more money get the objective advice of a professor.

---

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Overweight Children Need Fewer Calories

"My daughter, 3½ years-old, weighs 55 pounds. Of course she got that way because of my bad food habits. I am told she will outgrow it, but I didn't outgrow my baby fat and I don't want to wait until she gets into school and must put up with the teasing. Could you tell me how many calories she should have a day?"

By Ida Jean Kain

This excerpt is from a letter written by an overweight young mother who is determined to help herself and her young daughter. Good for her! It's a sad mistake to assume that a seriously overweight child will naturally outgrow the fat, for when a pattern of overeating is established in childhood it tends to become fixed.

According to the Recommended Daily Allowances, the normal calorie requirements for children from 1 to 3 is 1,300 calories daily; from 4 to 6, 1,700 calories daily, and from ages 7 to 9, 2,100 calories daily.

THE CHILD WHO is overweight has either been exceeding his calorie requirements, or has not been normally active. Studies show that overweight children tend to be extraordinarily inactive. The sedentary child not only doesn't need as many calories as the active child, but fails to develop the musculature necessary to normal growth and development.

Instead of cutting food drastically, a better plan is to help the overweight youngster to become active. Whether it's too much television, lack of nearby play areas, or no place to roller skate, ride a bike, or just hop, skip and jump, many children today are not anything like active enough.

The exercise plan doesn't always work, for the very heavy child has an aversion to entering into activities. Until overweight youngsters slim down they will rebel against exercise.

So, let's get down to some ways the mothers of chubby children can cut calories. First off, see to it that less fattening food is served. Make the "creamed" dishes with skim milk.

Serve smaller portions. Breakfast should be a good meal, but the bowl of cereal should be smaller and served with milk, never with half-and-half. Use thinly sliced bread; you do the buttering.

NEVER LEAVE a jelly dish on the table. Give the chubby child a small baked potato, a small banana, a small apple. The seriously overweight child should be given skim milk. The doctor will recommend a vitamin supplement.

No child should be allowed to form the habit of overeating — it spells trouble ahead for the youngsters. Mothers, be alerted, the least successful reducers are those who have been overweight since childhood.

Send a self - addressed stamped, long envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Please address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I just put down another magazine article on "How To Hold Your Husband." I wish someone would write an article on "How To Lose Him."

My little boy in long pants is egocentric and constantly threatens to leave me. Unfortunately, he never does. I've even offered to pack for him.

All the magazine articles say a wife should soothe her husband's shattered nerves and bolster his sagging ego by telling him how wonderful he is. How can you tell a man he's wonderful when he comes home stoned; screams, swears, and passes out before he gets his shoes off?

The next morning he can't remember what he did with the car. This is wonderful?

I've heard it said that trouble builds character. Well, I've had so much trouble in my life that character is sticking out all over. What I need is a vacation from him. What do you suggest, Ann Landers?—MARYANNA.

Dear Maryanna: A vacation from him.

Painfully Plain

Dear Ann: I hope you remember me. I signed my letter "One Of Nine Children."

I wanted you to tell us what to do about an 80-year-old father who has a pension check. Your answer was a lot of high-sounding philosophy but no advice. Remember, I told you my five sisters married pretty well and could afford to take the old man in, but they don't want to be bothered.

The rest of us have a hard time paying our bills. P's pension is only $68 a month but it would help some. Don't you think the one who takes him in should get his pension check, too?

Please don't talk so fancy. Let's have some plain language.—ONE OF NINE.

Dear One: If it's plain language you're looking for you came to the right place. You nine kids are a disgrace to the human race. It's strange how one father can take care of nine kids when they're young—but nine kids can't take care of one father when he's old.

If none of you is willing to take your dad in, then put him in a nursing home. He'd probably be happier there than with children who don't want him.

You sound like such dolls you'll probably need the poor guy's pension check to cover the cost of his care in a home—in which case go ahead and use it.

If this isn't plain enough, please send me your name and address. I'll use my own stamp.

Deliberately Dumb

Dear Ann: Our son is brilliant but he deliberately did poorly on a scholarship examination because he did not wish to go to a certain college. His Dad wanted him to go for sentimental reasons.

Our son did well on the college boards and now my husband is forcing the boy to attend the school of his choice even though the boy made it clear that he hates it.

Frankly I don't know who's right. My husband says it's time the boy was forced to do something constructive as a matter of discipline. What do you say? —MRS. M. D.

Dear Mrs. M.D.: Insisting that your son attend a school he "hates" is a mistake. You can force him to drag his body there but his mind will be closed. Before you throw out more money get the objective advice of a professor.

---

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Overweight Children Need Fewer Calories

"My daughter, 3½ years-old, weighs 55 pounds. Of course she got that way because of my bad food habits. I am told she will outgrow it, but I didn't outgrow my baby fat and I don't want to wait until she gets into school and must put up with the teasing. Could you tell me how many calories she should have a day?"

By Ida Jean Kain

This excerpt is from a letter written by an overweight young mother who is determined to help herself and her young daughter. Good for her! It's a sad mistake to assume that a seriously overweight child will naturally outgrow the fat, for when a pattern of overeating is established in childhood it tends to become fixed.

According to the Recommended Daily Allowances, the normal calorie requirements for children from 1 to 3 is 1,300 calories daily; from 4 to 6, 1,700 calories daily, and from ages 7 to 9, 2,100 calories daily.

THE CHILD WHO is overweight has either been exceeding his calorie requirements, or has not been normally active. Studies show that overweight children tend to be extraordinarily inactive. The sedentary child not only doesn't need as many calories as the active child, but fails to develop the musculature necessary to normal growth and development.

Instead of cutting food drastically, a better plan is to help the overweight youngster to become active. Whether it's too much television, lack of nearby play areas, or no place to roller skate, ride a bike, or just hop, skip and jump, many children today are not anything like active enough.

The exercise plan doesn't always work, for the very heavy child has an aversion to entering into activities. Until overweight youngsters slim down they will rebel against exercise.

So, let's get down to some ways the mothers of chubby children can cut calories. First off, see to it that less fattening food is served. Make the "creamed" dishes with skim milk.

Serve smaller portions. Breakfast should be a good meal, but the bowl of cereal should be smaller and served with milk, never with half-and-half. Use thinly sliced bread; you do the buttering.

NEVER LEAVE a jelly dish on the table. Give the chubby child a small baked potato, a small banana, a small apple. The seriously overweight child should be given skim milk. The doctor will recommend a vitamin supplement.

No child should be allowed to form the habit of overeating — it spells trouble ahead for the youngsters. Mothers, be alerted, the least successful reducers are those who have been overweight since childhood.

Send a self - addressed stamped, long envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Please address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Plan Outlined For Opening Of Downspout

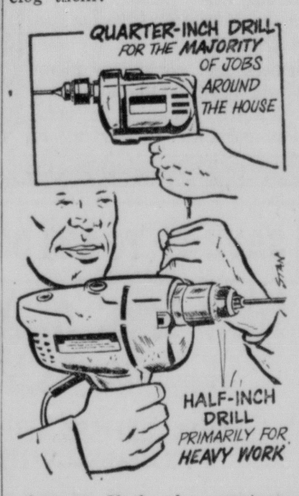
AP Newsfeatures

Question: We have been having trouble lately with the gutters around our house at the point where they are connected to the downspouts.

The water overflows at these points. Our neighbor says the downspouts probably are clogged. They end about 8 inches from the ground. Can you advise how to unclog them?



Answer: If the downspouts are clogged, it would appear that they are not protected from extraneous matter by leaf strainers or similar equipment.

Sometimes a downspout can be cleared by placing a hose into the top of it and turning on the water. This usually will flush out leaves, mud and other material that may have congealed. If this does not work and it appears that something solid is lodged in the downspout, then you will have to drop a weight, tied to a rope, into the opening at the top. This has worked very effectively with a 6-ounce fishing sinker. You might also try a plumber's "snake" or some other long, similar-type wire.

Should all of this fail, you have little alternate except to remove the downspout and then unclog it. It is not too difficult a job. Once the downspout is clear of all obstructions and water is able to flow through it freely, be sure to install leaf strainers.

If your house is close to a considerable number of trees — and this is a condition that may prove troublesome periodically — you might consider the installation of wire screening along the entire length of gutter.

Damage Suits Set In Airliner Crash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Attorneys today plan to file two $75,000 damage suits in behalf of two students at California Polytechnic College who were injured in the crash of a chartered C46 at the Toledo, Ohio, airport Oct. 29. Sixteen members of the college's football team plus six others were killed in the take-off crash of the Arctic Pacific Airlines plane.

Attorney Lou Ashe said the suits are to be filed in the County Superior Court at San Luis Obispo, where the school is located, in behalf of fullback Paul Bowser, 23, Bakersfield, Calif., and his roommate, Robert Johnson, 25, formerly of Detroit and now of San Luis Obispo.

Named as joint defendants are Arctic Pacific, Trans - Air Co., which Ashe said was responsible for maintaining and inspecting the fatal craft, and a "John Doe" firm he said leased and chartered the plane to Arctic Pacific. Ashe said Curtiss-Wright Corp. also is named in the suit and charged with negligence in manufacture.

The attorney said he will confer with three other injured players regarding suits.

Industrialist Taken

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Edward F. Coogan, 72, president of the Autocar Co. until its merger with White Motor Co. in 1953, died Saturday. He served as an official of the new company until he retired in 1955 and later became president of a manufacturing company.

JUST AS THE AUTOMOBILE has gone in for compactness, so the modern boiler for the hydronic heating system has been engineered to a small package. The attractively-styled boiler shown in this illustration is not much larger than a television set. Yet it will provide all the heat required for a three-bedroom house. The baseboard around the walls of the recreation room is one of the most efficient means of providing heat from a hydronic system, engineers say.

Steel Output Unimproved

CLEVELAND (AP) — The nation's steel production continued to sag last week, and Steel Magazine said that "unless there's an abrupt end to inventory liquidation" production in the fourth quarter may not be any larger than in the third quarter.

Production dropped half a percentage point to 51.4 per cent of rated capacity, and the total of about 1,464,000 ingot tons was the lowest output by steel mills in a nonholiday week this year.

The weekly metalworking magazine said, "Market analysts have been forecasting the end of the cycle (of inventory cutting) for months, but it continues.

"Consumers have trimmed their stocks from a peak of 18.5 million tons in April to about 11 million tons."

Despite this severe trimming, inventories are a million tons higher than they were a year ago at the end of the prolonged steel strike. "What's more, they're balanced. They can drop even lower without causing hardships for users," Steel commented.

The magazine quoted George Romney, president of American Motors Corp., as saying, "It's only natural that we are reducing inventory." Romney criticized the steel companies for "bad information" following the strike and traced overstocking at American Motors to failure of the steel companies to make firm commitments on deliveries last spring, Steel reported.

Youngstown Man Shot After Crash Between 2 Autos

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — Police went to investigate an auto accident on the North Side Sunday and learned that one car had swerved into another.

But they also found the body of George Haynes, 23 - year - old steelworker, slumped across the front seat of his car. He had been shot in the back with a single .32-caliber bullet from a gun lying beside him, authorities said.

Dr. Nathan D. Belinky, deputy coroner, said Haynes had died within three minutes after the shooting. The other motorist, Roland Rubbo, 44, told police Haynes' car swerved in front of him.

Detectives sought to determine whether Haynes had inflicted the fatal wound himself or whether he was shot by someone else.

Church Letter Causes Castro-Catholic Clash

HAVANA (AP) — Supporters of Prime Minister Fidel Castro clashed briefly Sunday night with Mass-goers in Santiago Cathedral over the reading of its archbishop's anti-Communist pastoral letter.

Shouting revolutionary slogans and chanting Castro's hymn, the crowd of about 60 persons interrupted the services. One woman was injured slightly in the scuffling. Some of those involved were taken to police headquarters but were released almost immediately.

Entitled "Rome or Moscow," the letter did not mention the Castro regime directly but exhorted Catholics to rely more on their own strength and less on U. S. military and economic support in the war against communism. It was read only in the Santiago archdiocese, which does not include Havana.

Gen. Gursel Tightens Power Grip In Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Gen. Cemal Gursel, 65, emerged today as political leader of Turkey after firing 14 members of the revolutionary government that took over after the ouster of Premier Adnan Menderes last May.

Gursel told correspondents Sunday night the shakeup strengthened the moderate wing of the revolutionary government and "put an end to discord within the country's ruling National Unity Committee."

Heading the list of those dismissed was Col. Alpaslan Turkesh an extreme nationalist who once supported the union of all Turkish speaking people including those living in the Soviet Union.

His chief rival, Maj. Gen. Cemal Madanoglu, was among officers appointed to a new 23-member National Unity Committee announced by Gursel.

Faulty Range Blamed In Death At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — A fire Sunday night on Cleveland's west side, claimed the life of John Sefich, 84.

Police said the victim's sister, Josephine Lane, and a brother saw Sefich stagger into the room, his clothes aflame. Sefich died in a hospital from third degree burns over 30 per cent of his body. A defective range was blamed for the fire.

Compressed Crushed Glass Does Thorough Sanding Job

There is hardly any kind of carpentry work or woodworking done around the average house which does not require sandpapering or sanding to make it perfect.

Most people are familiar with sandpaper of a hundred different kinds and know the difficulties frequently encountered in using it. A new medium has been developed for sanding which tests prove is most satisfactory.

It consists of compressed crushed glass, held together with a binder and sold in the shape of a small block. There is a coarse and a fine side to the block so that heavy or light sanding may be done by simply turning over the block, thus eliminating the necessity of changing when fine work is to follow rough work.

As most people are familiar with the cutting and abrasive qualities of crushed glass, little need be said about the speed and thoroughness with which an object or a surface can be sanded or scraped smooth by the thousands of small sharp points in the face of these blocks. As the glass is worn away, new points are uncovered to present a fresh cutting face.

These blocks actually can sand off a surface under water. They are so light that they are hardly felt in the hand. And, being solid, they do not fall into hollows in the surface being sanded off, but present a smooth, firm surface which helps to produce a workmanlike finish. Because of this same firmness they promote speed in working.

Paint removing and all paint work requires considerable sanding as a preparatory measure. And the manner in which these glass blocks eat off paint is astonishing. Selling for about the same price as a sponge, they make an excellent investment for the home owner who does his own work.

Jewish Group Backs Strong 'Rights' Stand

DETROIT (AP)—The Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds adopted strong civil rights and immigration resolutions Sunday and re-elected Irving Kane of Cleveland as president.

The council, closing its four-day meeting, called for a vigorous commitment to seek equal education, housing, employment and suffrage for all Americans.

Shot From Auto Hits Ironton Man

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Police are questioning four men in the wounding of an American Legionnaire on an Ironton street corner.

James Hale, 52, of Ironton was struck in the chest by a pistol bullet Sunday while he was standing on the corner with a group of 10 or 15 men who had just come from attending a Legion breakfast. All the men were Negroes.

Witnesses said the shot came from a passing car carrying four white men. One witness said he thought the sound of the shot was a fire-cracker exploding until he saw Hale fall.

Shortly after the shooting, police apprehended the four men being held.

Police said that earlier in the day a man—also a Negro—reported that someone fired a shot into his home, but no one was injured.

Ironton police said several similar incidents of shots being fired into the homes of Negroes have occurred in the city recently, but so far no one has been seriously harmed.

Seventh Graders Seek Electoral College End

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ohio (AP) —A group of students in this Coshocton County town want to see the 12th amendment to the constitution repealed in favor of election of the president by the popular vote.

Ninety students in the seventh grade Ohio history class at West Lafayette public school have sent petitions to that effect to their congressmen and other state and federal officials.

The 12th amendment provides for the president to be chosen by a vote of the electoral college.

A constitutional amendment such as the students propose must be approved by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states. If an amendment originates in Congress it must first be approved by at least a two-thirds vote of both houses.

Plan Outlined For Opening Of Downspout

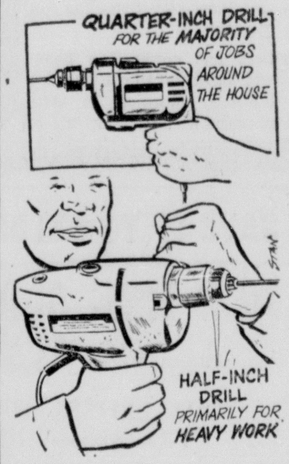
AP Newsfeatures

Question: We have been having trouble lately with the gutters around our house at the point where they are connected to the downspouts.

The water overflows at these points. Our neighbor says the downspouts probably are clogged. They end about 8 inches from the ground. Can you advise how to unclog them?



Answer: If the downspouts are clogged, it would appear that they are not protected from extraneous matter by leaf strainers or similar equipment.

Sometimes a downspout can be cleared by placing a hose into the top of it and turning on the water. This usually will flush out leaves, mud and other material that may have congealed. If this does not work and it appears that something solid is lodged in the downspout, then you will have to drop a weight, tied to a rope, into the opening at the top. This has worked very effectively with a 6-ounce fishing sinker. You might also try a plumber's "snake" or some other long, similar-type wire.

Should all of this fail, you have little alternate except to remove the downspout and then unclog it. It is not too difficult a job. Once the downspout is clear of all obstructions and water is able to flow through it freely, be sure to install leaf strainers.

If your house is close to a considerable number of trees — and this is a condition that may prove troublesome periodically — you might consider the installation of wire screening along the entire length of gutter.

Damage Suits Set In Airliner Crash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Attorneys today plan to file two $75,000 damage suits in behalf of two students at California Polytechnic College who were injured in the crash of a chartered C46 at the Toledo, Ohio, airport Oct. 29. Sixteen members of the college's football team plus six others were killed in the take-off crash of the Arctic Pacific Airlines plane.

Attorney Lou Ashe said the suits are to be filed in the County Superior Court at San Luis Obispo, where the school is located, in behalf of fullback Paul Bowser, 23, Bakersfield, Calif., and his roommate, Robert Johnson, 25, formerly of Detroit and now of San Luis Obispo.

Named as joint defendants are Arctic Pacific, Trans - Air Co., which Ashe said was responsible for maintaining and inspecting the fatal craft, and a "John Doe" firm he said leased and chartered the plane to Arctic Pacific. Ashe said Curtiss-Wright Corp. also is named in the suit and charged with negligence in manufacture.

The attorney said he will confer with three other injured players regarding suits.

Industrialist Taken

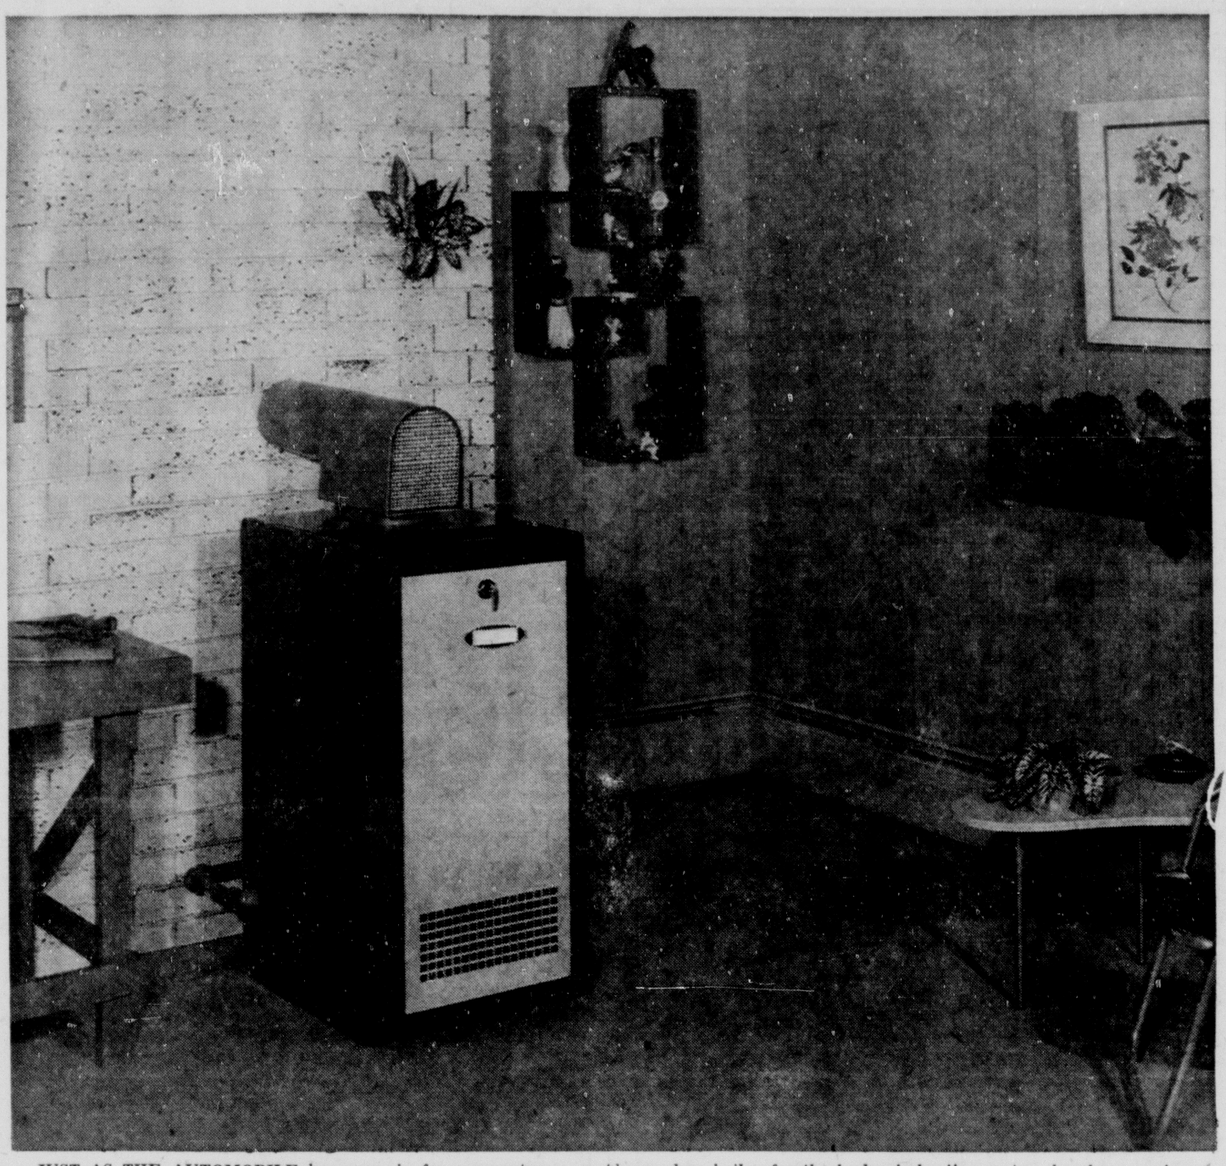
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Edward F. Coogan, 72, president of the Autocar Co. until its merger with White Motor Co. in 1953, died Saturday. He served as an official of the new company until he retired in 1955 and later became president of a manufacturing company.



JUST AS THE AUTOMOBILE has gone in for compactness, so the modern boiler for the hydronic heating system has been engineered to a small package. The attractively-styled boiler shown in this illustration is not much larger than a television set. Yet it will provide all the heat required for a three-bedroom house. The baseboard around the walls of the recreation room is one of the most efficient means of providing heat from a hydronic system, engineers say.

Compressed Crushed Glass Does Thorough Sanding Job

There is hardly any kind of carpentry work or woodworking done around the average house which does not require sandpapering or sanding to make it perfect.

Most people are familiar with sandpaper of a hundred different kinds and know the difficulties frequently encountered in using it. A new medium has been developed for sanding which tests prove is most satisfactory.

It consists of compressed crushed glass, held together with a binder and sold in the shape of a small block. There is a coarse and a fine side to the block so that heavy or light sanding may be done by simply turning over the block, thus eliminating the necessity of changing when fine work is to follow rough work.

As most people are familiar with the cutting and abrasive qualities of crushed glass, little need be said about the speed and thoroughness with which an object or a surface can be sanded or scraped smooth by the thousands of small sharp points in the face of these blocks. As the glass is worn away, new points are uncovered to present a fresh cutting face.

These blocks actually can sand off a surface under water. They are so light that they are hardly felt in the hand. And, being solid, they do not fall into hollows in the surface being sanded off, but present a smooth, firm surface which helps to produce a workmanlike finish. Because of this same firmness they promote speed in working.

Paint removing and all paint work requires considerable sanding as a preparatory measure. And the manner in which these glass blocks eat off paint is astonishing. Selling for about the same price as a sponge, they make an excellent investment for the home owner who does his own work.

Steel Output Unimproved

CLEVELAND (AP) — The nation's steel production continued to sag last week, and Steel Magazine said that "unless there's an abrupt end to inventory liquidation" production in the fourth quarter may not be any larger than in the third quarter.

Production dropped half a percentage point to 51.4 per cent of rated capacity, and the total of about 1,464,000 ingot tons was the lowest output by steel mills in a nonholiday week this year.

The weekly metalworking magazine said, "Market analysts have been forecasting the end of the cycle (of inventory cutting) for months, but it continues.

"Consumers have trimmed their stocks from a peak of 18.5 million tons in April to about 11 million tons."

Despite this severe trimming, inventories are a million tons higher than they were a year ago at the end of the prolonged steel strike. "What's more, they're balanced. They can drop even lower without causing hardships for users," Steel commented.

The magazine quoted George Romney, president of American Motors Corp., as saying, "It's only natural that we are reducing inventory." Romney criticized the steel companies for "bad information" following the strike and traced overstocking at American Motors to failure of the steel companies to make firm commitments on deliveries last spring, Steel reported.

Youngstown Man Shot After Crash Between 2 Autos

YOUNGSTOWN (AP) — Police went to investigate an auto accident on the North Side Sunday and learned that one car had swerved into another.

But they also found the body of George Haynes, 23 - year - old steelworker, slumped across the front seat of his car. He had been shot in the back with a single .32-caliber bullet from a gun lying beside him, authorities said.

Dr. Nathan D. Belinky, deputy coroner, said Haynes had died within three minutes after the shooting. The other motorist, Roland Rubbo, 44, told police Haynes' car swerved in front of him.

Detectives sought to determine whether Haynes had inflicted the fatal wound himself or whether he was shot by someone else.

Church Letter Causes Castro-Catholic Clash

HAVANA (AP) — Supporters of Prime Minister Fidel Castro clashed briefly Sunday night with Mass-goers in Santiago Cathedral over the reading of its archbishop's anti-Communist pastoral letter.

Shouting revolutionary slogans and chanting Castro's hymn, the crowd of about 60 persons interrupted the services. One woman was injured slightly in the scuffling. Some of those involved were taken to police headquarters but were released almost immediately.

Entitled "Rome or Moscow," the letter did not mention the Castro regime directly but exhorted Catholics to rely more on their own strength and less on U. S. military and economic support in the war against communism. It was read only in the Santiago archdiocese, which does not include Havana.

Gen. Gursel Tightens Power Grip In Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Gen. Cemal Gursel, 65, emerged today as political leader of Turkey after firing 14 members of the revolutionary government that took over after the ouster of Premier Adnan Menderes last May.

Gursel told correspondents Sunday night the shakeup strengthened the moderate wing of the revolutionary government and "put an end to discord within the country's ruling National Unity Committee."

Heading the list of those dismissed was Col. Alpaslan Turkesh an extreme nationalist who once supported the union of all Turkish speaking people including those living in the Soviet Union.

His chief rival, Maj. Gen. Cemal Madanoglu, was among officers appointed to a new 23-member National Unity Committee announced by Gursel.

Faulty Range Blamed In Death At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — A fire Sunday night on Cleveland's west side, claimed the life of John Sefich, 84.

Police said the victim's sister, Josephine Lane, and a brother saw Sefich stagger into the room, his clothes aflame. Sefich died in a hospital from third degree burns over 30 per cent of his body. A defective range was blamed for the fire.

Tips Offered On New Drill

AP Newsfeatures

Question: I am getting ready to buy my husband a portable electric drill for Christmas. I looked over several different brands of what are called quarter-inch drills and was on the verge of selecting one when I suddenly saw one of the half-inch drills. It looks so much more powerful and well built, but costs considerably more. Is it poor economy for me to buy the smaller size?

Answer: It certainly is not poor economy to get the quarter - inch drill. In fact, you could be making a big mistake in getting the half-inch drill, which is used primarily for heavy work, is harder to handle and probably would prove unsuitable for the majority of jobs around the house.

If you get a good quality quarter-inch drill, it will last a long time and will perform a variety of tasks. On the subject of economy, it might be wise to investigate the possibility of buying a kit which contains, in addition to the drill, several bits, a wire wheel, a grinding wheel, sanding and polishing equipment and, in some cases, a horizontal drill stand.

Of course, the kit will cost you more than the drill alone. But it will be less expensive over-all than buying the drill and then purchasing the additional equipment separately.

Cleveland Needs New Beach Sites Planners Report

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Regional Planning Commission says that unless there is swift action the Cleveland area will have a deficit of 61 acres of bathing beaches by 1970.

"The majority of the people in the Cleveland region now have no direct contact with the waters of Lake Erie," the commission said in a report released today on its lakefront study. "For all the pleasure it gives them they might as well live in Cincinnati."

The commission said that 15 more acres of Cleveland's shoreline could be developed for swimming and sunning "without too much cost." An additional 22 acres could be made available for Clevelanders in Lake and Lorain counties "after needs of the people there have been supplied," it added.

The rest of the deficit would have to be made up by what the commission termed "heroic undertakings" such as fills off Lakewood and near Bratenahl.

"We urge the Cleveland Metropolitan Park District to take the leadership in initiating an engineering study of the physical and economic feasibility of such a facility," the report said.

Only 15 per cent of Cuyahoga County's nearly 31 miles of shoreline is used for public recreation, the report noted. Fifty-five per cent of Chicago's lakefront is committed to public recreation.

Pollution, which mars the Cleveland waterfront's use for swimming, will be the subject of the planning commission's next report.

Driver Waits Hearing On 2 Chester Charges

Ronald A. Ream of East Liverpool will be given a hearing Thursday at 7 p. m. before Mayor Ray Collins of Chester on two traffic violations.

Ream was arrested Saturday night at 10:20 on Carolina Ave. by Patrolman Clarence Lennens for crashing a traffic light and for driving an unsafe vehicle. Lennens said the car did not have brakes.

Ream posted a $10.50 bond on the first charge and a $15.50 bond on the second.

Wife Held In Shooting

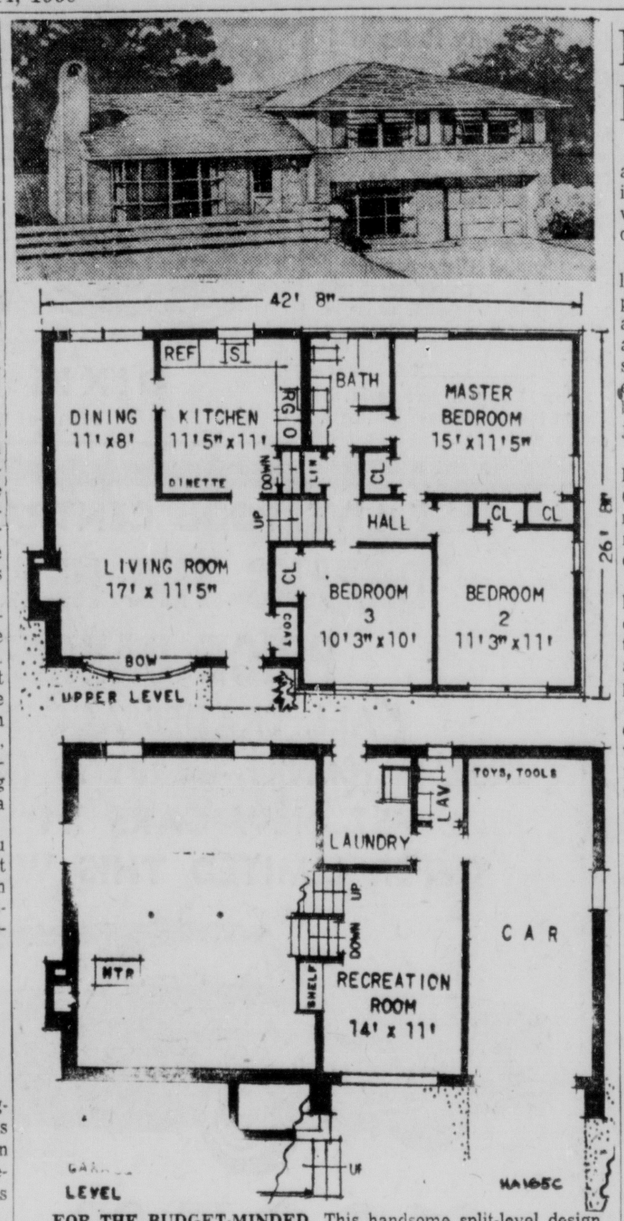
CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Edna Mae Suber, 27, was held without charge Sunday night in the fatal shooting of her husband, Henry, police reported. Suber, 33, was found shot to death on a sidewalk Saturday night. Police said Mrs. Suber was standing over him holding a revolver.



FOR THE BUDGET-MINDED. This handsome split-level design incorporates six rooms, plus a recreation room, laundry, garage, full basement, bathroom and extra lavatory, within a moderate size for the budget-minded family. Living area is 1,053 square feet. Plan HA165C was designed by architect Lester Cohen, Room 75, 117 West 48th St., New York 36, N. Y.

Color Scheme Plays Role In A Family Dining Room

NEW YORK — The era of supper-from-a-tray in front of the TV set has passed. The homemaker is demanding that the architect provide a separate dining area; tables are being set with loving care; while in substantiation of the trend, psychiatrists point out the importance of the family having regular meal-time periods of discussion and companionship.

For a room as important as the dining room, much care should be taken in choosing the decoration. If the room is small, as is often necessitated by high building costs, plain light-painted walls and ceilings are recommended to give the greatest impression of size.

One dining room, in a large housing development, asserted its individuality with a color scheme designed to bring out the beauty of the family china, inherited by the young couple. The china was a lovely rich turquoise (blue-green) hue and the homemaker had no difficulty finding a matching blue-green at the local paint store.

Her paint dealer added an equal quantity of white to the blue-green and shook the two colors together on his machine to obtain a very light tint. Some of the deep turquoise was kept intact and this was applied to the ceiling of the room.

The furniture, early American and of maple, was flattered by the turquoise hue and the homemaker introduced color excitement to the room with orange as the second color. She used orange place mats, placed real oranges in a blue-green bowl in the center of the table, and for floral decoration used marigolds, bittersweet, or other orange flowers, depending on the time of the year.

One family with several small children undertook to revive the clado, familiar to dining rooms a decade ago. The young parents wanted a light bright paint hue for their small dining room that receives no natural daylight. While a light hue seemed impractical because of the many small hands that seem unerringly to find every inch of wall space, they found a happy compromise in a room with a cheery buttercup yellow on the upper walls and ceiling and a three-feet-high dado in a deep pure blue.

The narrow built-in cabinets for storing china and other table accessories were made by dad and painted the same rich blue. While the yellow of the upper wall and ceiling is a flat paint, the blue dado, built-ins and trim are in a semi-gloss finish to facilitate washing. The lady of the house puts the emphasis on yellow linen and has curtains in striped yellow and blue.

Deep wall colors are dramatic and can create a very special atmosphere, conducive to meal-time relaxation. Where there is no need to use light tints to increase the apparent size of the room, rich tones are often favored.

A particularly appealing dining room in an old house has a background of deep emerald walls, with broadloom of the same hue. With candlelight, gleaming silver and white damask, the setting is ideal for the good conservation and delicious food that are featured in the room.

Color experts suggest that there are some colors that stimulate the appetite and some that encourage conservation, but the most important factor in your selection of color for your dining room is your own personal choice and the preferences of the family. Influencing your choice, of course, will be family possessions of value such as the china, flat linnen, type of wood furniture and period of the furnishings.

Needs Solved By Light Shed

All experienced suburbanites and country people know that it is bad practice to leave roller, wheelbarrows, lawnmowers and other equipment out of doors.

At the same time, it is frequently a lot of trouble to put it away, particularly if you are tired after a day's work around the place. The answer to this is to build a light shed, with the floor at ground level, so that anything on wheels can be rolled in with a minimum of jockeying and arranging.

The shed should be approximately 10 feet wide, 8 feet deep and 6 feet, 6 inches high. These dimensions are subject to any change necessary to accommodate the equipment to be stored.

The shed is built on what is known as a mud sill, 2 by 4's treated against rot and laid right on the leveled ground. Studs are set above this to take the sheating of plain tongued and grooved boards.

The front of the shed is six or eight inches higher than the rear wall to provide roof drainage. Roof rafters are 2 by 4's laid on the two -inch side. Roof is also of tongue and groove and covered with single layer of roofing paper.

Where a concrete floor is desired, the area between the sill is simply filled with concrete and trowled or screened off level. Some people who have built this shed add a canvas drop-curtain to close out the more severe weather.

Hunters Locate Body Of Ohio Girl Seized From Car

PAULDING, Ohio (AP) — Two hunters early today stumbled on the body of a teen-age girl who Sunday night had been forced into a car and driven off.

Nancy Eagleson, 14, of Paulding, was the victim. It was homicide, Sheriff John Keeler said. He would not disclose the nature of the girl's fatal injuries. He said it is planned to take the body to Fort Wayne, Ind., for an autopsy.

The body of the Paulding High School freshman was found at about 2:30 a.m. today. It was about 8 p.m., the sheriff said, that Nancy was dragged into the passing automobile as she and her little sister, about 4 or 5 years old, walked down a Paulding street. Nancy's body was found some eight miles northeast of town, near the hamlet of Junction on Ohio 111.

There was an early report that the victim's throat had been slashed, but Sheriff Keeler denied this. He said further information will be withheld pending autopsy and other investigation.

The little sister, according to the sheriff, ran into a nearby house and called police after seeing Nancy pulled into the car. The girls' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Eagleson.

Tire Firm Shows Decline In Sales

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Shareholders of the Seiberling Rubber Co. were told by President J. P. Seiberling today that tire market competition, which he termed "the most severe in over a decade," caused a decline in the company's sales and earnings for the first nine months of 1960.

Seiberling said losses from the firm's tire operations were "barely offset" by earnings from non-tire lines and other income. He predicted continued slow sales and unprofitable operations in the tire business in the fourth quarter.

He reported net sales for the nine months ended Sept. 30 totaled $37,589,082, down 10 per cent from the $41,728,669 for the first nine months of 1959.

Net income for the first three quarters this year totaled $143,633, equal to 2 cents a common share, compared with record-high earnings of $1,055,352, or $1.56 a share, for the corresponding period of 1959, Seiberling reported.

Hostess Will Be Helped By Refreshment Center

PORTLAND, Ore. — Who wouldn't like to have a full-time maid working free of charge during the busy holiday season?

With the inevitable round of entertaining once again facing them, many a family is wishing desperately for a faithful genie to cook, serve and clean up at party time. Some families have wished for one so hard, that they've actually managed to conjure one up.

These smart home owners haven't rubbed a magic lamp, they've built their servant into the house—in the form of a refreshment center, handily located right in the living or dining room.

Although the refreshment center may not do their every bidding, it's the next best thing to an old-fashioned genie, for it keeps all the entertaining aids in one central spot, ready to help the hostess at a moment's notice.

One good design for a refreshment center utilizes a niche in the room or a corner. It can be built in bar style with cabinets or enclosed shelving mounted on the wall and a serving counter set in front.

The backbar cabinets should be designed to house glassware, coffee cups, hors d'oeuvre plates and so forth.

Underneath the serving counter, cabinets should be tailored for bottled goods, a coffee percolator, paper napkins, ash trays and other party paraphernalia. If possible, a tiny sink should be added below the back bar cabinets. This will prove an invaluable aid to quick cleanups, saving the hostess many steps between living room and kitchen. A miniature refrigerator for ice and chilled snacks built into this area is also a big help to the hostess. And there should be electrical outlets for hot plates and the coffee pot.

When the refreshment center is located in either living or dining room, special care should be given to its design so that it blends unobtusively into the room.

Many decorators recommend paneling the adjacent walls in a handsome wood such as western red cedar, then carrying the wood into the refreshment center in paneling and cabinetry. In this way, the bar will not stand out against a contrasting wall treatment and the beauty of the cedar paneling and cabinet work will add a real plus to the room's decor.

Decorators also point out that using a wood like cedar is preferable for this type of installation because cedar, while rich in color and texture, is not so heavily grained that it will detract from the room's furnishings and color scheme.

Tips Offered On New Drill

AP Newsfeatures

Question: I am getting ready to buy my husband a portable electric drill for Christmas. I looked over several different brands of what are called quarter-inch drills and was on the verge of selecting one when I suddenly saw one of the half-inch drills. It looks so much more powerful and well built, but costs considerably more. Is it poor economy for me to buy the smaller size?

Answer: It certainly is not poor economy to get the quarter - inch drill. In fact, you could be making a big mistake in getting the half-inch drill, which is used primarily for heavy work, is harder to handle and probably would prove unsuitable for the majority of jobs around the house.

If you get a good quality quarter-inch drill, it will last a long time and will perform a variety of tasks. On the subject of economy, it might be wise to investigate the possibility of buying a kit which contains, in addition to the drill, several bits, a wire wheel, a grinding wheel, sanding and polishing equipment and, in some cases, a horizontal drill stand.

Of course, the kit will cost you more than the drill alone. But it will be less expensive over-all than buying the drill and then purchasing the additional equipment separately.

Cleveland Needs New Beach Sites Planners Report

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Regional Planning Commission says that unless there is swift action the Cleveland area will have a deficit of 61 acres of bathing beaches by 1970.

"The majority of the people in the Cleveland region now have no direct contact with the waters of Lake Erie," the commission said in a report released today on its lakefront study. "For all the pleasure it gives them they might as well live in Cincinnati."

The commission said that 15 more acres of Cleveland's shoreline could be developed for swimming and sunning "without too much cost." An additional 22 acres could be made available for Clevelanders in Lake and Lorain counties "after needs of the people there have been supplied," it added.

The rest of the deficit would have to be made up by what the commission termed "heroic undertakings" such as fills off Lakewood and near Bratenahl.

"We urge the Cleveland Metropolitan Park District to take the leadership in initiating an engineering study of the physical and economic feasibility of such a facility," the report said.

Only 15 per cent of Cuyahoga County's nearly 31 miles of shoreline is used for public recreation, the report noted. Fifty-five per cent of Chicago's lakefront is committed to public recreation.

Pollution, which mars the Cleveland waterfront's use for swimming, will be the subject of the planning commission's next report.

Driver Waits Hearing On 2 Chester Charges

Ronald A. Ream of East Liverpool will be given a hearing Thursday at 7 p. m. before Mayor Ray Collins of Chester on two traffic violations.

Ream was arrested Saturday night at 10:20 on Carolina Ave. by Patrolman Clarence Lennens for crashing a traffic light and for driving an unsafe vehicle. Lennens said the car did not have brakes.

Ream posted a $10.50 bond on the first charge and a $15.50 bond on the second.

Wife Held In Shooting

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Edna Mae Suber, 27, was held without charge Sunday night in the fatal shooting of her husband, Henry, police reported. Suber, 33, was found shot to death on a sidewalk Saturday night. Police said Mrs. Suber was standing over him holding a revolver.

FOR THE BUDGET-MINDED. This handsome split-level design incorporates six rooms, plus a recreation room, laundry, garage, full basement, bathroom and extra lavatory, within a moderate size for the budget-minded family. Living area is 1,053 square feet. Plan HA165C was designed by architect Lester Cohen, Room 75, 117 West 48th St., New York 36, N. Y.

Color Scheme Plays Role In A Family Dining Room

NEW YORK — The era of supper-from-a-tray in front of the TV set has passed. The homemaker is demanding that the architect provide a separate dining area; tables are being set with loving care; while in substantiation of the trend, psychiatrists point out the importance of the family having regular meal-time periods of discussion and companionship.

For a room as important as the dining room, much care should be taken in choosing the decoration. If the room is small, as is often necessitated by high building costs, plain light-painted walls and ceilings are recommended to give the greatest impression of size.

One dining room, in a large housing development, asserted its individuality with a color scheme designed to bring out the beauty of the family china, inherited by the young couple. The china was a lovely rich turquoise (blue-green) hue and the homemaker had no difficulty finding a matching blue-green at the local paint store.

Her paint dealer added an equal quantity of white to the blue-green and shook the two colors together on his machine to obtain a very light tint. Some of the deep turquoise was kept intact and this was applied to the ceiling of the room.

The furniture, early American and of maple, was flattered by the turquoise hue and the homemaker introduced color excitement to the room with orange as the second color. She used orange place mats, placed real oranges in a blue-green bowl in the center of the table, and for floral decoration used marigolds, bittersweet, or other orange flowers, depending on the time of the year.

One family with several small children undertook to revive the clado, familiar to dining rooms a decade ago. The young parents wanted a light bright paint hue for their small dining room that receives no natural daylight. While a light hue seemed impractical because of the many small hands that seem unerringly to find every inch of wall space, they found a happy compromise in a room with a cheery buttercup yellow on the upper walls and ceiling and a three-feet-high dado in a deep pure blue.

The narrow built-in cabinets for storing china and other table accessories were made by dad and painted the same rich blue. While the yellow of the upper wall and ceiling is a flat paint, the blue dado, built-ins and trim are in a semi-gloss finish to facilitate washing. The lady of the house puts the emphasis on yellow linen and has curtains in striped yellow and blue.

Deep wall colors are dramatic and can create a very special atmosphere, conducive to meal-time relaxation. Where there is no need to use light tints to increase the apparent size of the room, rich tones are often favored.

A particularly appealing dining room in an old house has a background of deep emerald walls, with broadloom of the same hue. With candlelight, gleaming silver and white damask, the setting is ideal for the good conservation and delicious food that are featured in the room.

Color experts suggest that there are some colors that stimulate the appetite and some that encourage conservation, but the most important factor in your selection of color for your dining room is your own personal choice and the preferences of the family. Influencing your choice, of course, will be family possessions of value such as the china, flat linnen, type of wood furniture and period of the furnishings.

Needs Solved By Light Shed

All experienced suburbanites and country people know that it is bad practice to leave roller, wheelbarrows, lawnmowers and other equipment out of doors.

At the same time, it is frequently a lot of trouble to put it away, particularly if you are tired after a day's work around the place. The answer to this is to build a light shed, with the floor at ground level, so that anything on wheels can be rolled in with a minimum of jockeying and arranging.

The shed should be approximately 10 feet wide, 8 feet deep and 6 feet, 6 inches high. These dimensions are subject to any change necessary to accommodate the equipment to be stored.

The shed is built on what is known as a mud sill, 2 by 4's treated against rot and laid right on the leveled ground. Studs are set above this to take the sheating of plain tongued and grooved boards.

The front of the shed is six or eight inches higher than the rear wall to provide roof drainage. Roof rafters are 2 by 4's laid on the two -inch side. Roof is also of tongue and groove and covered with single layer of roofing paper.

Where a concrete floor is desired, the area between the sill is simply filled with concrete and trowled or screened off level. Some people who have built this shed add a canvas drop-curtain to close out the more severe weather.

Shakeup Seen For Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, (AP) — President Ngo Dinh Diem may shake up the South Viet Nam Cabinet as a result of the abortive paratrooper revolt against his government, reliable sources said today.

Although Diem crushed the rebellion and emerged in a strong position, sources said he may make his Cabinet the scapegoat for the unrest and dissatisfaction that led to the attempted coup.

Rebel leaders charged Diem with running a "family dictatorship" that divided and weakened the military and the rest of the country in the fight against the Communists.

The bachelor president also has come under sharp criticism for restricting freedom of the press and crushing all political opposition.

The Saigon newspaper Tieng Chuong said 48 civilians were killed and 66 others wounded in the fighting Friday and Saturday before soldiers loyal to Diem rushed into the capital to rescue him from rebel paratroopers.

Dr. Jewell Re-Elected In Post With Red Cross

Dr. Ralph H. Jewell, superintendent of Midland schools, has been re-elected chairman of the Red Cross Three-State Council on Services to Camps and Hospitals.

The Pittsburgh Chapter of the American Red Cross reported his election recently at a meeting at Sharon. He first was elected to the post last February to fill out the term of Mrs. Joseph W. Damsker, who resigned.

The Three-State Council is comprised of 22 Red Cross Chapters in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. Its purpose is to co-ordinate a program of entertainment and recreation for veterans' hospitals and military units in the area.

Simone Signoret Discusses MM, Yves And 'Love'

LONDON (AP) — Oscar-winning French movie star Simone Signoret flew into London at the weekend and spoke of love, her husband, and Marilyn Monroe.

"If Marilyn is in love with my husband it proves she has good taste," she said. "For I am in love with him too."

Simone is married to French actor Yves Montand who recently starred with Miss Monroe in the movie "Let's Make Love."

After making the film Montand was quoted as saying Marilyn had "a schoolgirl crush" on him. Later he claimed he had been misquoted.

Simone ran a hand over lips devoid of lipstick and said news of the breakup of Miss Monroe's marriage to playwright Arthur Miller had distressed her.

"Marilyn Monroe is a warm, delightful person. I lived with her for three months while Yves was filming 'Let's Make Love' but this business could spoil our friendship."

Miss Signoret would neither confirm nor deny that rumors linking Miss Monroe and her husband had caused a rift between Montand and herself.

Convict Crum Awaits New Prison Sentences

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Everett Crum, 32, of Bainbridge, who already has a maximum of approximately 300 years of prison sentences against him, is scheduled to get more the week of Nov. 28.

Clinton County Common Pleas Court Judge C. Luther Swaim said Crum would be returned here from Ohio Penitentiary for sentencing on charges of attempted jail break and assault with a deadly weapon. They stem from an attempt last Aug. 11 to break out of the Clinton County jail in which Sheriff Floyd Foote was cut on the head.

Crum previously broke out of the Wilmington city jail last Feb. 18 and went on a 55-hour crime spree which included kidnapings, woundings of police officers and theft of automobiles.

He finally was captured at Cherry Fork in Adams County after holding a former mayor of Manchester hostage at gunpoint for several hours.

The famous Houdon statue of Washington — the only one in existence that was made from life — stands in the rotunda of the Virginia state capitol.

Commoner To Marry Norwegian Princess

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The Royal First Lady of Norway is taking a divorced commoner as her husband.

King Olav V announced Sunday night the engagement of Princess Astrid, 28, and Johan Martin Ferner, 33, a junior partner in an Oslo haberdashery. The marriage will take place Jan. 12.

Since the death of her mother, Princess Martha of Sweden, six years ago, the princess has been Norway's First Lady.

Ohio Board May Adopt Education Goals Statement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Board of Education, the ultimate controlling factor in Ohio's educational system, is expected to adopt today a basic policy statement on the aims of education in the Buckeye State.

The statement has been several years in the making and will be the first such statewide framework of purpose for the guidance of education on the local level.

The state board saw a need for such a statement of aims shortly after the Soviet Union launched its first Sputnik three years ago.

The board also will receive a proposal that some small county school districts be replaced with "intermediate units" which might include more than one county.

No immediate action on the proposal is in sight. A study committee which drew up the recommendations is expected to urge a thorough study of the school district situation be made before anything else is done.

Dr. E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, is expected to have some comment on the proposal at today's meeting, but he has not prepared any formal recommendations.

Scottish Pastor Asks Protest Over U.S. Base

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)— The minister of St. Giles Cathedral has called for an emergency meeting of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland over the plan to use Holy Loch as a U. S. Polaris submarine base.

"We should consider whether America should have the power to control Britain's life and death," said the Rev. Dr. H. C. Whitley at a Remembrance Day service in the cathedral Sunday.

Planning Session Due

LISBON — A public meeting on regional planning will be held tonight at 8:30 in St. George Parish Hall, sponsored by the Columbiana County Agricultural Council. Principal speakers will be Walter L. Myers Jr. of Steubenville, executive manager of the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council, and Nicholas G. Kascheck of the Ohio Department of Industrial and Economic Development at Columbus.

French Deny Release Given Fashion Figure

PARIS (AP) — The French Defense Ministry today denied a report that fashion designer Yves Mathieu Saint-Laurent has been given a medical discharge from the army.

Saint-Laurent, who replaced the late Christian Dior, was drafted last fall. He has since spent most of his time in hospital under observation for a nervous breakdown.

Some 12 million persons in the United States purchase hunting licenses each year.

Shakeup Seen For Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, (AP) — President Ngo Dinh Diem may shake up the South Viet Nam Cabinet as a result of the abortive paratrooper revolt against his government, reliable sources said today.

Although Diem crushed the rebellion and emerged in a strong position, sources said he may make his Cabinet the scapegoat for the unrest and dissatisfaction that led to the attempted coup.

Rebel leaders charged Diem with running a "family dictatorship" that divided and weakened the military and the rest of the country in the fight against the Communists.

The bachelor president also has come under sharp criticism for restricting freedom of the press and crushing all political opposition.

The Saigon newspaper Tieng Chuong said 48 civilians were killed and 66 others wounded in the fighting Friday and Saturday before soldiers loyal to Diem rushed into the capital to rescue him from rebel paratroopers.

Dr. Jewell Re-Elected In Post With Red Cross

Dr. Ralph H. Jewell, superintendent of Midland schools, has been re-elected chairman of the Red Cross Three-State Council on Services to Camps and Hospitals.

The Pittsburgh Chapter of the American Red Cross reported his election recently at a meeting at Sharon. He first was elected to the post last February to fill out the term of Mrs. Joseph W. Damsker, who resigned.

The Three-State Council is comprised of 22 Red Cross Chapters in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. Its purpose is to co-ordinate a program of entertainment and recreation for veterans' hospitals and military units in the area.

Simone Signoret Discusses MM, Yves And 'Love'

LONDON (AP) — Oscar-winning French movie star Simone Signoret flew into London at the weekend and spoke of love, her husband, and Marilyn Monroe.

"If Marilyn is in love with my husband it proves she has good taste," she said. "For I am in love with him too."

Simone is married to French actor Yves Montand who recently starred with Miss Monroe in the movie "Let's Make Love."

After making the film Montand was quoted as saying Marilyn had "a schoolgirl crush" on him. Later he claimed he had been misquoted.

Simone ran a hand over lips devoid of lipstick and said news of the breakup of Miss Monroe's marriage to playwright Arthur Miller had distressed her.

"Marilyn Monroe is a warm, delightful person. I lived with her for three months while Yves was filming 'Let's Make Love' but this business could spoil our friendship."

Miss Signoret would neither confirm nor deny that rumors linking Miss Monroe and her husband had caused a rift between Montand and herself.

Convict Crum Awaits New Prison Sentences

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Everett Crum, 32, of Bainbridge, who already has a maximum of approximately 300 years of prison sentences against him, is scheduled to get more the week of Nov. 28.

Clinton County Common Pleas Court Judge C. Luther Swaim said Crum would be returned here from Ohio Penitentiary for sentencing on charges of attempted jail break and assault with a deadly weapon. They stem from an attempt last Aug. 11 to break out of the Clinton County jail in which Sheriff Floyd Foote was cut on the head.

Crum previously broke out of the Wilmington city jail last Feb. 18 and went on a 55-hour crime spree which included kidnapings, woundings of police officers and theft of automobiles.

He finally was captured at Cherry Fork in Adams County after holding a former mayor of Manchester hostage at gunpoint for several hours.

Commoner To Marry Norwegian Princess

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The Royal First Lady of Norway is taking a divorced commoner as her husband.

King Olav V announced Sunday night the engagement of Princess Astrid, 28, and Johan Martin Ferner, 33, a junior partner in an Oslo haberdashery. The marriage will take place Jan. 12.

Since the death of her mother, Princess Martha of Sweden, six years ago, the princess has been Norway's First Lady.

Scout Training Course In Chester Attracts 15

Some 15 attended a Cherokee District basic scout training course for adult leaders and others Sunday at the Chester Lions Club.

Instructors were Tom Snow, district chairman, Donald Thiss, training chairman, and Donald Ramsey, a scoutmaster. The Lawrenceville committee and leaders of new Troop 49 were hosts.

Those completing the course will be qualified as leaders of Boy Scout units.

1961 Presbyterian Camp Dates Set

Dates for the 1961 season were set at a meeting of the Beaver Creek United Presbyterian Camp Committee Saturday afternoon at the camp at Grimms Bridge. Eleven members attended.

The sessions will begin with Senior High Camp the week of June 12 and continue through Aug. 27, with Junior High and Junior weeks alternating.

The meeting was conducted by Robert Hummer of Girard, acting chairman. Five new members were appointed to the board from the Mahoning Presbytery.

They include Russell Barrow and Raymond Brubaker, both of Columbiana; Edward Enterline and Dr. Karl E. Soller, both of Youngstown, and Dr. Calvin Martin of Mineral Ridge.

RECRUITMENT of counselors was discussed and it was announced that directors for the 11 weeks of camp have been secured with the exception of two. The Rev. Ralph Johnson of Salem was appointed chairman of recruitment of counselors for 1961. Rev. Johnson was registrar of the camp for seven years.

A report was distributed by Mrs. Donald Baxter of East Liverpool, registrar-secretary, listing attendance at camp in 1960 by churches of the Steubenville and Mahoning Presbyteries.

FINAL COPY of the proposed budget for 1961 was distributed and copies of the attendance list and of the budget will be distributed to all ministers at the Steubenville Presbytery meeting being held today at Steubenville. The copies were distributed to the Mahoning Presbytery Nov. 8. Both groups must approve the budget before it is adopted.

Stanley Rose of East Liverpool, co-chairman of the development committee, gave a report on the progress of the new building at the camp which will include a kitchen and cook's quarters. The building is winterized so that retreats and conferences can be held. Discussion of equipment and facilities in the new building also was held.

REV. BOYD BURD of Millport gave the administration committee report. A discussion was held regarding applications for weekend use of the camp. The applications will be distributed to the churches in both Presbyteries. Mrs. Baxter and George Reynolds, caretaker, will handle the scheduling of weekend use. Postcards and other publicity materials also were discussed.

A program committee meeting was set for Dec. 3 at 1:30 p. m. at the Salem First Church for further camp planning. The Rev. Gene Phlegar of Bergholz, a new member from the Steubenville Presbytery, was appointed to work on the training sub-committee.

Tentative plans were discussed for a Synod "~~family camp~~" to be held at the Beaver Creek this summer.

Hummer opened the meeting with prayer in the absence of the Rev. Richard Fruit of Lake Milton, who was unable to attend.

—:—

OTHER MEMBERS present included the Rev. George Jenkins of Carrollton, general presbyter of the Steubenville Presbytery; the Rev. John McDowell of Cleveland, field director of Christian education; Marion Horger of East Liverpool, treasurer; Miss Elizabeth Larick of Poland, Christian education director; the Rev. James Sanko of the Wellsville Riverside Presbyterian Church and the Rev. Ramson Rice of Amsterdam, both new members from the Steubenville Presbytery, and Reynolds.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Rose.

Election of officers will feature the meeting of Jan. 14 at 1:30 p. m. at the East Liverpool Trinity United Presbyterian Church. The meeting will include appointments of new committee chairmen and a camp planning discussion.

DAIRY WINNER. Roger Martig of Beloit R. D. 1 will receive a trip to the National Milk Producers Federation's convention at New Orleans after Thanksgiving as recipient of the Dairymen's Co-operative Sales Association's major "Outstanding Young Farmer' award for 1960. He received the district association's "E," according to Mrs. Vern C. Wehr, representative of the auxiliary, which sponsored the event. William C. Mercer of Salem R. D. 4 was alternate and other participants were Dave Witmer of Columbiana Rd. 1 and Kenneth Dustman of Salem R. D. 5.

Fire Levels Sawmill

MCARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — Fire caused damage estimated at $12,000 to $15,000 in a sawmill on Ohio 75 three miles south of here Sunday. The blaze burned through the sawmill itself, a frame building housing machinery, and a conveyor belt. Officials said the cause was defective electrical wiring. The sawmill is owned by W. W. Jeffers of McArthur.

Doctors Worried As New Pain Hits Elizabeth Taylor

LONDON (AP) — A spokesman for Elizabeth Taylor's studio said today "a terrible headache causing almost unbelievable pain" had sent the beautiful actress back to a hospital.

"It hit her a little before 9 o'clock last night," said the movieman, "and the heachache was so awful that it alarmed everyone—including her doctors."

Weeping and clutching her head, Miss Taylor was carried from her hotel on a stretcher and rushed to the hospital in an ambulance.

The spokesman said her personal physician, Dr. Carol Goldman and one of Queen Elizabeth II's doctors, Lord Evans, were "worried and puzzled."

Neither would immediately answer reporters' questions.

Both were extremely cautious—for good reasons.

For weeks the actress had been reported suffering from a mystery virus that brought on high temperatures in the afternoon.

Unable to diagnose the cause of the fever at her penthouse apartment in a London hotel, the doctors ordered her into the London Clinic on Oct. 30.

They made several tests on her and she was allowed to leave the clinic three days after being admitted.

The fever still persisted, however.

Last week she complained of a severe tooth ache. X-rays were taken and an abscessed tooth discovered.

A dentist pulled it and her fever went down.

Jubilantly, Miss Taylor's fourth husband Eddie Fisher told reporters that at last the cause of her lengthy illness seemed to be solved.

Miss Taylor's studio, 20th Century-Fox, shared Fisher's joy.

The studio is far behind schedule on the epic "Cleopatra" in which the actress plays the vamp of the Nile for a million dollars and a percentage of profits.

Residents Of Beaver To Provide Yule Cheer

Some 165 patients at Dixmont State Hospital will have a happy Christmas through Beaver County residents.

Sponsored by the Beaver County Mental Health Society, residents are "adopting" a patient for Christmas. A patient who has no family will receive a package or two.

Last year, Santa appeared in all wards Christmas morning to distribute gifts from real families and friends as well as "adopted" ones.

This year, the Mental Health Society hopes to have all presents ready for the hospital by Dec. 1. Anyone desiring to take part in this activity may call the Mental Health office at SP. 5-4165. There is a code number of 412 if the number is dialed from the East Liverpool area.

Retail Leader Claimed

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Irving R. Shampain, vice president and assistant merchandise manager of the Neiman-Marcus Co., died Saturday after a long illness. Shampain, before joining Neiman-Marcus in 1954, had served with retail clothing stores in New York, Brooklyn, Chicago, Cincinnati and Grand Rapids, Mich. He was born in New York City.

Jubilantly, Miss Taylor's fourth husband Eddie Fisher told reporters that at last the cause of her lengthy illness seemed to be solved.

Miss Taylor's studio, 20th Century-Fox, shared Fisher's joy.

Residents Of Beaver To Provide Yule Cheer

Some 165 patients at Dixmont State Hospital will have a happy Christmas through Beaver County residents.

Sponsored by the Beaver County Mental Health Society, residents are "adopting" a patient for Christmas. A patient who has no family will receive a package or two.

Last year, Santa appeared in all wards Christmas morning to distribute gifts from real families and friends as well as "adopted" ones.

This year, the Mental Health Society hopes to have all presents ready for the hospital by Dec. 1. Anyone desiring to take part in this activity may call the Mental Health office at SP. 5-4165. There is a code number of 412 if the number is dialed from the East Liverpool area.

Canton Central Stops Cunningham; Shuts Out Potters, 22-0

Crusaders Turn 2 Pass Interceptions Into Touchdowns

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

East Liverpool's High's Potters began regrouping their forces today for this week's invasion of one of Ohio's top-ranked football teams after losing 22-0 Saturday night to a big, Canton Central eleven.

Well informed on the passing artistry of Potter quarterback Ken Cunningham, Canton Central concentrated its efforts on stopping the slender senior's pitches and turned two interceptions into touchdowns. The Crusaders added another on a 45-yard march to score a Homecoming victory before a chilled crowd of 5,000 in Canton.

It was Canton's eighth win in nine starts.

Coach Lou Venditti's undermanned Potters (6-4) now prepare for an encounter with Alliance Friday night at Patterson Field in hopes of ending a surprisingly good campaign with an upset victory.

BLANKED for only the second time this season, the Potters weren't confronted with any good opportunities to score as the mammoth Canton Central line, anchored by 220-pound center Norm Nicola, repelled each thrust safely outside the Canton 30-yard line. Costly penalties charged against the Potters for holding were important factors in their inability to penetrate deep into Canton territory, however.

Cunningham's pinpoint passing must have been a well discussed topic in Canton last week as his receivers were well covered on each attempt. He was forced to run from his protective pocket on each try and succeeded in completing only one pass—a 5-yarder to end Tim Archer—in 11 tries.

With Cunningham's passing game forced to stay on the ground much of the time and the lightweight backfield trio of Joe Thompson (160) Allen Douglas (150) and John Goodballet, 150-pound fullback, were held to short gainers.

CANTON CENTRAL got its first touchdown after Cunningham's toss just missed the outstretched hands of end Mike Geon with 1:27 left in the opening quarter. Canton defensive back Bill Leahy hauled in the pigskin on the run and sprinted 45 yards with the interception to put the Stark Countians ahead, 6-0. A run failed for the conversion.

Another score by Canton came in the third quarter with 4:42 left. Quarterback Rick Chapis climaxed a 45-yard drive by sneaking over from the 1-yard line. The Crusaders covered the distance in seven plays, with the important one being Chapis' end sweep from the Potter 16 to the 5. On the conversion attempt, halfback Paul Penny crashed over from his slotback left to put Canton ahead, 14-0.

On an attempted short screen pass with 1:57 left in the third quarter, guard Dick Kessler intercepted and raced 34 yards for the score. Chapis passed to halfback Jack Waltz for the two-point conversion.

The hard-fought battle found the Potters punting often to keep out of additional trouble and Cunningham handled the kicking duties excellent. One boot rolled 55 yards.

NEEDING ONLY 20 yards at the outset of the game to smash a school passing record held by Bernie Allen, Cunningham shaved the necessary yardage to 15 with the short completion to Archer. An 18-yard completion to Thompson in the second quarter would have set a new standard but a holding penalty nullified the play.

The Potters threatened seriously only one time, when Thompson scampered down the sidelines from the East Liverpool 31 to the Canton 35. A rushing play followed and lost a yard to the Canton 36, then the opportunity died as a holding penalty moved the ball back to midfield.

Canton's running attack was perhaps a shade better than East Liverpool's and the blocking of ends Jim Proebstle and Carl Sanislo, plus the big interior line, aided halfback Jack Waltz to gain most of the yardage.

Though weighing only 150 pounds, Potter defensive tackle Bud Myers turned in a terrific performance, along with Jim Ferello and Joe Smith. Cunningham, playing the entire game, also made several jolting tackles from his halfback position on defense.

—:—

IF ANY Alliance scouts were in the stands, their pencils were probably idle most of the night. The Potters usually tried three plays, then punted, as Canton's line snuffed out each attempt at a sustained drive. East Liverpool got only four first downs for the evening—one in the first half—and Cunningham's two throws were picked off by Canton defenders.

The Potters received the opening kickoff and immediately found themselves on defense after fumbling on their own 48. Both squads punted frequently thereafter.

Chances appeared bright for the Potters even in the first quarter with Myers breaking through to smear Chapis for a big loss at the Potter 31 on fourth down to halt a Canton drive. But Cunningham's pass on the next play by the Potters was intercepted by Leahy who traveled 45 yards for a touchdown.

The Crusaders kept the Potter receivers covered like a blanket and intercepted Cunningham's second pass at the Potter 30 only minutesafter the ensuing kickoff. Nicola made the interception of the pass that appeared to have been thrown wild. The Crusaders drove to the Potter 25 but the drive died there and neither team threatened again in the second quarter.

The Potters tried desperately to get back into the game in the third quarter and appeared on their way after the second half kickoff. Douglas stepped off a six-yard gain to the Potter 44, and Cunningham on a rollout got to the 48. He sneaked to the 49 for a first down.

The next play found a holding penalty charged against East Liverpool and they started all over from their own 35. Kessler intercepted Cunningham's next pass and weaved 34 yards for a Canton touchdown that signaled the end to East Liverpool's chances for a triumph.

Canton Central, with an enrollment of 800 boys, closes out a fine season this week at Cardinal Mooney in Youngstown. The Crusaders showed eight lettermen on the starting unit, the same number as on the Potter squad. Size was the difference, however, along with some apparent comprehensive reports by the scouts.

Canadiens Hit Stride In NHL

By The Associated Press

The Montreal Canadiens, who started the season's business as though they were going to give the rest of the National Hockey League clubs a chance at the title, were just kidding.

The world champions have hit their stride and today boasted an unbeaten streak — four victories and a tie — of five games and a three-point margin at the top of the standings.

The Canadiens whipped the New York Rangers, 2-1, Sunday night, their fifth victory in five meetings with the cellar-dwellers. The Chicago Black Hawks, unbeatable on their home ice, pushed into second place by clobbering the Detroit Red Wings, 7-1, while in the other game, the Toronto Maple Leafs turned back the Boston Bruins, 4-2.

Chicago now has 20 points, one more than the Red Wings and the Maple Leafs, who are tied for third.

Gilles Tremblay, a rookie just up from Hull-Ottawa and Dickie Moore scored Montreal's goals in the Canadiens' triumph over the Rangers. Camilie Henry got one for New York in the final period. Ranger goalie Gump Worsley made 37 saves, 20 of them in the first period.

Murray Balfour hit for two goals in the Black Hawks' victory over the Red Wings. Chicago now has won six at home and tied two. Goalie Glenn Hall was well along toward his third shutout of the season when Howie Glover dribbed a shot past him at 7:10 of the last period.

Ed Shack, George Armstrong and Red Kelly all scored for the Leafs in the first period against Boston. That was all they needed, but Frank Mahavolich sent the puck into an open net 16 seconds before the end. Vic Stasiuk and Dallas Smith scored for the Bruins in the second period.

FIGHT RESULTS

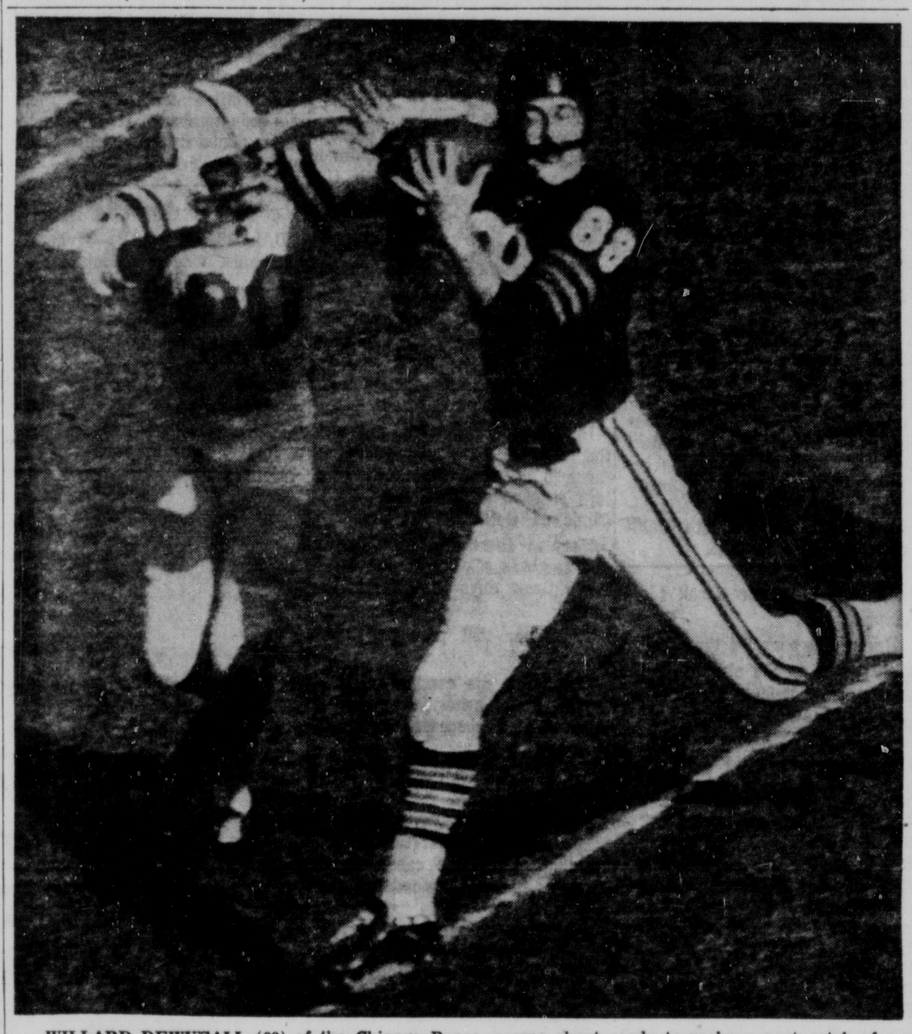
New York — Florentino Fernandez, 154, Cuba stopped Phil Moyer, 153¼, Portland, Ore., 5.

Sesto San Giovanni, Italy — Federico Scarponi, 121, Italy outpointed Raymundo De Jesus, 122, Brazil, 8.



WILLARD DEWVEALL (88) of the Chicago Bears, seems about ready to make a neat catch of a pass from quarterback Ed Brown in the first quarter of the game with Baltimore Sunday in Chicago, but defender Milt Davis got there in time to slap the ball out of his hands for an incomplete pass. Colts won in the last minute, 24-20. (UPI Telephoto).

Browns Stave Off Second Half Rally By Cardinals

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP)—"We were glad, at the finish, to have the ball so we could fall on it a couple of times, run out the clock and call it a day."

That was Coach Paul Browns's reaction to Sunday's thrilling 28-27 win over the St. Louis Cardinals which kept Cleveland in contention in the National football League's Eastern Conference.

Never behind, but never out of danger, the Browns were hanging on by their fingertips as the Cardinals stormed back with a second-half splurge after being two touchdowns behind.

The Clevelanders held the invaders to 42 yards rushing and 60 passing in the first half, but the Cardinals roared to 283 yards in the last two quarters to twice pull within a single point of the Browns.

Cleveland fullback Jim Brown and quarterback Milt Plum had one of their best days—and they needed every bit of it.

Brown set this season's one-game rushing record with 173 yards in 23 tries, and took back the league lead with a seven-game total of 694 yards in 123 attempts. He also scored a pair of touchdowns.

Plum, keeping his "no interceptions" record intact, completed 11 of 15 passes for 194 yards and two touchdowns. His season mark is 79 completions in 114 tries for 1269 yards and 10 Tds. For each pass thrown he's averaged an 11-yard gain—the league's best. His .693 completion average also is tops in the circuit.

The Browns marched 71 yards for their first score, Brown going over from the 1. The next one covered 66 yards, all on a Plum to Ray Renfro pass.

Then the Cards struck. Quarterback John Roach tossed a lateral flare pass to John David Crow, who threw a 52-yarder to Joe Childress in scoring territory. Back came the Browns with an 88-yard drive climaxed by Plum's five-yard heave to end Leon Clarke. With 30 seconds to go Bernie Parrish intercepted a pass and ran it back 54 yards to the Cardinal 9. A Plum - to - Gern Nagler pass reached the 2, and Brown blasted into the end zone on the next play —but the officials ruled time had expired before the play started.

The crowd of 49,192 wasn't disturbed by the lost score, as the Browns led 21-7 at halftime. However, the second half was different.

The Cards, with all kinds of passing and running pyrotechnics from their double wing offense, moved in for a 40-yard field goal by Gerry Perry. They came right back with a 64-yard touchdown drive, Frank Mestnick scoring from the 5. And back they came again for a 28-yard field goal by Perry.

That made it 21-20, with the Browns still leading, and the Clevelanders promptly zoomed 66 yards in seven plays for Brown's second score. Plum hit Nagler on a 42-yarder to set it up. With 51 seconds to go, Roach speared Sonny Randle with a Cardinal touchdown pass of 43 yards, and it was 28-27.

The Cards tried a short kickoff for one last desperate try, but Parrish got the ball for the Browns—and Plum ran out the clock with two "fall down" plays.

Last year Cleveland lost by a single point, on successive Sundays, to Pittsburgh and San Francisco.

"I guess it was our turn to win one that way," Brown said.

The Cleveland coach said the Cardinal offense will be widely copied by other teams because "you can do so many things with it." He said it was difficult to defense, because opponents so seldom see it.

The victory kept the Browns in the title race with a 5-2 record, but the Cards, skidding to 4-4, are practically out of it. Cleveland has won 19 of 21 contests with the Cards.

Ohio U. Snaps Falcons' Win Streak, Cops Title

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Except for this week's 13-game epilogue, Ohio's 1960 collegiate gridiron campaign is a matter of history.

But some exciting deeds are still in store as 19 of the state's teams see action.

Ohio State, battered out of the Big Ten race by Saturday's 35-12 loss to underdog Iowa, entertains its most honored foe—Michigan—here Saturday. A throng of 82,000 will be on hand as the Buckeyes take their final curtain call after a season which turned out better than most expected.

Ohio University, champion of the Mid - American Conference and king of the country's smaller colleges after Saturday's 14-7 win which wrecked defending champion Bowling Green's 18-game winning streak, winds up by entertaining Southern Illinois. Bowling Green tries to forget its lost glory in a plane trip to El Paso for a tilt with Texas Western.

Muskingum, all alone at the top of the 14-team Ohio Conference with a 6-0 record after blasting Wooster 35-6, must get by Mount Union to claim it all. Wesleyan, deadlocked at 5-1 with Wittenberg and Otterbein, can ease into second by trimming Denison since the other competitors are idle.

Western Reserve, 30-0 victor over Case Tech, snatched the Presidents' Athletic Conferenoe crown with 6-0, and has put away its togs along with 15 other college teams.

Last week the Buckeye clubs won six, lost six and tied one against out - of - state opposition. That gives the Ohioans an interstate record of 59-37-3 for the season, with seven such games coming up this weekend.

Ohio University with nine straight, and Muskingum with eight, are the only undefeated and untied teams in the state. Wilmington with eight straight losses, is the only college without a victory or a tie.

Purdue's Upset Win Over Minnesota Triggered By Passing, Kicking Of EL's Bernie Allen

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Big Ten completed another non-survival football cycle Saturday when last-place Purdue toppled Minnesota from the ranks of the undefeated and cost the Gophers a chance at an undisputed championship.

While the Boilermakers, four-time losers in conference play, were applying a crushing blow to Minnesota, 23-14, Iowa assured itself of a share of the championship with a ringing 35-12 victory over powerful Ohio State.

Minnesota still can gain a share of the title by closing the season with a triumph at Wisconsin Saturday.

Illinois, Michigan and Michigan State came up with victories. Illinois smashed Wisconsin, 35-14; Michigan defeated Indiana, 29-7, and Michigan State rallied for a 21-18 triumph over Northwestern.

Bernie Allen and Tom Yakubowski, two Eastern Ohio products, were instrumental in bringing about Minnesota's first defeat. Allen, from East Liverpool, set up a pair of first half touchdowns with his passing arm and then booted a 35-yard field goal in the third quarter to put the Boilermakers beyond reach. Yakubowski, a sophomore from Adena, kept the Boilermakers rolling on the ground with his fullback blasts.

Iowa rebounded from its loss to Minnesota in superior fashion. Joe Williams raced 49 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter and Larry Ferguson closed the scoring with a 91-yard dash. The Hawkeyes gave Ohio State one of the worst beatings the Bucks have suffered in a long time.

Although the Big Ten cannot boast of an undefeated team, conference members have engaged in 20 games against non-league opponents with a record of 17 triumphs, one loss and two ties.

That the league has tremendous balance was shown by Purdue's triumph over Minnesota. The Boilermakers went into the game in last place. Minnesota was ranked No. 1 nationally, and the game was played in Gopherland. Nevertheless, Minnesota ranked no better than a seven-point favorite.

The season ends Saturday with Illinois at Northwestern, Indiana at Purdue, Iowa at Notre Dame, Michigan at Ohio State, and Detroit at Michigan State, in addition to the Minnesota-Wisconsin battle.

Browns Stave Off Second Half Rally By Cardinals

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP)—"We were glad, at the finish, to have the ball so we could fall on it a couple of times, run out the clock and call it a day."

That was Coach Paul Browns's reaction to Sunday's thrilling 28-27 win over the St. Louis Cardinals which kept Cleveland in contention in the National football League's Eastern Conference.

Never behind, but never out of danger, the Browns were hanging on by their fingertips as the Cardinals stormed back with a second-half splurge after being two touchdowns behind.

The Clevelanders held the invaders to 42 yards rushing and 60 passing in the first half, but the Cardinals roared to 283 yards in the last two quarters to twice pull within a single point of the Browns.

Cleveland fullback Jim Brown and quarterback Milt Plum had one of their best days—and they needed every bit of it.

Brown set this season's one-game rushing record with 173 yards in 23 tries, and took back the league lead with a seven-game total of 694 yards in 123 attempts. He also scored a pair of touchdowns.

Plum, keeping his "no interceptions" record intact, completed 11 of 15 passes for 194 yards and two touchdowns. His season mark is 79 completions in 114 tries for 1269 yards and 10 Tds. For each pass thrown he's averaged an 11-yard gain—the league's best. His .693 completion average also is tops in the circuit.

The Browns marched 71 yards for their first score, Brown going over from the 1. The next one covered 66 yards, all on a Plum to Ray Renfro pass.

Then the Cards struck. Quarterback John Roach tossed a lateral flare pass to John David Crow, who threw a 52-yarder to Joe Childress in scoring territory. Back came the Browns with an 88-yard drive climaxed by Plum's five-yard heave to end Leon Clarke. With 30 seconds to go Bernie Parrish intercepted a pass and ran it back 54 yards to the Cardinal 9. A Plum - to - Gern Nagler pass reached the 2, and Brown blasted into the end zone on the next play —but the officials ruled time had expired before the play started.

The crowd of 49,192 wasn't disturbed by the lost score, as the Browns led 21-7 at halftime. However, the second half was different.

The Cards, with all kinds of passing and running pyrotechnics from their double wing offense, moved in for a 40-yard field goal by Gerry Perry. They came right back with a 64-yard touchdown drive, Frank Mestnick scoring from the 5. And back they came again for a 28-yard field goal by Perry.

That made it 21-20, with the Browns still leading, and the Clevelanders promptly zoomed 66 yards in seven plays for Brown's second score. Plum hit Nagler on a 42-yarder to set it up. With 51 seconds to go, Roach speared Sonny Randle with a Cardinal touchdown pass of 43 yards, and it was 28-27.

The Cards tried a short kickoff for one last desperate try, but Parrish got the ball for the Browns—and Plum ran out the clock with two "fall down" plays.

Last year Cleveland lost by a single point, on successive Sundays, to Pittsburgh and San Francisco.

"I guess it was our turn to win one that way," Brown said.

The Cleveland coach said the Cardinal offense will be widely copied by other teams because "you can do so many things with it." He said it was difficult to defense, because opponents so seldom see it.

The victory kept the Browns in the title race with a 5-2 record, but the Cards, skidding to 4-4, are practically out of it. Cleveland has won 19 of 21 contests with the Cards.

Ohio U. Snaps Falcons' Win Streak, Cops Title

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Except for this week's 13-game epilogue, Ohio's 1960 collegiate gridiron campaign is a matter of history.

But some exciting deeds are still in store as 19 of the state's teams see action.

Ohio State, battered out of the Big Ten race by Saturday's 35-12 loss to underdog Iowa, entertains its most honored foe—Michigan—here Saturday. A throng of 82,000 will be on hand as the Buckeyes take their final curtain call after a season which turned out better than most expected.

Ohio University, champion of the Mid - American Conference and king of the country's smaller colleges after Saturday's 14-7 win which wrecked defending champion Bowling Green's 18-game winning streak, winds up by entertaining Southern Illinois. Bowling Green tries to forget its lost glory in a plane trip to El Paso for a tilt with Texas Western.

Muskingum, all alone at the top of the 14-team Ohio Conference with a 6-0 record after blasting Wooster 35-6, must get by Mount Union to claim it all. Wesleyan, deadlocked at 5-1 with Wittenberg and Otterbein, can ease into second by trimming Denison since the other competitors are idle.

Western Reserve, 30-0 victor over Case Tech, snatched the Presidents' Athletic Conferenoe crown with 6-0, and has put away its togs along with 15 other college teams.

Last week the Buckeye clubs won six, lost six and tied one against out - of - state opposition. That gives the Ohioans an interstate record of 59-37-3 for the season, with seven such games coming up this weekend.

Ohio University with nine straight, and Muskingum with eight, are the only undefeated and untied teams in the state. Wilmington with eight straight losses, is the only college without a victory or a tie.

It is estimated that there are more than 19,000 teen-agers in the U. S. today, representing a $10 billion consumer market.

Purdue's Upset Win Over Minnesota Triggered By Passing, Kicking Of EL's Bernie Allen

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Big Ten completed another non-survival football cycle Saturday when last-place Purdue toppled Minnesota from the ranks of the undefeated and cost the Gophers a chance at an undisputed championship.

While the Boilermakers, four-time losers in conference play, were applying a crushing blow to Minnesota, 23-14, Iowa assured itself of a share of the championship with a ringing 35-12 victory over powerful Ohio State.

Minnesota still can gain a share of the title by closing the season with a triumph at Wisconsin Saturday.

Illinois, Michigan and Michigan State came up with victories. Illinois smashed Wisconsin, 35-14; Michigan defeated Indiana, 29-7, and Michigan State rallied for a 21-18 triumph over Northwestern.

Bernie Allen and Tom Yakubowski, two Eastern Ohio products, were instrumental in bringing about Minnesota's first defeat. Allen, from East Liverpool, set up a pair of first half touchdowns with his passing arm and then booted a 35-yard field goal in the third quarter to put the Boilermakers beyond reach. Yakubowski, a sophomore from Adena, kept the Boilermakers rolling on the ground with his fullback blasts.

Iowa rebounded from its loss to Minnesota in superior fashion. Joe Williams raced 49 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter and Larry Ferguson closed the scoring with a 91-yard dash. The Hawkeyes gave Ohio State one of the worst beatings the Bucks have suffered in a long time.

Although the Big Ten cannot boast of an undefeated team, conference members have engaged in 20 games against non-league opponents with a record of 17 triumphs, one loss and two ties.

That the league has tremendous balance was shown by Purdue's triumph over Minnesota. The Boilermakers went into the game in last place. Minnesota was ranked No. 1 nationally, and the game was played in Gopherland. Nevertheless, Minnesota ranked no better than a seven-point favorite.

The season ends Saturday with Illinois at Northwestern, Indiana at Purdue, Iowa at Notre Dame, Michigan at Ohio State, and Detroit at Michigan State, in addition to the Minnesota-Wisconsin battle.

Motor vehicle fatalities in the first half of 1960 resulted in 23,000 life insurance death claims for a total of 62 million dollars, according to the Institute of Life Insurance.

Unitas Flips Clutch Pass To Defeat Bears

Colts Gain 24-20 Edge; Steelers Beaten, 27-24

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The amazing saga being indelibly etched into National Football League annals by Baltimore quarterback Johnny Unitas today had another stirring chapter.

Blood streaming down his face from gouges on the nose, lips and eyebrows, jaunty Johnny whipped a 39-yard touchdown strike to Lenny Moore with 42 seconds left Sunday as the Colts edged the Chicago Bears 24-20 and retained their hold on first place in the Western Division.

Unitas, a poised 27-year-old veteran of five pro campaigns, had one of his finest moments in the key clash that kept the two-time NFL champions a half-game in front of Green Bay.

Constantly hounded by a rough and rugged Chicago defense, Unitas marched the Colts goalward with the Bears leading 20-17 and time running out. With 1:29 remaining, the drive had reached the 35, but Unitas was smashed to the ground while attempting to pass.

He rose with blood dripping from multiple cuts. After he was again spilled, Unitas went to the sidelines on a time out to have the crimson smears wiped from his face. Back he came with the clock showing 42 seconds to go and Baltimore faced with a fourth and 14 situation.

Unitas took the snap, faded, pumped twice and then threw an aerial that Moore caught in the far corner of the end zone after eluding defender J. C. Caroline.

While the Colts had to battle for a last-minute triumph, the Packers kept pace with an easy 41-7 pasting of winless Dallas. Philadelphia kept its edge over New York in the Eastern Division race by beating Washington 19-13 while the Giants nipped Pittsburgh 27-24.

Cleveland stayed close in the East with a 28-27 victory over St. Louis and Detroit defeated Los Angeles 12-10. San Francisco had a bye.

Unitas, who previously had tossed a 36-yard scoring pass to Moore in the see-saw struggle with the Bears (3-3-1), said he was hit cleanly by Bear end Doug Atkins on the play that bloodied his face. "He got me with his shoulder and forearm," said Unitas. "It was a clean hit."

Two one-yard TD smashes by Rick Casares kept the Bears in front until Unitas unleashed his first scoring pitch to Moore for a 17-14 halftime edge.

Jim Taylor ran 28, 4 and 23 yards for touchdowns and Paul Hornung scored 17 points on a 41-yard scoring plunge, a pair of 21-yard field goals and five conversions in the Green Bay (5-2) rout of the Cowboys (0-8).

Green Bay plays Los Angeles this Sunday and has a chance to tie the Colts, who draw a bye, for the Western lead.

The Eagles, who tackle the Giants the next two weeks in showdown clashes that may decide the Eastern champion, came from behind to beat the Redskins (1-4-2) in the final quarter on a 28-yard pass from Norm Van Brocklin to Bobby Walston.

Pat Summerall booted a 37-yard field goal with 30 seconds left for the Giants (5-1-1) uphill triumph over the Steelers (2-5-1) after his 42-yard three-pointer and a 27-yard Charley Conerly to Frank Gifford touchdown pass had brought New York within range. Bobby Layne triggered the Pittsburgh offensive with a 17-yard scoring flip to Buddy Dial, a one-yard TD plunge and a field goal.

Jimmy Brown bucked short yardage for two touchdowns and picked up 173 yards in 28 carries while Milt Plum passed for two scored in the Browns (5-2) win against the Cards (4-4).

Jim Martin's 13-yard field goal proved the winning margin for the Lions (3-4), who broke a 3-3 tie with the Rams (2-5-1) in the third period on a 98-yard drive engineered by quarterback Jim Ninowski.

Brooks-To-Hissom-Pass Nets St. Aloysius 24-22 Victory

With only 22 seconds remaining, St. Aloysius pulled a victory out of the fire Sunday afternoon at Patterson Field by nipping the Weirton Madonna Junior Blue Dons, 24-22.

St. Aloysius trailed all the way up to that point, but Jim Hissom and Bob Brooks shared the hero honors when they combined on a 40-yard pass play for the winning touchdown.

On fourth down and with time running out, Brooks passed down the middle to Hissom who raced into the end zone.

Hissom scored three times Sunday, with two others coming on a 50-yard run and another on a 40-yard pass play.

Brooks scored the other TD on a 25-yard run.

George Guerra of Weirton accounted for all three touchdowns going distances of 70, 53 and 30 yards.

The game marked the end of the 1960 campaign for the Irish. St. Aloysius completed the season with a 4-4 mark.

Los Angeles Tops Oilers To Strengthen AFL Lead

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Chargers, leading the Western Division in the American Football League, solidified their hold on the top spot by beating Houston's Eastern pacesetters in a game that may be replayed for the circuit's championship later in the season.

The Chargers boosted their record to 6-3—the same as the Oilers—by edging Houston 24-21 Sunday for a one-game edge over the runner-up Dallas Texans.

The Texans hopped over Denver into second place by whipping the Broncos 34-7 while Oakland upended the Buffalo Bills 20-7 in the other games on the AFL program.

Charger quarterback Jack Kemp hit end Ralph Anderson with two scoring passes in the first quarter to send the Chargers into a 14-0 lead, and they never relinquished it despite some passing heroics by George Blanda.

Halfback Tony Teresa raced 83 yards for a touchdown on the last play of the third quarter to give Oakland a 20-0 lead. Buffalo's lone touchdown came with only 13 seconds left to play.

Billy Post crashed over from the one in the first period for Oakland's first score, and Larry Barnes accounted for the other Oakland points with two field goals and two conversions.

Favorable breaks, the legerdemain of Abner Haynes and the passing and running of Cotton Davidson, Curley Johnson, Bo Dickson and Johnny Robinson were too much for Denver as Dallas won a wacky game from the Broncos.

It was a costly game for the losers. Al Carmichael, their right halfback, suffered a boken left leg and wll be lost for the season.

Haynes was in the middle of everything, putting on key blocks, catching long passes and fumbling. David Webster intercepted a pass and ran 39 yards for a touchdown, Haynes raced seven for another, Johnson scored on a 36-yard pass and Robinson ran four yards for another touchdown. Jack Spikes kicked two field goals and four extra points as his contribution.

Other Teams Must Help AL Haney Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Former Milwaukee manager Fred Haney says the eight established American League clubs will have to give up good players to get good crowds next season in the league's two new cities.

"It's strictly up to the other eight owners to decide whether the new teams in Los Angeles and Minneapolis - St. Paul will draw," Haney said in an interview. "The eight owners will have to give. They'll have to part with good players.

"I think there are enough good players to go around — at least to make for interesting competition if they aren't concentrated on two or three clubs."

Haney, who makes his home in Los Angeles, said American League attendance here should be helped the first year by the desire of fans to see such American League stars as Yogi Berra, Mickey Mantle, Al Kaline and Rocky Colavito.

But when the novelty wears off, Haney said, "it'll be up to the local American League team to produce real ballplayers — just a name won't be enough."

Jimmy Brown bucked short yardage for two touchdowns and picked up 173 yards in 28 carries while Milt Plum passed for two scored in the Browns (5-2) win against the Cards (4-4).

Jim Martin's 13-yard field goal proved the winning margin for the Lions (3-4), who broke a 3-3 tie with the Rams (2-5-1) in the third period on a 98-yard drive engineered by quarterback Jim Ninowski.

Brooks-To-Hissom-Pass Nets St. Aloysius 24-22 Victory

With only 22 seconds remaining, St. Aloysius pulled a victory out of the fire Sunday afternoon at Patterson Field by nipping the Weirton Madonna Junior Blue Dons, 24-22.

St. Aloysius trailed all the way up to that point, but Jim Hissom and Bob Brooks shared the hero honors when they combined on a 40-yard pass play for the winning touchdown.

On fourth down and with time running out, Brooks passed down the middle to Hissom who raced into the end zone.

Hissom scored three times Sunday, with two others coming on a 50-yard run and another on a 40-yard pass play.

Brooks scored the other TD on a 25-yard run.

George Guerra of Weirton accounted for all three touchdowns going distances of 70, 53 and 30 yards.

The game marked the end of the 1960 campaign for the Irish. St. Aloysius completed the season with a 4-4 mark.

Los Angeles Tops Oilers To Strengthen AFL Lead

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Chargers, leading the Western Division in the American Football League, solidified their hold on the top spot by beating Houston's Eastern pacesetters in a game that may be replayed for the circuit's championship later in the season.

The Chargers boosted their record to 6-3—the same as the Oilers—by edging Houston 24-21 Sunday for a one-game edge over the runner-up Dallas Texans.

The Texans hopped over Denver into second place by whipping the Broncos 34-7 while Oakland upended the Buffalo Bills 20-7 in the other games on the AFL program.

Charger quarterback Jack Kemp hit end Ralph Anderson with two scoring passes in the first quarter to send the Chargers into a 14-0 lead, and they never relinquished it despite some passing heroics by George Blanda.

Halfback Tony Teresa raced 83 yards for a touchdown on the last play of the third quarter to give Oakland a 20-0 lead. Buffalo's lone touchdown came with only 13 seconds left to play.

Billy Post crashed over from the one in the first period for Oakland's first score, and Larry Barnes accounted for the other Oakland points with two field goals and two conversions.

Favorable breaks, the legerdemain of Abner Haynes and the passing and running of Cotton Davidson, Curley Johnson, Bo Dickson and Johnny Robinson were too much for Denver as Dallas won a wacky game from the Broncos.

It was a costly game for the losers. Al Carmichael, their right halfback, suffered a boken left leg and wll be lost for the season.

Haynes was in the middle of everything, putting on key blocks, catching long passes and fumbling. David Webster intercepted a pass and ran 39 yards for a touchdown, Haynes raced seven for another, Johnson scored on a 36-yard pass and Robinson ran four yards for another touchdown. Jack Spikes kicked two field goals and four extra points as his contribution.

Other Teams Must Help AL Haney Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Former Milwaukee manager Fred Haney says the eight established American League clubs will have to give up good players to get good crowds next season in the league's two new cities.

"It's strictly up to the other eight owners to decide whether the new teams in Los Angeles and Minneapolis - St. Paul will draw," Haney said in an interview. "The eight owners will have to give. They'll have to part with good players.

"I think there are enough good players to go around — at least to make for interesting competition if they aren't concentrated on two or three clubs."

Haney, who makes his home in Los Angeles, said American League attendance here should be helped the first year by the desire of fans to see such American League stars as Yogi Berra, Mickey Mantle, Al Kaline and Rocky Colavito.

But when the novelty wears off, Haney said, "it'll be up to the local American League team to produce real ballplayers — just a name won't be enough."

Defiance Sets Huge Loss In Campus Blaze

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Although no damage estimate is available, a Defiance College spokesman said it would cost around a million dollars to replace campus landmark Weston Hall and the equipment within it that went up in smoke and flames Sunday night.

Weston Hall, the major classroom building at the small college in northwestern Ohio, was just a shell after the fire ravaged and gutted its interior. The cause was not determined.

The college spokesman, Richard Wohn, director of development, said the two-and three-story brick building was so badly damaged it undoubtedly would have to be torn down.

Besides classrooms, the building housed a 300-seat chapel auditorium, the history, English and music departments, an arena theater and the college radio station.

Several persons in the radio station cleared out before flames engulfed the structure. Because it was Sunday, no one else was believed to be in the building when the blaze broke out.

Some 40 minutes after the fire was discovered by students who turned in the alarm, the roof caved in.

The fire already had a good start when the Defiance and several area fire departments arrived on the scene. It was still blazing—although under control—two hours later.

Men students formed lines and passed hand-to-hand from the burning building records, books and equipment from the history and English departments before flames reached those sections.

The music department, containing a number of pianos and a pipe organ, was inaccessible due to flames.

Several nearby buildings were showered with burning embers but those blazes were quickly extinguished.

The flames didn't get to the college's central heating plant which is only about eight feet from and partly attached to Weston Hall.

Spokesman Wohn said the college has blanket insurance on all campus buildings. But he was unable to say how much insurance coverage there was on Weston Hall.

Classes normally held in the destroyed building will be continued in temporary quarters, he said.

Weston Hall was built in 1908 at a cost of about $50,000 but many improvements have been made since. An addition was erected in 1912.

The college, with around 550 students and 40 faculty members, is headed by Kevin McCann, a speech-writing assistant to President Eisenhower. Dr. McCann was in Washington Sunday night. Advised of the blaze, he was making plans today to return to the campus.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Discourage Tot's Wish To Be Carried

A youngster, two, three or even a bit older, when going an appreciable distance with either or both parents, may reasonably beg to be carried. Because his legs may get tired, especially as he tries to keep up with an adult, a cart might be desirable. Also, his Dad and he might have mutual enjoyment as he occasionally rides astride his father's shoulders for a few minutes at a stretch. But there are tots who demand that their mothers carry them about the home, especially when they feel out of sorts or feel shy of other adults or children.

HOW OFTEN have you seen frail young mothers toting about a heavy youngster two, three or four, just to satisfy his whim? It means to this youngster a show of kindness and affection.

But the mother can demonstrate needed affection by reading to him close beside her, or singing to him, explaining things to him and conversing tenderly with him. Even to rock him while on her lap might make more sense than to carry him about.

Besides, there are many other enduring ways of showing affection to a tot or older child than by cuddling, rocking and carrying him.

And it's in these ways parents should try to cultivate skills — finding things for him to do by which he can amuse himself, listening wholeheartedly to what he says, showing strong interest in what he is doing alone or with other children, expressing enthusiasm over his achievements, celebrating his successes.

—:—

AN OLDER SISTER of mine has told me of the time during a long illness of our mother — I must have been two or three then — when she would cook the family meals and do other housework while holding me on a hip with one arm, doing the work with her other hand.

She explains it was the only way she could keep me quiet. I'm sure she didn't give a fair trial to any other method. How very tired she often must have been!

I wonder how many young mothers today do housework while holding a youngster, even as old as two or three, in one arm. Uncomfortable as it appears to be, youngsters seem to like it. Perhaps it's the attention the performance dramatizes that has the magic.

One of the first ways some young parents hit on for quieting the infant, especially at night, is to carry him and the father often shares in this little act. Well, it's their baby.

My bulletin "Self - reliance" may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

4 Social Security Questions Concern New Amendments

Four Social Security questions comprise a "quiz" of the newly amended program, according to William J. McCauley, manager of the Youngstown District office, which includes Columbiana County.

"Your Social Security is now better than ever. Because of the 1960 amendments, coverage has been extended, less work under social security is needed to qualify for benefits, and a person no longer need be at least 50 years old to receive disability insurance benefits," he said.

McCauley said there have been large crowds in his office ever since the law was changed, and it shows no sign of letting up.

"We welcome everyone who thinks he might qualify under the new law," McCauley emphasized. People unable to wait to see a representative of the office should try again as soon as possible.

McCauley suggests that anyone who answers one of the following questions "yes" get in touch with the local social Security Office as soon as possible.

1. — Have you ever had your application for Social Security benefits denied because you, or the breadwinner in your family, hadn't worked long enough under Social Security?

2. — Have you delayed filing for disability insurance benefits because you are not yet 50 years old?

3. — If you are a widow, were you ever told that you couldn't qualify for benefits on your husband's Social Security account because he died before 1940, or had not worked long enough under social security?

4. — Have you been told that you can't receive benefits on your husband's account because you haven't yet been married to him for three years?

Read the questions carefully, and if your answer to any one of them is "yes," get in touch with your Social Security office right away. There may be good news for you," he said. The East Liverpool agency is in the basement of the Post Office and is open Mondays and Wednesdays.

Yule Program Set In Midland

The annual Christmas program of the Fourth St. School Parent-Teacher Association at Midland is scheduled Thursday, Dec. 8, featuring a musicale by the school's chorus and a gift exchange.

Plans for the Yule program were announced when the group met Thursday afternoon at the school. Mrs. Julius Jacob, president, presided. About 50 attended.

Mrs. John Price gave the invocation and Mrs. Jacob led the flag salute. Miss Despena Gagiania, music instructor, led group singing of "America."

Mrs. Jacob reported on the state convention which she attended in Pittsburgh Oct. 20-21. Mrs. Wilaim Wyche, vice president, attended the Oct. 21 session. The president also gave a rpeort on the district conference which she and Mrs. Wyche attended Oct. 29 in Beaver.

The public card party scheduled Thursday has been canceled because of a conflict in dates with the nursing classes being offered by the Seventh Street PTA. The card party will be held sometime in January.

The Fourth St. PTA is selling white T shirts with the Midland school insignia as a money-raising project. Mrs. Maurice Newman, chairman of the ways and means committee, is in charge.

Mrs. Price reported on the sale of the National PTA Magazine.

Mrs. Wyche introduced Atty. Robert Masters, who spoke on "Parents Want To Know," relating facts about the school board and its functions in operating the school system.

Lisbon Group Sets 2 Events In Fund Drive

To aid the Muscular Dystrophy Fund, the auxiliary of Wilfred Clunk Veterans of Foreign Wars Post will sponsor a bake sale Friday in the Golden Star building.

The auxiliary heads the Muscular Dystrophy drive in this area, with Mrs. Agnes Ford as chairman. It will make a house-to-house canvass Sunday for the cause.

Mrs. Marie Cosma, auxiliary president, urged all members to report to the post Sunday to help with the canvass.

The Emanon Club was entertained Thursday night by Mrs. Donald Loch of N. Market St.

Bridge was the feature, with Mrs. William McDevitt and Mrs. Fred Steele awarded prizes. Lunch was served by the hostess.

The club will meet Nov. 22 with Mrs. Glen Dixon of Lincoln Highway, East.

Mrs. Ross Carnes was hostess to club associates at bridge Friday night at her home on N. Beaver St.

Scoring honors went to Miss Gladys Loudon and Mrs. Francis Gunn. Mrs. John Chillik and Mrs. Ted James were guests.

Miss Loudon will receive the club Nov. 23 at her home on W. Washington St.

A social hour followed the regular meeting of the Pythian Sisters Friday night at the Pythian Temple. Cards were the feature.

21st Ceramic National Show Holds Preview

The 21st Ceramic National arts show opened with a preview Saturday night at the Everson Museum of Art in Syracuse, N. Y., displaying pieces screened from 1,276 articles submitted by 502 craftsmen from 39 states and Canada.

Ceramists numbering 248 are represented in the exhibition with 335 works.

The exhibit, the 4th biennial, is sponsored by the Everson Museum, formerly the Syracuse Museum of Fine Arts, the Syracuse China Corp., the Ferro Corp. at Cleveland and the Carrier Corp. at Syracuse, assisted by the General Electric Co.

The exhibition will be open to the public at Syracuse through Jan. 8 when prize winners and selected entries will begin the first leg of a two-year tour of leading U. S. museums from coast-to-coast. The final jury, with $2,500 in prizes to be awarded, met in Syracuse after the screening at 9 regional centers.

'Blue Law' Arrests Hit 3 Stores In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sunday "blue law" arrests have started in Cincinnati again.

Police arrested three operators of business houses Sunday on charges of violating laws which prohibit operation of businesses on Sunday except where deemed a necessity.

They were the first such arrests here in several months.

Charged with violating the "blue laws" were Banjamin S. Schottenstein, operator of a department store; John Stretmarter, 44, operator of a supermarket, and Stanley Johnson, 27, manager of a general store known as "China Town."

All will be given a hearing in Police Court next Thursday.

Newell Area Girl And Weirton Member Of 4-H Given Awards

Miss Carolyn Sue Wilson of near Newell and Kenneth Markle of Weirton have received farm credit awards as the outstanding 4-H Club boy and girl in Hancock County this year.

The awards were presented at a dinner meeting in the White Swan Hotel in Uniontown, according to Miss Helen Petrakis, county 4-H club agent.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilson of Newell, R.D. 2, Miss Wilson is a member of the Ellwood 4-H Club and her club leader is Mrs. Wayland Lancaster.

Miss Wilson, 18, has completed 2 meal planning projects and 5 for clothing. She served her club as president, secretary, treasurer and song leader and attended 6 county camps, and 2 state camps — State 4-H Girls Camp and Older 4-H Club Members' Conference, plus 2 regional song leaders camps.

Miss Wilson participated for two years in the County Demonstration Day and received recognition for 2 years in the 4-H essay contest. At county 4-H camp, she was chief of her tribe, and was awarded the tribal loyalty emblem, Heart H, 4-H pin, and the Polly Maclin scholarship.

Active in events at Wells High School, she was salutatorian of last year's Senior Class, and was a majorette and performed with the band.

Markle, 18, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Markle of Swearingen Hill, Weirton. He is a member of the Fort Jefferson Club and completed 10 projects. He received a medal for his home beautification project work in 1959.

Galena Man, 59, Killed During Family Quarrel

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff's deputies report Clifford Mitchell, 59, of nearby Galena, died Sunday after his wife, Esther, apparently hit him in the forehead with an iron smoking stand during a family argument.

Coroner Don K. Michel said he believed death was due to a metal leg of the smoking stand entering the brain. He ordered the body taken to University Hospital in Columbus for an autopsy.

Sheriff Harley Wornstaff said Mrs. Mitchell will be placed in custody. She was taken to Jane Case Hospital here suffering from shock.

Defiance Sets Huge Loss In Campus Blaze

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Although no damage estimate is available, a Defiance College spokesman said it would cost around a million dollars to replace campus landmark Weston Hall and the equipment within it that went up in smoke and flames Sunday night.

Weston Hall, the major classroom building at the small college in northwestern Ohio, was just a shell after the fire ravaged and gutted its interior. The cause was not determined.

The college spokesman, Richard Wohn, director of development, said the two-and three-story brick building was so badly damaged it undoubtedly would have to be torn down.

Besides classrooms, the building housed a 300-seat chapel auditorium, the history, English and music departments, an arena theater and the college radio station.

Several persons in the radio station cleared out before flames engulfed the structure. Because it was Sunday, no one else was believed to be in the building when the blaze broke out.

Some 40 minutes after the fire was discovered by students who turned in the alarm, the roof caved in.

The fire already had a good start when the Defiance and several area fire departments arrived on the scene. It was still blazing—although under control—two hours later.

Men students formed lines and passed hand-to-hand from the burning building records, books and equipment from the history and English departments before flames reached those sections.

The music department, containing a number of pianos and a pipe organ, was inaccessible due to flames.

Several nearby buildings were showered with burning embers but those blazes were quickly extinguished.

The flames didn't get to the college's central heating plant which is only about eight feet from and partly attached to Weston Hall.

Spokesman Wohn said the college has blanket insurance on all campus buildings. But he was unable to say how much insurance coverage there was on Weston Hall.

Classes normally held in the destroyed building will be continued in temporary quarters, he said.

Weston Hall was built in 1908 at a cost of about $50,000 but many improvements have been made since. An addition was erected in 1912.

The college, with around 550 students and 40 faculty members, is headed by Kevin McCann, a speech-writing assistant to President Eisenhower. Dr. McCann was in Washington Sunday night. Advised of the blaze, he was making plans today to return to the campus.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Discourage Tot's Wish To Be Carried

A youngster, two, three or even a bit older, when going an appreciable distance with either or both parents, may reasonably beg to be carried. Because his legs may get tired, especially as he tries to keep up with an adult, a cart might be desirable. Also, his Dad and he might have mutual enjoyment as he occasionally rides astride his father's shoulders for a few minutes at a stretch. But there are tots who demand that their mothers carry them about the home, especially when they feel out of sorts or feel shy of other adults or children.

HOW OFTEN have you seen frail young mothers toting about a heavy youngster two, three or four, just to satisfy his whim? It means to this youngster a show of kindness and affection.

But the mother can demonstrate needed affection by reading to him close beside her, or singing to him, explaining things to him and conversing tenderly with him. Even to rock him while on her lap might make more sense than to carry him about.

Besides, there are many other enduring ways of showing affection to a tot or older child than by cuddling, rocking and carrying him.

And it's in these ways parents should try to cultivate skills — finding things for him to do by which he can amuse himself, listening wholeheartedly to what he says, showing strong interest in what he is doing alone or with other children, expressing enthusiasm over his achievements, celebrating his successes.

—:—

AN OLDER SISTER of mine has told me of the time during a long illness of our mother — I must have been two or three then — when she would cook the family meals and do other housework while holding me on a hip with one arm, doing the work with her other hand.

She explains it was the only way she could keep me quiet. I'm sure she didn't give a fair trial to any other method. How very tired she often must have been!

I wonder how many young mothers today do housework while holding a youngster, even as old as two or three, in one arm. Uncomfortable as it appears to be, youngsters seem to like it. Perhaps it's the attention the performance dramatizes that has the magic.

One of the first ways some young parents hit on for quieting the infant, especially at night, is to carry him and the father often shares in this little act. Well, it's their baby.

My bulletin "Self - reliance" may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

4 Social Security Questions Concern New Amendments

Four Social Security questions comprise a "quiz" of the newly amended program, according to William J. McCauley, manager of the Youngstown District office, which includes Columbiana County.

"Your Social Security is now better than ever. Because of the 1960 amendments, coverage has been extended, less work under social security is needed to qualify for benefits, and a person no longer need be at least 50 years old to receive disability insurance benefits," he said.

McCauley said there have been large crowds in his office ever since the law was changed, and it shows no sign of letting up.

"We welcome everyone who thinks he might qualify under the new law," McCauley emphasized. People unable to wait to see a representative of the office should try again as soon as possible.

McCauley suggests that anyone who answers one of the following questions "yes" get in touch with the local social Security Office as soon as possible.

1. — Have you ever had your application for Social Security benefits denied because you, or the breadwinner in your family, hadn't worked long enough under Social Security?

2. — Have you delayed filing for disability insurance benefits because you are not yet 50 years old?

3. — If you are a widow, were you ever told that you couldn't qualify for benefits on your husband's Social Security account because he died before 1940, or had not worked long enough under social security?

4. — Have you been told that you can't receive benefits on your husband's account because you haven't yet been married to him for three years?

Read the questions carefully, and if your answer to any one of them is "yes," get in touch with your Social Security office right away. There may be good news for you," he said. The East Liverpool agency is in the basement of the Post Office and is open Mondays and Wednesdays.

Newell Area Girl And Weirton Member Of 4-H Given Awards

Miss Carolyn Sue Wilson of near Newell and Kenneth Markle of Weirton have received farm credit awards as the outstanding 4-H Club boy and girl in Hancock County this year.

The awards were presented at a dinner meeting in the White Swan Hotel in Uniontown, according to Miss Helen Petrakis, county 4-H club agent.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilson of Newell, R.D. 2, Miss Wilson is a member of the Ellwood 4-H Club and her club leader is Mrs. Wayland Lancaster.

Miss Wilson, 18, has completed 2 meal planning projects and 5 for clothing. She served her club as president, secretary, treasurer and song leader and attended 6 county camps, and 2 state camps — State 4-H Girls Camp and Older 4-H Club Members' Conference, plus 2 regional song leaders camps.

Miss Wilson participated for two years in the County Demonstration Day and received recognition for 2 years in the 4-H essay contest. At county 4-H camp, she was chief of her tribe, and was awarded the tribal loyalty emblem, Heart H, 4-H pin, and the Polly Maclin scholarship.

Active in events at Wells High School, she was salutatorian of last year's Senior Class, and was a majorette and performed with the band.

Markle, 18, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Markle of Swearingen Hill, Weirton. He is a member of the Fort Jefferson Club and completed 10 projects. He received a medal for his home beautification project work in 1959.

Galena Man, 59, Killed During Family Quarrel

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Sheriff's deputies report Clifford Mitchell, 59, of nearby Galena, died Sunday after his wife, Esther, apparently hit him in the forehead with an iron smoking stand during a family argument.

Coroner Don K. Michel said he believed death was due to a metal leg of the smoking stand entering the brain. He ordered the body taken to University Hospital in Columbus for an autopsy.

Sheriff Harley Wornstaff said Mrs. Mitchell will be placed in custody. She was taken to Jane Case Hospital here suffering from shock.

If You Have An Auto Accident, Here Are Tips To Remember

By The Associated Press

If you have an automobile accident, here are some suggestions:

Ask the driver of the other car: (1) his name and address (ask for reliable identification such as a driver's license); (2) his license plate number and (3) the registration number of the car he is driving (he may not be the owner).

This information will help your insurance company to locate the other party later on. If you are not insured, the information still may be useful in case any other questions arise.

Assume no responsibility — do not say the accident was your fault, for example, because although you may think that it was, it may turn out that you were mistaken and the other party may sue you on your word spoken in the presence of witnesses.

Get the name and addresses of several witnesses if possible. They are valuable if a damage or liability case comes to court. Even in a minor accident witnesses often are helpful.

Collect necessary information so that you can later draw a diagram of the accident. Notice the names of the streets, where it happened, the hour, date and the weather and road conditions.

Note the damage to both cars and point this out to the other party in the presence of witnesses, so that the other party cannot make excessive damage claims later on.

Notify your insurance agent before proceeding with repairs to your car. This is so an estimate of damages can be made and turned into the agent.

Then everybody will know exactly what the amount to be paid shall be. This is essential if you expect to collect damages from the insurance company of the other party.

The police should be called if someone has been injured or if it is a serious accident. Most states require that police be notified if damage to either vehicle is more than a specified amount, often $50.

In case someone is seriously injured, send for an ambulance as well as the police. Do not move a person who is badly hurt. Just keep him warm with blankets or coats.

It's a good idea to carry a first aid kit and a booklet of instructions in case of emergencies.

If Car Does This, You Could Be In Steering Trouble

By The Associated Press

Once your car is moving, you must rely on its steering mechanism for safe control.

Unless you are an expert mechanic, you're not in a position to make the intricate and numerous checks and adjustments that might be called for. But there are a number of conditions that every driver can learn to recognize as potential steering trouble. Here they are:

1.—Too much play in the steering wheel is indicated if you can turn the outer rim two or more inches before it starts to turn the front wheels. You make this test with the car at a standstill.

2.—Hard steering may be due to unequal or under-inflated tires, inadequate lubrication, bad wheel alignment, worn or improperly adjusted steering parts. Check them all.

3.—A shimmy — or rapid movement of the wheel from side to side—can mean bad wheel balance or improper tire inflation. If it's neither of these, have a mechanic check the steering mechanism.

4.—If you're holding the steering wheel fairly steady and you find the car wandering from side to side or turning persistently to one side, this can mean unequal tire pressure, poor wheel alignment and rapid tire wear.

Jury Selection Begins For Cumberland Trial

NEW CUMBERLAND — Selection of a jury to hear the case of Donald Eugene Saunders, 31, of Wellsburg R. D. 3 was started this morning in Hancock County Circuit Court.

Saunders was indicted in September on charges of attempted murder and felonious assault of Steve Yurka, a Waterford Park guard, in June.

Saunders, a racetrack worker, entered innocent pleas to both indictments when arraigned in September before Judge J. Harold Brennan.

He is accused of crushing Yurka, 48, of New Cumberland, against a steel fence at the track with his auto following an argument.

Saunders is represented by Atty. William Conklin of Chester and Atty. Vito Catanero of Weirton. Prosecutor Frank A. Pietranton will present the county's case.

Man 'Debunks' Old Adage About Lightning

KINGSTREE, S. C. (AP) — Don't tell DeWitt Joye that old adage about lightning never striking twice in the same place. His seven-year-old brick home has been struck three times in four years, and damaged each time.

The latest strike burned up a bed, tore holes in a plaster ceiling, scorched a washing machine and knocked out service on two telephones.

Woman, 140 Pounds Lands 419-Pound Fish

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Bettie Sears of suburban El Cajon, who weighs less than 140 pounds, caught a 419-pound fish.

It was a sea bass, taken by Mrs. Sears from a sports fishing boat near the Coronado Islands, 20 miles southwest of here. Sports fishing officials here said it was the largest fish of record caught with medium tackle.

Yule Seal Sale Asks $33,000

If You Have An Auto Accident, Here Are Tips To Remember

By The Associated Press

If you have an automobile accident, here are some suggestions:

Ask the driver of the other car: (1) his name and address (ask for reliable identification such as a driver's license); (2) his license plate number and (3) the registration number of the car he is driving (he may not be the owner).

This information will help your insurance company to locate the other party later on. If you are not insured, the information still may be useful in case any other questions arise.

Assume no responsibility — do not say the accident was your fault, for example, because although you may think that it was, it may turn out that you were mistaken and the other party may sue you on your word spoken in the presence of witnesses.

Get the name and addresses of several witnesses if possible. They are valuable if a damage or liability case comes to court. Even in a minor accident witnesses often are helpful.

Collect necessary information so that you can later draw a diagram of the accident. Notice the names of the streets, where it happened, the hour, date and the weather and road conditions.

Note the damage to both cars and point this out to the other party in the presence of witnesses, so that the other party cannot make excessive damage claims later on.

Notify your insurance agent before proceeding with repairs to your car. This is so an estimate of damages can be made and turned into the agent.

Then everybody will know exactly what the amount to be paid shall be. This is essential if you expect to collect damages from the insurance company of the other party.

The police should be called if someone has been injured or if it is a serious accident. Most states require that police be notified if damage to either vehicle is more than a specified amount, often $50.

In case someone is seriously injured, send for an ambulance as well as the police. Do not move a person who is badly hurt. Just keep him warm with blankets or coats.

It's a good idea to carry a first aid kit and a booklet of instructions in case of emergencies.

If Car Does This, You Could Be In Steering Trouble

By The Associated Press

Once your car is moving, you must rely on its steering mechanism for safe control.

Unless you are an expert mechanic, you're not in a position to make the intricate and numerous checks and adjustments that might be called for. But there are a number of conditions that every driver can learn to recognize as potential steering trouble. Here they are:

1.—Too much play in the steering wheel is indicated if you can turn the outer rim two or more inches before it starts to turn the front wheels. You make this test with the car at a standstill.

2.—Hard steering may be due to unequal or under-inflated tires, inadequate lubrication, bad wheel alignment, worn or improperly adjusted steering parts. Check them all.

3.—A shimmy — or rapid movement of the wheel from side to side—can mean bad wheel balance or improper tire inflation. If it's neither of these, have a mechanic check the steering mechanism.

4.—If you're holding the steering wheel fairly steady and you find the car wandering from side to side or turning persistently to one side, this can mean unequal tire pressure, poor wheel alignment and rapid tire wear.

Jury Selection Begins For Cumberland Trial

NEW CUMBERLAND — Selection of a jury to hear the case of Donald Eugene Saunders, 31, of Wellsburg R. D. 3 was started this morning in Hancock County Circuit Court.

Saunders was indicted in September on charges of attempted murder and felonious assault of Steve Yurka, a Waterford Park guard, in June.

Saunders, a racetrack worker, entered innocent pleas to both indictments when arraigned in September before Judge J. Harold Brennan.

He is accused of crushing Yurka, 48, of New Cumberland, against a steel fence at the track with his auto following an argument.

Man 'Debunks' Old Adage About Lightning

KINGSTREE, S. C. (AP) — Don't tell DeWitt Joye that old adage about lightning never striking twice in the same place. His seven-year-old brick home has been struck three times in four years, and damaged each time.

The latest strike burned up a bed, tore holes in a plaster ceiling, scorched a washing machine and knocked out service on two telephones.

Woman, 140 Pounds Lands 419-Pound Fish

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Bettie Sears of suburban El Cajon, who weighs less than 140 pounds, caught a 419-pound fish.

It was a sea bass, taken by Mrs. Sears from a sports fishing boat near the Coronado Islands, 20 miles southwest of here. Sports fishing officials here said it was the largest fish of record caught with medium tackle.

Yule Seal Sale Asks $33,000

The annual Christmas Seal sales campaign of the Hancock County Tuberculosis League opened today with a goal of $6,500.

Leading the campaign are Mrs. F. N. Richmond of Chester, Mrs. J. N. Richmond for Pughtown, Mrs. Edwin Carson in Newell, Mrs. Arthur Ward for New Cumberland, and Mrs. Leon Albert of Weirton.

Mrs. Theodore Whitaker is chairman for the personal solicitations. She has 13 committee members. Mrs. R. S. Meighen of Weirton is in charge of special activities.

Window displays will be arranged by Mrs. John A. Jones and Mrs. Frank Poland. Miss Angela Anas is publicity chairman.

Frondizi Airs U.S. Relations

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Twenty-nine U. S. governors and their wives today started their second round of sightseeing as official guests for the 150th anniversary of Argentina's independence.

President Arturo Frondizi headed the group of Argentine officials who greeted the governors Sunday. U. S. Ambassador Roy Rubottom provided them with a private briefing at the beginning of their eight-day tour through this country.

There was reportedly much discussion between the Argentine officials and their guests of the need to increase trade between the United States and Latin America and otherwise improve relations to offset the Communist influence in the Western Hemisphere represented by Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban government.

Early their first day the governors placed a wreath at the Buenos Aires monument to Argentina's war of independence. They went on to hear a lecture on the economy and culture of Argentina and to take a yacht trip through the canals of the delta of the Plata River.

Gov. Stephen L. R. McNichols of Colorado brought a message from President-elect John F. Kennedy. He said Kennedy told him by telephone he wanted Latin Americans to know he is "looking forward to a vigorous re-establishment of the good neighbor policy as it was understood under the terms of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Church Holds Final Service At Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—More than 1,000 of the Catholic faithful and their friends crowded into historic old St. Joseph Church here late Sunday.

It was the final service in the 112-year-old church, long a Cincinnati landmark, which will be torn down to make way for street widening and an express route.

As the mass ended the parishioners—white and Negro—marched to earby St. Edward Church with the Blessed Sacrament before which Catholics kneel. Nuns first tolled the bells in the church and then let them ring out.

The Rev. Clement Busemeyer, priest at the church, had to insist that some of the parishioners leave the church.

The church once was in the heart of Cincinnati's German district. Now the area is largely Negro. Eventually a smaller church will be built but until then the facilities of St. Edward Church will be used by members of St. Joseph Parish.

Demolition of the church will start this week.

The stained-glass windows will be lifted gently from their frames. The oak and walnut pews, the floor tiles, the hand-carved statutes will come out for storage. So will the organ with its 3,300 pipes.

Then the wreckers will come and raze the church, right down to the cornerstone that was laid when James K. Polk was president.

Those present Sunday filled out cards with their names and the names of their children. The cards will be put into the cornerstone of the new St. Joseph Church.

"It's a sort of link between old and new," Father Busemeyer said.

Although much will be salvaged for the new church, other things of value must be sacrificed. Among them are the wall and ceiling murals by Wilhelm Lamprecht, the great 19th-Century German artist: The Four Cardinal Virtues, the Eight Beatitudes, the Old Testament prophets Abraham and Melchesideck, the Child Jesus making a cross in his father's carpenter shop.

Another is the great hand-carved altar itself.

Key Club Chooses 3 As Members Of Board

James English, Bob Gilmore and Bill Krieger were elected to the Board of Directors at a meeting of the Key Club Friday in the High School.

This year the board is comprised of three seniors, two juniors and two sophomores. They are: Gary Hicks, president, Jeff Taylor, secretary; Ray Goodman, treasurer; Joe Costello, vice president, and English, Gilmore and Krieger.

The club adopted a project proposed by Hicks — to stage a tag day to raise funds for the Little Potters Leagues, comprised of basketball players in the last grades of grade school and the early grades of junior high.

Hicks presided and Taylor read the minutes.

East End Child Survives Fall Off 2nd Story

An East End child who survived a 25-foot fall is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital, where a man hurt in another fall, was admitted and 7 other persons were treated over the weekend.

Pamela Neuch, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Neuch, 541½ Mulberry St., fell about two stories from rear steps leading to the family's apartment Sunday afternoon about 3:20.

The child was playing on the steps with some other children and it is not known if she was accidentally shoved off or slipped. She suffered a head injury, hospital authorities said.

Richard Laughlin, 34, of Fenton St. is in "fairly good" condition today with a possible fracture of the right ankle suffered when he tripped on a rug at home Sunday afternoon.

Six others were treated yesterday. Jace Sayre, 4, son of Curtis Sayre of 3rd St. Ext., Chester, suffered a cut upper lip in a tumble from a small bridge near his home.

John Moody of Chester R. D. 1 was treated for a laceration of the head suffered when he bumped into a pipe.

James Korosec, 27, of Weirton suffered a possible leg injury when struck by a fork lift while working at the Georgetti River-Rail Terminal at Wellsville.

Anthony Gaffoli, 13, son of Christopher Gaffoli of Weirton, suffered contusions of the forehead when struck while playing football.

In a fall from a swing, Steve Conkle, 9, son of William Conkle of Dakota Ave., suffered a possible fracture of the left arm.

Yvonne Cowey, 3, daughter of George Cowey of Carolina Ave., Chester, suffered a bruised forehead in a fall while roller skating.

Mrs. Mary Paisley, 536 Florida Ave., Chester, suffered a possible fracture of the right arm and lacerations of the head when she fell at home Saturday afternoon.

Relaxed Ike Set To Honor Mamie

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower's physician reported today that the ruddy-faced chief executive "looks great" after five days golfing and relaxing in the Georgia sunshine.

In bubbling good humor, the President arranged to join a small group of friends and aides tonight in celebrating Mrs. Eisenhower's 64th birthday.

A private dinner party, complete with birthday cake, was planned as the high point of Mrs. Eisenhower's final birthday celebration as First Lady.

Mrs. Eisenhower flew in from Washington Sunday and was met at the airport in jolly fashion by her 70-year-old husband who twitted her about her reluctance to use planes.

Dr. Howard M. Snyder, Eisenhower's personal White House physician, meanwhile reported that his distinguished patient is in fine physical condition despite three major illnesses in the past five years.

Latest compilation shows 18,237 tree farms enrolled in the American Tree Farm System.

Police Push Hunt For Girl's Slayer

CHICAGO (AP)—Police combed a forest preserve and a south side neighborhood today for possible clues to the slayer of a 9-year-old girl whose body was found in a ravine Saturday.

The young victim, Gloria Kowalewicz, an only child, vanished about 8 a.m., Saturday as she walked from her home to St. Mary of Mount Carmel Church four blocks away to attend mass.

Some four hours later a truck driver found her body, with two bullet wounds in the head, in a forest preserve southwest of Chicago and about 12 miles from her home.

Meanwhile, teams of detectives questioned residents of the south side neighborhood where the victim lived in hopes of finding someone who may have seen the child, and possibly her slayer, as she walked to church.

A school mate who waited at the church entrance for Gloria told police she never arrived.

East End Child Survives Fall Off 2nd Story

An East End child who survived a 25-foot fall is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital, where a man hurt in another fall, was admitted and 7 other persons were treated over the weekend.

Pamela Neuch, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Neuch, 541½ Mulberry St., fell about two stories from rear steps leading to the family's apartment Sunday afternoon about 3:20.

The child was playing on the steps with some other children and it is not known if she was accidentally shoved off or slipped. She suffered a head injury, hospital authorities said.

Richard Laughlin, 34, of Fenton St. is in "fairly good" condition today with a possible fracture of the right ankle suffered when he tripped on a rug at home Sunday afternoon.

Six others were treated yesterday. Jace Sayre, 4, son of Curtis Sayre of 3rd St. Ext., Chester, suffered a cut upper lip in a tumble from a small bridge near his home.

John Moody of Chester R. D. 1 was treated for a laceration of the head suffered when he bumped into a pipe.

James Korosec, 27, of Weirton suffered a possible leg injury when struck by a fork lift while working at the Georgetti River-Rail Terminal at Wellsville.

Anthony Gaffoli, 13, son of Christopher Gaffoli of Weirton, suffered contusions of the forehead when struck while playing football.

In a fall from a swing, Steve Conkle, 9, son of William Conkle of Dakota Ave., suffered a possible fracture of the left arm.

Yvonne Cowey, 3, daughter of George Cowey of Carolina Ave., Chester, suffered a bruised forehead in a fall while roller skating.

Mrs. Mary Paisley, 536 Florida Ave., Chester, suffered a possible fracture of the right arm and lacerations of the head when she fell at home Saturday afternoon.

Relaxed Ike Set To Honor Mamie

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower's physician reported today that the ruddy-faced chief executive "looks great" after five days golfing and relaxing in the Georgia sunshine.

In bubbling good humor, the President arranged to join a small group of friends and aides tonight in celebrating Mrs. Eisenhower's 64th birthday.

A private dinner party, complete with birthday cake, was planned as the high point of Mrs. Eisenhower's final birthday celebration as First Lady.

Mrs. Eisenhower flew in from Washington Sunday and was met at the airport in jolly fashion by her 70-year-old husband who twitted her about her reluctance to use planes.

Dr. Howard M. Snyder, Eisenhower's personal White House physician, meanwhile reported that his distinguished patient is in fine physical condition despite three major illnesses in the past five years.
